LIST OF CONTRIBUTIONS

* * * It is requested that all Letters, and other Communications on Missionary business, and Remittances to the Society, may be addressed to the General Secretaries, at the Wesleyan Mission-House, 77, Hatton-Garden, London.

The Secretaries of Auxiliary Societies are respectfully requested to transmit to the Mission-House, London, as early as convenient after Publication, Fifty Copies of their Annual Reports.

The Missionary Notices, put up in covers; the Quarterly Papers; and the General View of the Wesleyan Missions; and also Collectors' Cards and Books, and Books for the use of the Treasurers and Secretaries of the Auxiliary and Branch Societies, will be sent monthly to the order of any of the Secretaries of those Societies. The General Secretaries strongly recommend the extended circulation of the Notices, Quarterly Papers, and General View, as the expense is trifling, and the intelligence acquires a growing interest. Payment for them will be received, annually, by the General Treasurers, who will, without any trouble to the local Societies, deduct the cost price from the amount of money remitted to them, and enter it in the Report, under the head of the Auxiliary or Branch Society to which it belongs, as "local expense for Missionary Notices," &c.

Every person who subscribes to the Wesleyan Missionary Society One Penny or upwards weekly, is entitled to one of the Quarterly Papers; and each person who collects for the Society to the amount of One Shilling or more weekly, is entitled to the Missionary Notices.

All Orders to be sent to the Resident Secretary, 77, Hatton-Garden, London.

The Annual Meeting of the Society,

ON MONDAY, MAY 1, 1820,

IN THE CITY-ROAD CHAPEL, LONDON;

JOSEPH BUTTERWORTH, Esq. M. P.

IN THE CHAIR.

THE Report of the Committee having been read, the following Resolutions were passed unanimously:—

I. On the motion of the Rev. Dr. A. Clarke, of Liverpool; seconded by William Blair, Esq. of London.

THAT the Report now read be adopted, and printed under the direction of the General Committee.

II. On the motion of Richard Rothwell, Esq. Alderman and Sheriff of London; seconded by the Rev. J. A. James, of Birmingham.

THAT the Meeting has heard with satisfaction, those statements of the Report which relate to the advancement of Religion in various foreign parts; and especially rejoices in the prosperity of the Mission to the Negroes of our West-India Colonies; in the prospect of extending more widely the blessings of religion and civilization in Western and Southern Africa; and in the number, and promising moral effects, of the Schools established by the Society in Ceylon, Bombay, and Madras, for the instruction of the children of the Natives in useful knowledge, and the principles of the faith of Christ.

III. On the motion of Richard Philips, Esq. of Melksham; seconded by Sir Richard Ottley, Knight, one of his Majesty's Judges in the Island of Ceylon.

THAT the thanks of this Meeting be given to the Auxiliary and Branch Societies throughout the kingdom; to the Auxiliary Societies which have been recently established on several foreign stations; to those Ladies who, in different places, have employed their zeal and influence to increase the funds of the Institution; to the Juvenile Societies, in which the feeling and energy of our youth are consecrated to this sacred service; and to the Subscribers to the Wesleyan Missionary Fund, both at home and abroad, by whose liberality the means of supplying the moral wants of our fellow-men have been greatly increased.

IV. On the motion of the Rev. George Burder, Secretary of the London Missionary Society; seconded by James Wood, Esq. of Manchester.

THAT the thanks of the Meeting be given to Joseph Butterworth, Esq. M. P. and to the Rev. George Marsden, the General Treasurers, for their diligent attention to the duties of their office, during the past year; and that the Society cordially requests the continuance of their services for the ensuing year.

V. On the motion of the Rev. John Dyer, one of the Secretaries of the Baptist Missionary Society; seconded by the Rev. Robert Smith, of Bristol.

THAT the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Committee, for their attention to the affairs of the Society during the past year.

VI. On the motion of Benjamin Sadler, Esq. of Leeds; seconded by William Mawer, Esq. of Lincoln.

THAT the thanks of the Meeting be given to the Rev. Jabez Bunting, the Rev. Joseph Taylor, and the Rev. Richard Watson, the General Secretaries, for their services during the year; and to those Ministers who, in their several circuits and elsewhere, have zealously promoted and advocated the plans of this Society.

VII. On the motion of the Rev. Richard Watson, of London, seconded by the Rev. R. Recce, of Leeds, supported by the Rev. William Harvard, of Deal, late Missionary to Ceylon.

THAT this Meeting returns its thanks to the Rev. William Ward, of Serampore, for his sermon preached before the Society on Thursday evening last; in which he strikingly evinced the absolute necessity of Divine influence in order to the success of Missions, and the duty of fervent and united prayers to God on that behalf; and that it be most earnestly recommended to all the members and friends of this Society, and of its Auxiliaries and Branches, in every part of the kingdom, to be more than ever abundant in supplications for the special blessing of heaven, and the promised out-pouring of the Holy Spirit, on Missionaries themselves, and on the heathen world in which they labour.

VIII. On the motion of the Rev. Joseph Benson, of London, seconded by Thomas Allan, Esq. of London.

THAT the thanks of the Meeting are particularly due to Joseph Butterworth, Esq. M.P. for his attention to the business of the day.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS

OF THE

WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

I. THIS Institution shall be designated THE WESLEYAN METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

II. The object of this Society is to excite and combine, on a plan more systematic and efficient than has heretofore been accomplished, the exertions of the Societies and Congregations of the Wesleyan Methodists, (and of others, who are friends to the conversion of the Heathen World, and to the preaching of the Gospel, generally, in Foreign Lands,) in the support and enlargement of the Foreign Missions, which were first established by the Rev. John Wesley, A.M. the Rev. Thomas Coke, LL.D. and others; and which are now, or shall be from year to year, carried on under the sanction and direction of the Conference of the People called Methodists.

III. Every person subscribing annually the sum of One Guinea, and upwards, and every benefactor presenting a donation of Ten Pounds and upwards, shall be deemed a Member of this Society, and entitled, as such, to a copy of the General Annual Report.

IV. All Methodist Missionary Societies which have already been formed, and those which it is intended to form as soon as it shall be found practicable, for the several Districts in this Kingdom into which the Methodist Connexion is divided, shall be entitled, "Methodist Missionary Auxiliary Societies," for the Districts in which they have been, or may be formed.

All Methodist Missionary Societies already formed, or hereafter to be formed, in the particular Circuits of any District, shall be entitled, "Methodist Missionary Branch Societies" for the Circuit, or (where there are or shall be more than one such Society in the same Circuit,) for the City, Town, or Village, in which they are or shall be established.—And the formation of Ladies' Branch Associations, and of Juvenile Branch Societies, in connexion with the Auxiliary Societies of the several Districts, is also earnestly recommended, wherever separate institutions of that nature are likely to be advantageous.

V. The Monies raised in any Circuit for the Methodist Missions, by Branch Societies, or other Local Associations, and all other Monies, in whatsoever way collected, for the same object, shall be regularly paid, once in every quarter or oftener, into the hands of the Treasurer of the Auxiliary Society for the district in which the said Circuit is situated, with the deduction only of such sum as may have been disbursed for the incidental and local expenses of the Branch Society.—And the Treasurer of every District Auxiliary Society shall remit to the Treasurer or Treasurers of the General Society in London, once in every quarter or oftener, all sums so received by him from the various Circuits in his District, deducting only the necessary incidental expenses incurred by the Auxiliary Society.

VI. The Secretaries of every Branch Society, or other Local Association, shall forward annually to the Secretaries of the Auxiliary Society for their District, an Alphabetical List of all the Benefactors and Subscribers during the preceding twelve months, with an account of their respective contributions: stating at the same time what portion of the sums so received has been detained for local expenses, and what portion has been paid into the Treasurer for the District:—And the Secretaries of every District Auxiliary Society shall also forward annually to the Secretaries of the General Society in London, a similar List of the Benefactors and Subscribers in all the Circuits of their District, and an abstract of the accounts of the Auxiliary Society, shewing its gross receipts, its local payments, and its remittances to the General Treasurers.

VII. All Benefactors of Ten Pounds and upwards, and all Subscribers of one Guinea, and upwards, annually, to any of the Auxiliary or Branch Societies, or other Local Associations, in connexion with this Institution, shall be deemed, in right of such Benefaction or Subscription, Members of the General Society.

VIII. All persons who collect to the amount of One Shilling and upwards weekly, or Five Shillings and upwards monthly, for this Institution, or for any of its Auxiliaries, Branches, or Associations, shall also be Members of the General Society, and entitled to receive a copy of each Annual Report, and of each number of the Methodist Missionary Notices.

IX. An Annual Public Meeting of the Members and Friends of this Society, connected with such Religious Services as may be deemed expedient, shall be held in London, on the first Monday in May, unless that day shall fall on the 6th or 7th of May, in which case the Meeting shall be held for that year on the 29th or 30th of April.

X. A General Committee shall be appointed by the Conference, to whom shall be entrusted (in the intervals of the Annual Assemblies of that Body) the superintendence of the Collection and Disbursement of all Monies raised for the Foreign Missions which are now, or may hereafter be, carried on under its sanction, and by the Preachers in connexion with it, and also the General Management of those Missions, according to the Rules herein-after provided. This Committee shall consist of the President and Secretary of the Conference for the time being, and of forty-eight other Members; at least one-third of whom (eight Travelling Preachers, and eight other Members of the Methodist Society,) shall be selected from the Country Circuits: the rest shall be resident in or near London, where meetings of the Committee shall be held once a month or oftener, for the transaction of business. Those of the Methodist Ministers who are Annual Subscribers to the Missions of One Guinea, and One Treasurer, Secretary, or other principal Member from every Auxiliary District Society, who may be in London occasionally, shall be entitled to meet and vote with the Committee.

XI. The London Members of the General Committee shall consist of Sixteen of the Methodist Ministers stationed for the time being in or near London, and of Sixteen Gentlemen, Members of the Methodist Society, not Travelling Preachers. Four out of the last-mentioned Sixteen shall go out annually, by rotation. This rotation, during the first three years, shall be effected by ballot of the Committee, after which it will proceed in regular course. Four of the Country Members (two Preachers and two others,) shall also be changed annually.

XII. One or more General Treasurers, who shall be entitled to sit and vote with the Committee, during the year of their continuance in office, shall be annually appointed.

XIII. Three of the Methodist Ministers, stationed in or near London, shall be appointed to conduct the Official Correspondence of the Missions, and to perform the other duties of Secretaries. One of the Secretaries shall always reside, during the period of his remaining in that office, at the Wesleyan Mission-House, and be expected to devote himself on the week-days, in general, to the service of the Missions exclusively; being subject, however, to all the General Rules of the Connexion, respecting a regular change of station.

XIV. As all the Missionaries supported by the Funds of this Society are to be Preachers in connexion with, and under the direction of, the Methodist Conference, and have, generally, a claim to be received as such into the Connexion at home, on their return from Foreign Stations, the Selection of Missionaries shall be made in the following way: viz.

1. Every Candidate must, in the first instance, be recommended by the Superintendent of the Circuit in which he resides; be approved by the Quarterly Meeting of that Circuit; and be examined and approved also, either by the Annual District Meeting, or, at least, by three other Superintendents in the neighbourhood.

2. The list of Candidates for Missionary service, who shall be thus recommended by their several Superintendents, Quarterly Meetings, and District Meetings, &c. shall be annually laid before the Conference; and such a number of those who are deemed most eligible, as are likely to be wanted in the course of the ensuing twelve months, shall be sent for to the Conference, and examined by a Special Committee, in reference to their Missionary views and qualifications. In cases where it may be found inexpedient for them to attend the Conference, they shall be examined by as many of the Preachers of the London District as can conveniently assemble for that purpose.

3. Those candidates who shall be approved by the Special Committee at the Conference, or by the Preachers of the London District as before mentioned, shall be entered on the List of Received Missionaries, and be subject to the call of the General Committee for such stations as may need supply or reinforcement.

4. When Preachers, already engaged as such in the Connexion at Home, offer themselves for Foreign service, they shall be personally examined in reference to that subject, by a special Committee at the Conference; or, if that be impracticable, by as many of the Preachers of the London District as can conveniently assemble for the purpose; and shall, if approved, be also placed on the List of Received Missionaries.

5. If it shall at any time appear, to a majority of the General Committee in London, that there are reasons why any Preacher called out from the said List of Received Missionaries, and proposed for a Foreign Station, should not proceed upon that service, they shall have a right to suspend his appointment as a Missionary, until the ensuing Conference shall especially consider and determine on his case.

6. If, in the intervals of the Annual Meetings of the Conference, the List of Received Missionaries shall be exhausted, and more Missionaries shall be urgently wanted,—or, if an immediate supply shall be needed for some Station of peculiar difficulty, or requiring peculiar qualifications,—the General Committee shall be at liberty to employ such persons as they deem suitable. Provided always, That such persons shall have been previously recommended by their respective Superintendents, by the Quarterly Meetings of the Circuits in which they reside, and either by the District Meetings, or by three other neighbouring Superintendents,—and also previously examined and approved by as many of the Preachers of the London District as can conveniently assemble, who shall be considered, on such occasions, as exercising, on behalf of the Conference, the same functions which would, in ordinary cases, belong to the Special Committee appointed during the sittings of the Conference, according to the 2d and 4th Articles of this Rule: Provided also, That this right, of the Committee to employ Missionaries not entered on the Annual List, shall be exercised only in case of pressing necessity, and not without the consent of the President of the Conference for the time being.

XV. The Plan for stationing the Missionaries supported by this Society, shall be annually drawn up by the Secretaries, laid before the General Committee in London, and, if approved by them, recommended to the Conference.

XVI. The Trial of Missionaries, who may at any time be accused of misconduct, or of having deviated from the Doctrines and Discipline of the Connexion, shall in all ordinary cases be left with the Foreign District Meetings to which such Missionaries may at the time belong, according to the General Rules and Usages of the Methodist Conference. But the Conference shall have, as heretofore, the right of recalling any Missionary, whether put on his trial by a Foreign District Meeting or not, whenever there shall appear to them to be reason for such recal. And, in the intervals of the sittings of the Conference, the General Committee in London shall possess a similar power of recal, and of putting any Missionary, so recalled by them, upon his trial before the ensuing Conference; or, in case of necessity for immediate decision, before the Preachers of the London District.

XVII. For the satisfaction of the numerous Country Friends of this Society, on whose continued co-operation so much depends, and many of whom are in the habit of attending the Annual Meetings of the Conference, it is agreed, that a Special Meeting of the General Committee shall be held, once a year, at the place where the Conference is held, at nine o'clock in the morning of the Friday preceding the last Monday in July. To this Meeting the Conference shall, from year to year, invite Nine Preachers, and Nine other Members of the Methodist Society, resident in the neighbourhood, who are not Travelling Preachers, together with the Treasurers and Secretaries of the different Auxiliary and Branch Societies in the vicinity, and such other leading Country Friends of the Methodist Missions as can conveniently attend. The persons thus assembled, in conjunction with those regular Members of the General Committee who can be present, shall review the Minutes of the Financial Business transacted during the preceding year, and examine the General Accounts of the State and Expenditure of every Mission. Any suggestions for the improvement or extension of the Missionary Concerns of the Connexion, which this Special Meeting may deem it expedient to recommend, shall be minuted by the Secretaries, and promptly considered by the Conference, or at the subsequent regular Meetings of the General Committee in London.

XVIII. It is earnestly recommended to the Members of this Society, and of the Auxiliary Societies, and other Local Associations, in connexion with it, to consider it as an indispensable part of their daily Christian duty, to pray to Almighty God for a blessing upon its designs, and upon those of all similar Societies of other denominations, engaged in the propagation of the Gospel of Jesus Christ; under the full conviction, that unless He "prevent us in all our doings with His most gracious favour, and further us with His continual help," we cannot reasonably hope for a succession of persons of proper spirit and qualifications for the office of Missionaries, nor expect their labours to be crowned with the desired success. And it is further hoped that, with the same view, all the Members and Friends of this Society will sanction, in their several neighbourhoods, by their presence and influence, the Monthly Missionary Prayer-Meetings, which should be held in every Chapel in the Methodist Connexion, according to the Recommendation of the Conference, published in their Minutes for 1815; at which Meetings Extracts from the Missionary Notices, containing recent intelligence from the Foreign Stations, may be read, and united supplications offered up for the salvation of the World.

Form of a Bequest to the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society.

I GIVE unto the Treasurer or Treasurers for the time being of the Wesleyan Methodist Missionary Society, the Sum of _____ Pounds sterling, out of such part only of my Personal Estate, as shall not consist of chattels real, in aid of the Foreign Missions, first established by the Rev. JOHN WESLEY, A.M. the Rev. THOMAS COKE, LL.D. and others, and now carried on under the direction of the Conference of the People called Methodists; and for which the receipt of such Treasurer or Treasurers shall be a sufficient discharge.

✍ Devises of land, or of money charged on land, or secured on mortgage of lands or tenements, or to be laid out in lands or tenements, are void: but money or stock may be given by will, if not directed to be laid out in land.

DONATIONS OR SUBSCRIPTIONS, for the Wesleyan Missions, will be received as follows: viz.

By the General Treasurers,—Joseph Butterworth, Esq. M.P. 43, Fleet-Street, London; and the Rev. George Marsden, No. 16, Canterbury-place, Lambeth, London:

By the General Secretaries,—the Rev. John Burdsall, Long-Lane, Southwark; the Rev. Joseph Taylor, Wesleyan Mission-House, 77, Hatton-Garden; and the Rev. Richard Watson, 67, Margaret-Street, Cavendish-Square, London:

By any of the Members of the General Committee:

By Joseph Bulmer, Esq. 90, Watling-Street, Treasurer of the Auxiliary Society for the London District:

By any of the Wesleyan Methodist Ministers, or any Member of the District or Local Missionary Committees, throughout the kingdom:

And at the Bank of Messrs. Smith, Payne, and Smiths, Mansion-House Place.

REPORT,

&c. &c.

It is with feelings of lively gratitude to Almighty God, the Fountain of all goodness, that the Committee review the proceedings of the past year, and report them to the Society.

Since the last Annual Meeting they have been very actively employed in conducting the affairs of the Missions confided to them;—they have had the pleasure to send out a considerable number of Missionaries, whose character and qualifications have afforded them the greatest satisfaction, and excited the most lively hopes of their usefulness;—and they have been cheered in their exertions by the intelligence they have received through the year from the different Missions, which has generally been of the most encouraging description. The success, indeed, has in some places been more eminent and marked than in others; but in the least successful stations there are indications of progress, and in some the blessing of the Lord has rested upon the labours of his servants far beyond the experience of the most prosperous of former years.

Before the substance of this information is laid before the Society, the Committee beg leave to state, that, since the last Anniversary, they have sent out the following Missionaries to different parts of the world, viz.

John Hawtrey, to Paris.

Titus Close, to Madras.

William Shaw and Stephen Kay, to South Africa.

Benjamin Carvosso and Ralph Mansfield, to New South Wales.

Elliot Jones and William Woodis Harvey, to Cape Henry, Hayti.

Samuel Brown, and Charles Janion, to St. Christophers, West Indies.

William Larcom, to Tobago.

Thomas Truscott, to Tortola.

James Cheeswright, to Grenada.
 Thomas H. Hyde, to Nevis.
 Joseph Parkin, to Antigua.
 John Nelson, to Barbadoes.
 William Wilson, to Newfoundland :—

in all seventeen: one to India, two to New South Wales, two to Hayti, eight to the British West Indies, one to Newfoundland, and one to France; eleven of whom were married, and six single. The number of Missionaries actually employed, is about 140. (1)

But, besides the Missionaries recently sent out, and those on the eve of departure, the demands of old stations where the work is enlarging, and has become too extensive for the present number of labourers to perform; and the supply necessary for new stations where there is the greatest need for evangelical cultivation, and where hopeful opportunities to commence it present themselves, leave the Society still in arrears to the calls of perishing men, and to providential indications, by a very considerable number of Missionaries. These are circumstances which the Committee would affectionately commend to the solemn consideration of the Society; to its most active members in all parts of the kingdom; and to the friends of religion in general. Scenes of holy exertion are opening to the church of Christ on every side; and the same reasons and motives which have already urged us to incipient operations for the moral recovery of the world remain in unabated force, and call for their continuance and enlargement. The various stations in the Pagan world which now present themselves to the notice of Missionary Societies; “the regions beyond” those where, through their care, Christ is now, though but lately “named,” are not less sterile of good, and prolific of evil, than the places already taken into cultivation. In none of them does vice

(1) Since this Report was read to the Society at its Annual Meeting in May last, the following Missionaries have been sent out:

James Mowat, Mrs. Mowat, and Elijah Hoole, accompanied by Adam Munhi Rathana, and Alexander Dherma Rhama, to India; John Oliver, to Newfoundland; William Temple and Mrs. Temple, to Nova Scotia; John Huddleston, Mrs. Huddleston, and Geo. Lane, to Sierra Leone; Peter Duncan, William Young and Mrs. Young, to Jamaica; Abraham Whitehouse and Mrs. Whitehouse, to Antigua; Thomas Morgan, Mrs. Morgan, and Jacob Grimshaw, to St. Kitt's; John Felves, to Nevis. The following are about to be sent: William Walker, to New South Wales; William Threlfall, William Squire, John Crofts, John Gick, William Horton, John White, William White, John Morgan, Nath. Turner; whose stations are not finally arranged.

appear in forms less malignant; the darkness is as intense and bewildering as that which begins to roll itself away before the light of the Missions which have been recently established; the case of their inhabitants is helpless and pitiable as that of the people who have already been both pitied and aided by the friends of modern Missions; and the obligations of Christians to extend the blessings of their Divine religion as far as their power will permit, remain unshaken and unchanged. That power, the Committee are persuaded, is not exhausted; and they are therefore encouraged to indulge even the “full assurance of hope,” that they will be enabled, by the accession of new friends, and the active prosecution of the plans of Auxiliary and Branch Missionary Societies throughout the kingdom, to supply demands so pressing, and to extend the visitations of light and mercy into new scenes of darkness and misery, so truly necessitous.

The information which has been received as to the state and prospects of our Missions in different parts, the Committee now beg leave to lay before the Society.

EUROPE.

GIBRALTAR. The Committee are happy to announce the formation of a Missionary Society on this station, under the most promising circumstances. Not only have the society and congregation raised up there by Missionary labour felt themselves bound to extend the benefits received by themselves, to others more destitute; but numerous respectable persons of the town and garrison kindly sanctioned the institution, and have become liberal subscribers. The proceeds of the first half year have been received by the Treasurers, amounting to £106. Besides the religious assistance afforded by this Mission to the garrison and the inhabitants of Gibraltar, it is likely to produce considerable effect by the efforts made by our Missionary in distributing the Scriptures and useful tracts, in the neighbouring parts of Spain. The following extract of a recent letter from Mr. Rees, on this subject, shows, that much less difficulty exists in introducing the Scriptures and properly selected tracts than had been anticipated.

“The shameful profanation of the Sabbath in Spain, is truly lamentable, their daily labour being pursued, even threshing their corn in the open fields. Their evening amusements are frequently bull fights. Their clergy manifest little or no disapprobation of this cruel and disgraceful practice; the stages which are erected for the accommodation of the spectators being frequently fixed to the walls of their churches; whilst many of the priests express their approbation by their presence. May the Sun of Righteousness arise and disperse the dark clouds of ignorance and superstition in which the inhabitants of this country are enveloped. I trust the dawn of a bright day has begun in Spain; the people manifest a desire to read, especially the Scriptures. During the last six weeks, I distributed between five and six dozen of Testaments, most of which were bought, besides many hundreds of Tracts. I have found the plan of distributing Tracts in the market answer very well. I have agreed with a man who is a Catholic, and keeps a stall in the market, to sell Testaments; and he has already sold several. I have also engaged another man in the same service; he has been very successful, and sold three dozen in two days. If this success continue, I shall soon require a supply from the Bible Society. When the Spanish Bibles are published, I hope they will lose no time in sending me a good stock, with some Spanish Testaments. At San Roque, I embraced a favourable opportunity of being introduced to the superior of a convent of Franciscans, who has every appearance of being a good and pious man. Mrs. Rees's health having suffered considerably in consequence of the extreme heat, I was under the necessity of removing her to San Roque for a change of air. This place is esteemed remarkably salubrious, and is the general resort of invalids from the garrison. During her stay there, the person in whose house she lodged asked her for a good book; she gave her the Testament, and a Tract, with which the poor woman was so much delighted, that she shewed them to her confessor, (who happened to be the person above-mentioned) and he shewed them to the Vicar; they both approved of them very much, and the Vicar preached a sermon on the subject of the Tract, (which happened to be on reading the Scriptures.) The only fault he found was, that the Virgin Mary was not mentioned often enough. The next day I was at San Roque, and the Padre (the superior of the convent) requested an interview: this was soon known to some of the English families who resided there, who expressed the most lively apprehension for our safety, assuring us, that it was a plot of the Priests, and that we should be murdered. I smiled at their groundless fears, and was happy to bid the Padre welcome. I found him to be a pious, good, and intelligent man. We parted mutually pleased, but regretting the difference of language. He gave me a pressing invitation to his convent. The Padre received me with the greatest cordiality and politeness. I took my son with me as interpreter, and by his assistance we conversed a long time. I proposed many questions relative to their church, which he answered without any reserve. As I am well known in that town, and had been twice desired by order of the Vicar to leave the church, the kindness and unreserve of this good man much surprised me. On my mentioning the circumstance to him, he expressed much surprise; and said, he was sure if the Vicar had known me he would not have done so. He took me over the convent, and shewed me the Priests' dresses, &c. On my taking leave of him, he requested that I would visit him as a brother in Christ, and not as a stranger. In the course of a few days he took tea with us, accompanied by another Padre of the same order. Among the many questions I proposed, I asked if there were many pious people among them; he replied that they all attended Mass. I asked him if there were many much devoted to God; his reply was, that they were but few. I asked him if there were many Bibles in the country, and if the people expressed a desire to possess and read the word of God. He said that the Bibles were very scarce, that there were some at Cadiz and Madrid, but the desire of reading them was not so great as it ought to be, the people being more fond of reading novels and ballads. I asked him if it were true that the laity were not permitted to read the Scriptures; he showed much surprise, and said, all might read them if they would. I then gave him some account of the state of religion in England, and its many charitable institutions; and among the rest, the British and Foreign Bible Society. He appeared much pleased, and said he knew some who would be glad to have Testaments. I then said that I would, in the name of that Society, make him a present of 50 Testaments for the benefit of his convent. The joy expressed by him was great indeed; he said he was greatly obliged, and promised to call for them at any house in Gibraltar. Who knows what this may lead to; may it be as the little leaven which shall leaven the whole lump?"

FRANCE.—The small Societies in Normandy continue steady, and the labours of our Brethren there, in conjunction with some excellent Protestant Ministers in the neighbourhood, have been useful to the people. At Mer, Mr. Kerpezdron has obtained the authority of the government to exercise his Ministry as Pastor. He has seldom less than from 200 to 300 hearers. "Blessed be God," he says in a late letter, "for the favour he has given me in the eyes of the people, and for the spirit of hearing the truth which is here excited; for an increasing congregation; for the return of a few to the religious assemblies which they had for years entirely forsaken; and for the spirit of conviction working in the minds and consciences of others. Our Subscription for the erection of a new Church now amounts to 1310 francs, besides which, a weekly penny Subscription has been begun, and many have their names on the list. I have, blessed be God, work enough in preaching, catechising the children, and the many adults who never received religious instruction, and in superintending the schools." Mr. Hawtrey has met with considerable discouragements at Paris, and is now removed to Normandy; but, in the south of France, through which Mr. Cook lately travelled, a brighter prospect of a revival of religion presents itself. There, several excellent and active Protestant Ministers labour in season and out of season, and would be glad of coadjutors in their great work. A spirit of religious enquiry, and a desire for the attainment of true and spiritual religion, appear also to have been awakened among the people to an extent to which the labours of these excellent men are not commensurate. Mr. Cook's sermons and conversations were affectionately received by a people apparently very eager to be instructed in the whole counsel of God. A very interesting journal of his tour which he has sent home, contains many pleasing indications that, as to that part of France at least, the period of divine gracious visitation is not far distant. Mr. Cook has been appointed to labour in the south, and is to be joined by other brethren, if the case shall require them. (2)

ASIA.

BOMBAY.—The two Schools begun by Mr. Horner for the instruction of the native youth, continue to receive the attention of the Brethren; but little effect appears yet to have been produced on the adult natives. The station is, however, important, both in itself, and from its being the key to the western side of India, to which “the way,” Mr. Horner observes, in a late letter, “is evidently opening; and, till the Mahratta States are accessible, Bombay is unquestionably the best place for a Missionary to reside at, as it is the only one, not on the Continent, where the Mahratta language can be learned.”

MADRAS.—On this station there are two Chapels, one at Royapettah, in the midst of a large heathen population, about four miles from Madras; and one at Madras, lately opened. Mr. Lynch writes, “Our congregations are much increasing. After a strict examination, I lately administered the sacrament to 14 natives. The usual number of communicants is about 33, and the number in society 76; many of whom reside in different parts of the neighbourhood." These circumstances having enlarged the prospect of usefulness in that station, a second Missionary was appointed.

(2) Any indications of a revival of the spirit of religion among the Protestants of France are so important, that we have given Extracts from Mr. Cook's Journal referred to above, in Appendix I.

An Auxiliary Missionary Society has been formed at Madras, among the friends of the Wesleyan Missions, which promises to contribute a handsome sum yearly to our funds.

CEYLON.—The first subject in connection with this Mission, is the state of the native Schools which have been established there, and for the support of which, so large an Annual Grant is made out of the Funds of the Society. The Committee have lately received the last Report of the state of these institutions, published at Ceylon, and are happy to say, that it equals their best expectations.

In the introduction to this document, the Brethren answer an objection, which appears to have been made to educating the Children of the Natives in India.

"An objection, however, has been raised by many respectable Europeans in this country to such exertions, on the ground that the nominal Christians of India are no better, if they are not worse, than the aboriginal heathens of the same countries. This is not borne out by the general conduct of those Christians who are the fruits of modern Missionary labours. It is an objection which has received its origin from the character of mere hereditary Christians, multitudes of whom are found in various parts of the Indian Continent and its Islands. The great majority of them are in a state of the most deplorable ignorance of Christianity, and generally without any suitable pastoral superintendance to call into action, in daily conduct, any salutary principles which they may have imbibed. These Christians, therefore, are not a proper criterion of the tendency, or otherwise, of a system of Christian instruction under the superintendance of Missionaries.

"If it be further objected, that even modern Schools have sometimes been unfortunate in the subsequent conduct of their pupils, it may be observed, that it is but comparatively of recent date since native Schools were supplied with Christian masters. The generality of the instructors of youth have been heathens, and in many cases heathen priests: and hence, being wholly actuated by a mercenary motive, they never exceeded the mere rules of outward discipline, to which they were bound by their superiors: and having no natural attachment to Christianity, much less any zeal for its propagation, or any thing of the spirit and temper of the gospel, it would not be just to judge of the merits of a system of Christian education, properly so called, by the fruits of such Institutions, which, however excellent in their design, and however pious and zealous the patrons of them have been, had not all those advantages which now it has pleased Providence to place at our command.

“ We wish our friends to be fully assured, that our design is not to school and discipline our native pupils into the mere outward forms of Christian worship, nor to bias their minds to the preference of any peculiar set of religious opinions, though in this island, this would be a much less laborious task than the one we assign to ourselves. Our aim is to give them the means of instruction. For this purpose, we lead them through their elementary books, that they may be able, themselves, to find a ready access to the pure fountain of learning—the word of God, “ which is able to make them wise unto salvation, through faith which is in Christ Jesus.”

“ To these efforts of common instruction are added, daily exhortations on the nature of good and evil; the heinous nature of sin; the sufferings of impenitent sinners in a future state; the way of salvation through our Lord Jesus Christ; the necessity and nature of Divine illumination, regeneration and assistance; a general resurrection, and final judgment; with the glories which await those who believe, love, and obey the true God and Saviour. In all these instructions, they hear nothing of sectarian difference, or party prejudice. They are taught, in the spirit of St. Paul’s doctrine, that the outward distinctions which they may behold among Christians, are only material as they affect the heart, and influence the life; and that ‘ in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, neither uncircumcision, but a new creature.’

“ It may happen, and we fear it will, in too many cases, that our hopes concerning many will be disappointed. Some of our pupils may become mere nominal Christians; and others, after all the helps to virtue which they have, may turn out incorrigibly vicious. To be completely successful in all respects is not the common lot of man, even in the most laudable of undertakings. The cause of these failures will attach no blame to our system of education, nor we hope to the energies which shall be from time to time engaged therein. These failures, if such should unhappily occur, will be our grief, and the grief of our successors in the work.

“ But we shall esteem none as a source of rejoicing, but such as become the subjects of a genuine moral change, and under the influence of the Holy Spirit are savingly converted to the knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus.

“ It may, finally, be considered as satisfactory by those who fear a mere nominal effect to result from the religious education of Native Children to be informed, that, so far as our experience has gone, the instances are not solitary, in which our humble endeavours in the way of Schools have been followed by moral results of the most genuine character. We have seen the native youth shed the tears of sincere contrition for past sin. We have heard them speak rationally of the peace and love which flow from believing in the Lord Jesus Christ. We have seen many reformed from the most vicious practices, by the influence of School instruction. And we have heard, nay, some of us have been eye-witnesses of the peaceful, happy manner, in which some of our native charge have been removed from this world, we have no doubt, to a better, 'that is an heavenly.'

"Our sole object is, and we hope a Christian public will believe the assertion, our sole object is, to spread the knowledge of salvation by Christ as widely and effectual as possible.

"Our wish is to enable the Native Children, (otherwise generally neglected) in the first instance, to read and write their own language; in addition to this, the English language, where it is desired. In the Schools they are also trained to habits of decency and propriety. We endeavour to impress their young minds with a sense of the fear of God, and their duty to their Maker. We endeavour also, to teach them their duty to men: that they owe an affectionate esteem and obedience to their parents; that they are to reverence and obey their rulers; that they are commanded to love one another, and delight in acts of kindness towards each other; to love all men, and pray for all men. Such instructions, such principles are instilled daily into the minds of our Native Pupils; our efforts must in some degree be successful; and in proportion as they are so, the present, and succeeding generations of people will see and feel their good effects, both with respect to time and eternity."

On the connection of the Schools with the objects of the Mission, the Brethren thus report:—

"Every School-House we build is sacredly set apart as the house of God; every child who attends there looks upon it as a sacred place. Every School we establish brings a kind of little parish under the direct influence of our Mission. This influence extends not only to the children themselves, but their parents, their families, their friends and neighbours; hence in places where we had not the least prospect of raising a congregation before, the establishment of a School for the instruction of the children, free of expence, has often operated so powerfully in our favour, that the poor natives, instead of looking upon us as strangers, whose motives they were unable to develope, and therefore kept from us, come around us, and consider us as their merciful benefactors.

"In the Southern part of the Island our range of Schools begins in the most Northern part of the district of Negombo, and extends along the whole coast, as far as the most Eastern part of the district of Matura, which includes a space of about 140 English miles in length. We have not been very uniform as to the extent of ground we have taken up in breadth. This has been determined principally by the openings into the jungle which the Brethren have had in their respective stations, and this will be seen more particularly in the accounts which will be given of each station in order, as they stand upon our Minutes.

"In Matura, our Brethren have certainly gone a great way into the jungle, and their efforts among districts of people very little removed from savage life, have been great and praiseworthy. At Negombo also our Brother has laboured most perseveringly to extend the influence of Christian instruction into the interior districts, and we have been happy to learn from his report how successful he has been, and the still more pleasing prospects which lay before him. In the Caltura district the way into the interior has opened before our Brother almost as readily as he could go up and possess the land, and by means of the very fine river, which extends to the foot of Adam's Peak, he can have access to an extensive range of country, purely among the natives, with comparatively little trouble. From that station we have rather enlarged expectations. In the Galle and Colombo stations they have kept a little more to the sea coast. Not that they felt less concern for the inhabitants of the interior than their esteemed Brethren on the other stations, but the claims of a greater number of large and populous villages so situated naturally attracted their notice in the first place, and have fully occupied their attention thus far; but having provided for the mental and spiritual wants of these places, their next object will be to apply their strength, and to traverse the jungles round these districts. Such, however, is the fact, that from the Northern to the Southern limits which we have just pointed out, there is scarcely a town or village, great or small, down the whole coast, where we have not a School for the instruction of the children, or to adapt the expression to the native phraseology, 'A Church is built for the instruction of our children, and the worship of God.'

"Only a few years back, there was hardly any thing to be seen like a church or place for Christian worship in the whole of these districts, except here and there a few old churches in ruins, covered with jungle, and almost hid from the eye of the traveller. But now, bless the Lord, a person making a journey, for instance, from Colombo to Galle, nearly 80 miles, has his attention continually attracted by the appearance of our School-Houses or little Native Churches, which frequently present themselves in the most unexpected manner. Some of them are situated on little plains; some under majestic shades of the large cocoa-nuts topes; others in vallies, surrounded by the most beautiful scenery; others, still more aspiring, are raised upon the summits of hills, and lift their humble roofs just above the tops of their neighbouring trees, sufficiently high to tell the traveller, hither also do the tribes repair to worship Him who governeth all things, and liveth and reigneth King for ever. And does not God approve of these little sanctuaries which are rising up, and are dedicated to his name? Will not heaven smile upon these small beginnings, these humble monuments of Christianity, which are triumphantly rising up among the ancient fabrics of heathenism, which have stood for ages in this country, and poured out upon the inhabitants streams of abomination?"

The number of the Schools, with the children taught in them, are thus stated:

Districts.	Schools.	Children.
1 Colombo	11	915
2 Negombo	9	430
3 Caltura	19	1124
4 Galle	12	717
5 Matura	14	721
6 Jaffna	16	696
7 Trincomale	3	215
8 Batticaloa	1	20
9 Madras	2	30
Total	86	4908

Of the state and progress of each of these Schools, a detailed account is given in the Report, from which we can only give Extracts.

The great progress of the Children in learning appears in the account given of all the Schools. The Colpetty School may be taken as an instance :

“The average attendance in the school is from 100 to 120 ; a calculation which we take from the ‘daily return of numbers in the school.’ Out of this number 46 boys and 13 girls can read very well in the English Testament ; 62 boys and 23 girls can read the new version of the Singhalese Testament ; most of the boys write their own language on the Ola, or more properly the Talipot leaf ; 52 of the boys and several of the girls write copies in English on paper ; and we hesitate not to say that most of the children write their English copies much better than the generality of children in English schools, of the same standing ; indeed their aptness in this respect exceeds any thing we usually see in European children.

“In addition to their daily exercises, they are all learning Catechisms, both in English and Singhalese, which they commit to memory with great facility ; this they do principally when they have finished their other works in the school, or when at their own houses. Many of the children have got on so well with their Catechisms of different kinds, that they can not only repeat any part either in Singhalese or English, but their minds and thoughts are become so conversant with Divine subjects, that we can hardly ask them any question connected with the leading truths of the Sacred Scriptures, but we shall have a speedy and correct reply. Their knowledge of God’s word, and in many instances of experimental religion, is really surprising. Many of them have taken great delight in committing to memory whole chapters of the New Testament, both from the Evangelists and Epistles, together with a number of Psalms and Hymns, with which we have regularly furnished them, both in their own and the English languages.”

The moral effect of instruction upon the minds of the children and adults, as stated in various passages in the Report, is very encouraging.

“The school-mistress who has had the charge of the female School at Colpetty, brings the little girls forward in a very charming manner indeed. They would be a credit to any school, even in England; a stranger, first going into the school, would hardly suppose them the children generally of the poor labouring natives. The few clothes they have on are always remarkably clean and neat. They have imbibed ideas of decency, and female modesty, which are not common to the native women. They get on remarkably well in their books, and several of them read very fluently both in the English and Singhalé Testaments. The improvement which they make in every kind of needle-work, is such as could scarcely ever have been expected from little native girls. Such advancements in the female part of the population of this country, promise the most happy results.”

In the account of the New Bazar School, it is remarked,

“We have the children of six schools at the Mission-house every Sunday forenoon, at 10 o'clock; and it is pleasing to see the great regularity, both of the boys and girls of this school, in their attendance at the public worship of God. Many of their parents, and some of their neighbours, who, previous to the establishment, knew no more of Divine things than mere animals, regularly attend with the children at the house of God, and begin to give pleasing hopes of their being soon brought to the knowledge of Christ and his salvation.

“The serious part of the scholars are so much afraid of breaking the Sabbath, and are so desirous of keeping it holy, that after they leave the Mission-house, about 12 o'clock, they retire into the school-room, which is very convenient, and will spend from one to two hours in reading the Scriptures, singing hymns, and praying. This in children so young, that is, from 10 to 16 years of age, and considering their advantages, is really an interesting circumstance, and certainly deserves to be known and to be recorded, as it tends to encourage the efforts of Missionaries among the heathen.”

“Out of this school we have baptised about 30 heathen children, the whole of whom had come to years so as to be able to understand, in a considerable degree, the nature of the sacred covenant into which they entered with Jesus Christ the Saviour of the world. Previous to their baptism, both the masters had taken great pains to instruct them in its nature, and the obligations it brought upon them; and so successful had they been in this, that in their public examination, which took place in the Mission-house the day before they were baptised, it must have interested every friend to Missions, to have heard how rationally, how sensibly, and in several of them with what a sense of the fear of God, did they reply to the various questions which were proposed to them. May the God of heaven bless and save to the uttermost those dear little fellows: some of their poor heathen parents, who were spectators, were melted into tears.”

Under the head “Checkoo-Street School,” it is remarked,

“During the past year we have baptised not less than 30 adult heathens, which the teacher, (a middle-aged Singhalé, a doctor by profession, and who, by his usefulness among the natives, has gained great respect and influence in the part where he lives, which he uses daily in striving to bring both inhabitants and their children under Christian instruction,) has brought forward, and himself, by the blessing of God, instructed and prepared for that solemn ordinance. Their poor heathen parents were present, and witnessed both their public examination and baptism. Some of them received impressions on the occasion which have fastened on their minds, and they continue regularly to attend Divine worship at the Mission-house.

“ One poor heathen woman was so affected, that she came confessing, with many tears, her firm belief in Christ as the Saviour of the world, and a humble hope that he would save her: she requested also to be baptised in the name of the glorious Trinity; after she had gone through some weeks of previous instruction, she was baptised in the Mission-house.”

Mr. Newstead remarks, as to the Negombo School,

“ The children frequently have given very striking answers to various questions on Divine things, such as afford the most convincing proof, not only that they have intellectual powers, but that they use them also. Many of them, who are now rising up into life, are very conscientious in offering prayer, and reading their Bibles alone, and are also frequent reprovers of sin.”

In the Report of the School of Pitticottua, Mr. Callaway remarks,

“ A Mahomedan young man observed to the master, ‘ Before I came to school, I used to swear on the slightest occasion; but I see the evil of it now, and, by the grace of God, avoid it altogether.’ The busy hum of a school in a heathen neighbourhood, is an object of attraction. The master entered on his weekly return, lately, that a Singhalese from Girway Pattoe, about 30 miles to the eastward, gazed over the school wall, having a number of charms about him. This was instantly perceived by the boys, who called him so seriously to account, that he broke them all off, and indignantly threw them away. Before he left, he observed, I have two children, and if there were a school in our village, I would gladly send them.”

To these pleasing instances of the moral effect of these valuable institutions may be added the singular circumstance, that a considerable number of the children of Mahometans are regular scholars in several of the schools, and are taught Christianity in the same manner as the other children, and that without the slightest objection by their parents.

“ In the village of Colpetty reside a number of Moormen, principally men of trade. They made frequent application to us to allow their sons the privilege of attending our schools: we thought it best, and most judicious, not to appear hasty in the matter, but gave them to understand, that could a suitable teacher be procured, we should have no objection. After looking out, and allowing the matter apparently to rest for a short time, we found a very clever Malabar man, who engaged to take the instruction of all the Moor-children that might attend. We have accordingly opened the school for that interesting class of people, and have from 20 to 30 fine Moor-children daily instructed in this school. We made no arrangement about books; and as they were not mentioned to us by the parents, we saw no need to agitate the matter, but supplied them with the same kind of books as the other children, which they gladly received; and all appear happy and delighted in this opportunity afforded them of the means of instruction. At present, in addition to the little elementary books with which we have furnished them, they are voluntarily learning the Prayers and Hymns which the other children have been taught. The school opens and closes with singing and prayer every day; and these children, without any scruple or hesitation, so far as we know, stand up to sing, and kneel down to prayer with the rest. Their attendance at the school and regularity are very pleasing: may they be brought ultimately to enjoy the true light which enlighteneth every man that cometh into the world!

“The present number in the Slave Island school are 45 boys and 19 girls: they are principally the children of Mahomedans; but we treat them as though we scarcely knew the difference between a Mahomedan and Christian; that is, we say nothing about it. We supply them with books, which the little fellows learn with the utmost avidity, and seem delighted with their privileges. These books are exactly what we have in the other schools, all tending to give right views of God, and of Jesus Christ the Saviour of men. The children regularly attend Divine service, which is performed every Sunday morning at nine o'clock. They learn our Christian Hymns, and seem delighted to sing them. They kneel at prayer, both when the school begins and ends, every day. They repeat the Apostles' Creed with the same readiness as any of our other children; and in fact, every task they have given to them, they go through with quietness and readiness.—The land on which two or three of the schools are built was given by Mahomedans.”

On that important branch of the Mission Schools, the Schools for Female Heathen Children, an interesting novelty in India, the Brethren remark,

“It will be seen in the general recapitulation of the number of children in our Schools, that they include not less than about 500 females. One of the great impediments in the way of Missionaries in former days in India was, the degraded state in which the female part of the population was kept. Heathenism has circulated a strange opinion, that one of the greatest excellencies and greatest virtues in the female character, is, a total ignorance of almost every thing. And it is no uncommon thing to find, that the most admired females in India are those the most childish, the most incapable of taking any part in the concerns of human life. Besides, they have been generally kept in so gloomy a state of secrecy, that it has been impossible for Christian Missionaries to obtain any opportunities of doing them good. But in proportion as the females of heathen lands become enlightened, and educated, they will begin to lay claim to the right of being looked upon as human beings; and consequently, from such feelings, from such a confidence, will feel concerned for their present and eternal welfare.

“The female part of the children in our Schools in general, gives us the greatest satisfaction. Those that are taken in time, are by no means inferior to the boys. They get on exceedingly well in their books, are very apt at their needles, and other works suitable to them. Were this the proper place, we might mention a number of circumstances which have come to our knowledge, and which shew, how easily their minds are brought under religious impressions. A pleasing instance occurred a short time ago, in the village of Welwate, near Colombo, of a poor woman, who, all her days, (though what is called a nominal Christian) had been most regular in her attendance at the heathen temples, and of paying the accustomed offerings to the supposed devils of the place where she lived. She had, however, a little girl, whom she sent to our School there, and began her self to attend Divine worship in consequence. The impressions made on her mind began to be so powerful, that instead of making her accustomed offerings of money, &c. to the devils, and the temples, she began to lay it up until her conscience became a little more easy, and till she could do it with less fear and remorse. These struggles continued some time, though she kept them a perfect secret, until one night, under a sermon, preached by our young friend Cornelius, she was so affected, that she got up in the middle of the congregation, and declared the whole matter: ran home, to fetch the little store designed for the devil, cast it down at Cornelius’s feet, and insisted upon his taking and devoting it to the cause of God. A gentleman, and a respectable Civilian on this Island, on visiting the School at Colpetty, a short time ago, expressed the utmost surprise and gratification, when looking over the girls’ School, and examining their little specimens of needle-work, which they each shewed with no small degree of childish ambition. Such things are quite unprecedented in India. Never was it before heard of, that, in one town, there should be not less than three or four large Schools of native girls, under regular and daily instructions, both moral and religious. And those best acquainted with the history of this country, look upon this as one of the strongest indications that the evangelization of the people is rapidly advancing. We feel thankful that such is the fact, and shall use every prudent means to encourage all in our power the instruction of females, feeling confident that we owe it to this neglected part of our fellow-creatures. How very different will be the appearance of our Singhalese and other Indian wives and mothers, in the course of a few years ! How pleasing will it be, to see an active woman in the houses of the Natives, looking after all the little concerns of her family, striving with anxious solicitude to train her children to habits of religion and domestic neatness and comfort, compared with a poor creature who has absolutely been taught to be ignorant of every thing ; who has been taught to look with horror upon every sort of moral improvement, and whose highest culture has been, to learn to sit upon a mat on the ground from morn to night, in a state of total abstraction of thought, and careless about every thing going forward around her. By the blessing of God, we hope this reproach will in time be removed from the females of this country."

The Report concludes by stating, that

"The present number of our Schools will continue to involve our Funds in great expence. We endeavour, on all occasions, to be as economical as we can, and try to excite in the Natives themselves a disposition to help. But hitherto, the principal aid we could get from them has been in the erection of the School-houses, and repairing them when out of order ; for they are in general so exceedingly poor, that for some time, no great assistance can be expected. However, we shall use every means in our power, to excite in them a disposition to defray as much as possible, the expence of their own Schools. We shall doubtless, however, for some time to come, lie heavy on the benevolence of our dear Friends at home."

The annual allowance made from the Mission Fund for the support of these interesting institutions is £1000; and when the statements just given are considered, the Committee are confident that the liberality of the friends of Indian evangelization will enable them to continue the grant. Scarcely can the benevolent mind dwell on a richer subject of satisfaction than on the scenes presented in Ceylon by these numerous schools, the creation too of so short a period of time. As the whole is highly in praise of the excellent men engaged in the work, it is also a proof that the sanction of Almighty God has been given to the pious efforts of his people, by throwing open to them so wide an access to these long-neglected heathens. Now the principles of a pure and elevating religion are sown in the minds of thousands of the rising youth of both sexes in Ceylon ; and hymns of praise to our adorable Lord are sounded by their infant voices amidst those rocks and groves, which, till of late, scarcely reverberated with any other sounds than those which accompany the clamorous and debasing worship of idols and demons.

The last Minutes of the Ceylon District, give an encouraging account of the state and prospects of the Mission in general. The number in Society in the different Mission stations is 326, being an increase of 86 in the course of last year. Two assistant Missionaries have been lately called into the work; one a native, Don Anthoniez; the other a young man of respectable English parents, who had been a considerable time under the care of the Brethren in Colombo. Both had given sufficient proofs of their true conversion to the knowledge and love of Christ, and appear deeply interested in their important calling. They are both skilled in the languages of the country.

The following are Extracts of letters recently received from the different stations.

From Messrs. Fox and Callaway, dated Colombo, 14th April, 1820.

“Our congregations are various, but collectively are encouraging. Our English congregations, except in the fort, are small; but they are attentive, and we have reason to believe, that most who attend are persons in some degree desirous to know and enjoy the power of religion. Our Portuguese congregation in the Pettah gives us much encouragement. It consists of a considerable number of regular and attentive hearers, who understand, and generally feel the power of what they hear.

“The English congregation in the fort is formed chiefly of the military. Most of those who attend are serious persons, and more than half of them are members of our society, who form two classes, containing nearly 50 persons. Our other places of worship are out in the country, in schools or private houses; and in these, excepting in one instance, our public worship is conducted in the Singhalese language. In some of these places the congregations are good; in most encouraging.

“On Easter Monday, we had the children of the various schools assembled at the Mission-house; and Brother Clough preached to them the annual sermon in Singhalese. It was a most gratifying sight, especially on calling to mind the circumstance, that this is a work of yesterday. A considerable number of children had come not less than 12 miles, and seemed to enjoy the scene with feelings as capable of being touched as ours. Fruits of these well-directed efforts appear in a particular manner in two Singhalese and Portuguese classes, raised up in one of the schools. As far as human penetration can reach, a doubt cannot be started as to the reality of the work in their minds; and several give every evidence which can be demanded, that they know Him in whom they have believed.”

From Mr. Clough, dated Colpetty, April, 1820.

“Soon after I came here, I and my colleagues consulted together on the best mode of dividing the labours of the circuit; when it was agreed, that the side of the circuit south of the Fort of Colombo, should be placed under my care, but that our Sunday labours should be arranged according to our usual plan. One great advantage arising from this arrangement is, that it will save much laborious travelling, without the least detriment to our work. Most of you know that our principal schools extend northward and southward of Colombo; and with respect to the situation of the Pettah and Colpetty, they naturally divide themselves into two branches; and as we visit them often, this arrangement will prevent unnecessary travelling.

“According to this plan, the following schools will fall under my immediate inspection, viz. 1. The school of Colpetty, which is near my door; 2. Wellewatta, about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles distant; 3. Kallubowella, distant about $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles; 4. Ratmalaney, distant about $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles; 5. Morotto, about 10 miles; 6. Haratudua, distant about 13 miles. This last school, situated on the south bank of the Pantura river, was transferred from the Caltura circuit, it being very inconveniently situated for regular visitation from that place. Since I came to reside at Colpetty, I have had opportunities of visiting all these schools, more frequently than before. I have gone among our little native classes, which were raised principally by our young friend Cornelius, with some gratification. They have, I am sorry to say, suffered since his removal to Colpetty; but the knowledge which many of them possess in Divine things is most gratifying. The other night I met the adult class at Wellewatta, and I felt at the same time truly thankful to see so much of the power of Divine grace among the natives. I have been a good deal tried with our little cause in Colpetty. Since Cornelius left, it has been subjected to several vicissitudes, which, when I came up here, had nearly extirpated the school. A considerable number of the elder scholars, who also met regularly in class, had left the school entirely. Not that they were lost; but some had gone into service, others had begun trades, and this had greatly thinned the school. Their places not having been filled up, I saw a very serious vacuum: I have done all in my power to raise the little cause. I have gone into the school daily, and am glad to see a little improvement. I have lately received two letters from the Lady of Colonel S——, late Brigadier General in this island, now at Penang, one of which was accompanied by her subscription of 50 sicca rupees; and she speaks in the most pleasing manner of the two lads she took as servants out of our Colpetty school. She being decidedly a pious lady, and both the youths of the same mind, she says they are real treasures to her in that part of the country, where so little of God is known.”

From Mr. Newstead, dated Negombo, April 10th, 1820.

“Our schools have all suffered, more or less, from the dreadful prevalence of the small-pox; and two of them, I regret to say, were obliged to be discontinued for a season on that account. One of them is re-opened, but the other continues under its melancholy circumstances, for no one will come near them for fear of the contagion, as the sickness is all around it; and we have had the misfortune to lose the head master by that fatal disease. This is the man whose public baptism is recorded in the Negombo letter, April 1818. Of his final salvation I hope very fervently, though when I heard of his illness I was told he was carried to a dewalla, and that offerings were made for his recovery; I hastened to see him, and ascertain the truth, which he assured me, with death fully before him, was as follows: that he was taken there by ignorant and heathen relatives in a delirium, in which he continued a long time. When he recovered, and found where he was, he insisted on being brought back, which was complied with, and he declared to me that his only hope and reliance was on Jesus Christ the Saviour of the world. He suffered dreadfully from the disorder, to which he was a complete martyr, and died two days after I had conversed and prayed with him. His last words were, Magey Dewiyanzwahanse langata dan mama yanawaya. 'Now I am going to my God.' My young colleague, I am happy to say, continues to grow, I hope, both in knowledge and grace; and to secure my best regards by a deportment every way worthy of his holy vocation; embracing every opportunity either of acquiring or communicating instruction, with a zeal which will, I trust, make him instrumental of much good. Our assistant Brother, and his wife, are also comfortably situated; and, I hope, will be very useful, conducting their little household in the fear of God.

"I am happy to add, that the chapel is now just finished, and is both a credit to the workmen who have built it, and an ornament to the town. It is gratifying to observe, by the way, that Sir Edward Barnes, our Lieutenant Governor, and Sir Hardinge Giffard, our Chief Justice, together with Mr. Justice Bryne, visited the chapel as they lately passed through Negombo, and expressed their high satisfaction at the erection of such a building in this place, and at its handsome appearance. The latter gentleman, with whom we were invited to dine, came up to the bungalow, and took some refreshment. After inspecting our school, where I had appointed to meet them, they declared themselves surprised and delighted with the proficiency which the boys had made in the different departments of education.

"Our little Missionary prayer-meetings have continued to be a source of real enjoyment to us, and I doubt not will be also of lasting benefit. We have been greatly assisted in them since my return from Conference, by the pious soldiers who are occasionally here, and who, with about 60 others, are marched to service every Sabbath. Their officers also all attend. At our last sacrament opportunity, our number was increased to 23, including the Commandant, and six of the pious soldiers. Their short residence here has enlarged our sphere of exertion, and we hope not without success. Most of the serious men are now gone, but several more fill up their places, who begin to inquire the way to heaven. At the last renewal of the quarterly tickets, our numbers were (including the seven non-residents,) 50, and 15 on trial,—for which the Lord be praised! They meet in general very regularly, and encourage our exertions by a deportment becoming the gospel."

From Mr. McKenny, dated Caltura, April 16th, 1820.

“The school department has engaged much of my attention, and this I have found the more necessary, as it has suffered by Brother Fox’s unavoidable absence. However, I have no doubt but that I shall be able to bring them into proper order, by devoting to them all the time and care that I have in my power. I have greatly to lament the want of books, but hope in some time to be better provided than at present; as, independent of those which our Mission can supply, J. Deane, Esq. Secretary to the Colombo Auxiliary Bible Society, has kindly promised to afford me all the aid in his power in this respect. Last week this gentleman was here in his capacity as Collector; and, during his stay, was pleased to evidence a decided wish to assist me, and promote the interest of the Mission. For this I feel very thankful.

“On my first coming to this place, after my appointment, I felt most sensibly the necessity of our endeavouring to get a place of worship; and yet I knew not how to think of any thing like a regular chapel, because of the expense such a building would involve. However, I submitted the subject to Brothers Lynch, Fox, and Clough; and, after considering all things with much care, we came to the conclusion, that the best plan would be to build a place that would not rise above the denomination of a school of the best kind; but at the same time, such as would well answer for Christian worship, until we are able to build in a more permanent manner.

“I hope very soon to have a regular plan of the circuit arranged. However, before this is done, it is necessary that I should have a tolerable knowledge of the different places where we have schools, so as to fix upon those as regular preaching places, where we can procure the best congregations. This, perhaps, I should have been able to accomplish before this time, but for the Singhalese new year, and the indisposition of Brother Anthoniez, who has been confined for these eight days past with what is called here the water-pox. However, the complaint, though troublesome, is not at all dangerous; and, as he is now nearly recovered, and the new year of the Singhalese over, I hope in a few days to get regularly to work, so as to organize my proposed plan.”

From Messrs. George Erskine and Samuel Allen, dated Point de Galle, April 4th, 1820.

“Our congregations, both in English and Portuguese, are pretty large; and from their apparent attention to the Divine word preached, we venture to say promising. Our class is not large, but earnestness of soul prevails among them. Brother Allen is now at Amlamgodde, spending a few weeks there, knowing that we are debtors to the villages of Amlamgodde, as well as to Galle.

“Our schools are regularly and profitably visited; and while we thus move forward in the path of duty, it is in dependence on infinite goodness and mercy, 'looking unto Jesus,' whose grace is sufficient for Missionaries! and whose power is made perfect in our weakness."

From Mr. A. Hume, dated Matura, April 5, 1820.

"I arrived at Matura on the 1st of March, and began my labours by putting my dwelling in order. After my arrival, I took the earliest opportunity of waiting upon the Collector, Provincial Judge, and Commandant, and also upon other respectable inhabitants, by all of whom I was very politely received.

"After these introductory visits, it next became necessary to ascertain the nature and extent of my work, and to adopt those plans which appeared most adapted for promoting the object of my coming to this place. For this purpose, it was expedient to visit, as soon as possible, every place where we had any establishment. From this tour, which employed the greater part of my first fortnight, I found it would be necessary to make some alterations in our school bungaloes, most of them being of ola construction, which, though cheap, frequently require renewal. Several of them were so far gone with age, as to be incapable of properly sheltering the children from the slightest shower. To have these repaired in a permanent manner, (viz. with mud walls, hard floors, new roofs, and a few seats to each,) and at as little expence to the Mission as possible, I proposed to interest the parents of the children, and the school-masters; in the work. In this I have in a measure succeeded. The second Doundra school, the Kadawidea school, and Madhea boy's school, are now done in this way with a very trifling allowance; and others will shortly follow the example without any expence to us.

"From repeated and urgent petitions, and the importance of the place, as well as the probability of its being occupied as a Missionary station, I have been induced to open two new schools in the neighbourhood of Belligam. The school bungaloes have been built by the unaided efforts of the children's parents, and are by far the best on this station, except the Matura school, to which they are equal. The old school at Belligam is about to be modelled after the same manner. At this place there is an interesting girl's school, under the care of the master's wife.

"On Sabbath mornings, I have English service in the Dutch church, with a congregation of between 20 and 30. On the Sabbath evenings, I have Portuguese service in the viranda of our house. Here we have a congregation of between 50 and 60. On Easter-day, I think there were almost 100 in the evening. I cannot yet speak to them so fluently as I could in my own language, but a little more practice will render it easier. The assistance with which I am favoured, enables me to supply with regular Sabbath preaching the whole of the schools on this station. At Doundra, two schools meet for service every Sabbath. At Neupe, four schools meet for the same purpose, and at Madhea, three; at Belligam, all the four schools there can now meet for preaching. At our old school in Belligam, I preached on the Sabbath before Easter, and was much pleased with the attention of about 30 adults who were present : unlike the common practice of some of their countrymen, they waited till I had done.

“ From former communications you are aware, that there is a class of young men here. The number is small ; but it is a beginning, and I think they have real piety among them. I feel it pleasant to meet them, although I cannot get them to communicate with me so freely as Europeans would do. There is also a small class of Cinghalese women which meet regularly every Tuesday. I think them serious ; and two of them in particular converse with more openness than is generally the case with the natives.”

From Mr. R. Carver, dated Trincomalee, March 31, 1820.

“ The congregations during the quarter have been rather better ; and we hope good has been done among them : a serious attention is paid to the word of life when preached, and our prayer is, that the Sun of Righteousness may arise upon us with healing in his wings. Some of the members of our class have been confined by sickness, but the rest have not forgotten to assemble themselves together, and they have frequently received tokens for good from the hands of Him who giveth liberally, and upbraideth not.

“ Since I had the pleasure of seeing my Brethren at the late meeting, my mind has been much encouraged ; and fresh confidence will, I hope, excite me to greater exertions in my work. I was especially gratified by the appearance of those schools which I had an opportunity of seeing in Columbo. I have ever been an advocate for the instruction of the rising generation, and its importance appears greater as I see its beneficial effects. If any thing can afford pleasure to a benevolent mind, surely it is the sight of native children and youth, rising to manhood, assembled around the throne of grace, lifting up their voices to God in praise and prayer.

“ Our school superintendant, Mr. Hunter, has gone on as usual regularly among the natives, reading and expounding the Scriptures, declaring to them that Christ has power on earth to forgive sin. And this we purpose to do more than ever, for it is our chief delight to preach Christ, and him crucified.”

From Mr. T. Osborne, dated Batticaloa, March 29, 1820.

“ I have not found the people so favourably disposed to my coming among them as I at first anticipated ; nor have I been able to collect any great number together. The reason they assigned was, that they must attend their fields and their cattle. They altogether, at first, objected to send their children to school, saying they must work for their living, and they did not know that it would be any advantage for poor children to learn to read and write. However, after several visits and conversations, four villages have consented to build themselves school-rooms, and to send their children.

“ The school which was held in the viranda of the government church, notwithstanding all possible attention, dwindled away to the small number of 10 boys, and those by no means constant in their attendance. I have lately made particular inquiry into the cause of this, and find it to be, that the people will not send their children to a place where the dead are buried ; but they said, if I would establish a school, and build a place for public worship, they would not only send their children, but attend themselves. Thinking this exceedingly probable, and being convinced that neither the school nor native preaching would ever produce much good in the government church, I commenced the erection of a place on a very eligible spot, just in the centre of the island, having obtained a lease of it for ten years, at the rent of one fanam per annum. I had no sooner commenced this work, than the people came forward, and requested me to allow their children to come to school, and assured me of their constant attendance at Divine service. To confirm this, many of them have sent wood for the building ; so that I shall have little more than workmen's wages to pay. The place when finished, will be very neat and commodious. It will be an open bungalow, with a wall round it, about three feet high. I proposed a partition for the purpose of a school for the girls ; but upon mentioning this, I was led into a very long and warm controversy. Such an innovation upon the custom of their forefathers was as unexpected to them as ridiculous ; and could not possibly be encouraged. They begged I would not request them to send their daughters to school or to church : any thing else I requested they would do, but this they could not. I begged them to consider of it before they determined. They have done so, and I find many of them are inclined to send their girls ; and I think it likely that upwards of 20 may now be formed into a school. A respectable Portuguese woman, who can read and sew well, has engaged to take charge of them, and a little place will be immediately erected near her house.

“ During the last quarter, we have formed two societies, which I trust will be productive of much good in Batticaloa. The one is a Bible Society, and the other a Benevolent Society.

“ My little class is doing well. The two native young men I mentioned in my last, go on charmingly ; and I believe there is a deep work of grace in both of them. I have my eye on several more, who I hope will soon be ripe for usefulness. I am sorry to find I am likely to lose my English congregation, as the English troops are under orders to remove ; and a detachment of Caffres are just arrived, who, it is reported, are to be stationed here. They all speak Portuguese ;—therefore, if they are marched to church, I must read the service and preach in Portuguese in the morning, and in English in the evening.

“ I have laboured the last quarter to the very extent of my strength, and sometimes beyond it, so that I have been compelled to take more than ordinary rest. I have necessarily been much exposed to sun and rain, and have walked through jungles, surrounded by elephants and wild buffaloes ; still I never felt more disposed to give myself entirely to the cause of God among the heathen, neither desiring or anticipating rest till I end my life and labour altogether.”

Missionaries came to the island; then they fancied danger, and were stirred up; their efforts have been great, and their tyranny excessive, to keep their people from our places of worship; especially about Negombo. But their zeal has carried them too far, and the people have gained a measure of light. I know little of Roman Catholicism in other countries; but the majority of the Catholics of this country know nothing more than to cross themselves, repeat Pater Noster and Ave Maria. Low as the native Reformed are, the former will bear no comparison with them.

“I am thankful that my health is good, and that I have for a long time been able to labour 16 or 18 hours out of the 24. The few accounts we have received this year concerning the work of God in different parts of the world have been highly encouraging to my mind, and have called forth my grateful praises to Him who doth all things well. The brig, in which I took a passage to the Isle of France 15 months ago, has never been heard of since she sailed. This was a Divine interposition. It was in secret prayer that I was admonished to stop; and it was only a few hours before the vessel sailed that my luggage was brought on shore. I have since that time had a very providential preservation in a voyage, but I remember with tranquillity that it is written, “The hairs of your head are all numbered.”

NEW SOUTH WALES.—Mr. Leigh, the Missionary first sent out by the Society to this Colony, having recently returned to England for the recovery of his health, and to propose to the Committee an extension of our Missions in that part of the world, we are enabled to give a larger detail of the state of this Mission than in the last Report. It is the happiness of the Colony of New South Wales, to have not less than six clergymen, whose efforts to benefit the inhabitants are unremitting and successful. The number, however, is too small to reach the necessity of the case; and so many settlers being scattered in the interior, where the population is greatly increasing, a wide field is opened for the exertions of Missionaries who will itinerate through the villages and settlements, catechising the children, and preaching to the adults. Mr. Leigh, on his arrival in 1815, was very kindly received and encouraged by his Excellency the Governor and the Clergy, and immediately entered upon his labours; making Sydney his head station, and regularly visiting those places in the interior where he met with encouragement from the settlers. In a statement laid before the Committee, he observes,

“For nearly four years I was enabled to prosecute the duties of my Mission without leaving vacant one appointment; nevertheless, the Mission being new, I had my way to make; and many were my difficulties, such as long rides, and but indifferent lodgings, having to lie on boards, or on the ground, with a top-coat for my covering, and saddle-bags for my pillow; but a sense of duty compelled me to persevere; and, blessed be God, I have seen happy effects, for where at first I had such accommodations, congregations are now raised up. Six good chapels have been erected, and many converted to God, who are become a new people. Although I have suffered in health, I have rejoiced in spirit, in hearing the name of my Saviour adored in a strange land.

“The number in Society at the time I left was 83; and I hope I can say, they are sincere in their profession. Our congregations are various with respect to number; at Sydney, our first service is at nine o'clock on Sabbath morning; the number that assemble is between thirty and fifty. After the morning service the school commences, with from fifty to a hundred children: this Sunday-school affords a pleasing prospect. The second service is at seven o'clock in the evening, when there are from two to three hundred attentive hearers. There is preaching on Monday evening, prayer-meeting on Tuesday evening, preaching on Wednesday evening, lecture at the church by the Rev. W. Cowper, on Thursday evening. We have class-meeting on Friday evening, and prayer-meetings on Saturday evening and Sunday morning.

“Our congregation at Paramatta is encouraging. In this place we want a good chapel. The congregations in the interior are as numerous as we can expect; but I am in hopes of much more good being done when there are more Missionaries in the Colony, who will preach from house to house, and who will not think it too much to deliver a sermon, and pray with a single family. When this is the case, I shall rejoice in hope of much prosperity attending the labours of our Missionaries in every part of the extensive settlements in New South Wales.

“Several places in the Colony will be, in six months hence, furnished with good chapels, the dimensions of which are as follow; viz. one in Sydney, in which we have had Divine service for some time, measures 21 feet by 30 feet. This Chapel is in Princes-street; is built of good stone, and well finished. The second in Sydney is erecting in Macquarie-street, and is to be called Macquarie-street Chapel; it is 50 feet by 30, stone-work, and will be well executed. The expense of this place will, I hope, be defrayed by public subscriptions, towards which, one gentleman has given us £40 sterling, and a number of other respectable gentlemen have made liberal subscriptions.

“Our chapel at Windsor is 32 feet by 16; is built with good brick, and well finished. The expense of this place is to be defrayed by public subscriptions, towards which, several gentlemen in that neighbourhood have contributed liberally. The entire expense will, I hope, be discharged by the good and well-disposed people of the Colony. Windsor is 35 miles from Sydney, and is surrounded by many large settlements. I have some time since proposed to you this place to be the head of a Circuit; much good would attend such a plan.

The latest account from Ceylon, is a very encouraging letter from Mr. Fox, dated July 28, 1820, of which the following is an extract:

“ Since our last communications, the Colony has greatly improved ; and the work of God in this Island has progressively advanced, and has attained a degree of solid prosperity which I scarcely expected to see. Indeed, it is to me a subject of great thankfulness, that I am able to say, that we have peace without, and peace and prosperity within our borders. We still have, and probably ever shall have, difficulties to struggle with ; we anticipate them without desponding, and encounter them with that certainty of success which has hitherto been the reward of our well-founded confidence. The Lieutenant-Governor on several occasions has treated us in the most condescending manner. An application was made to him for liberty to cut wood in the Caltura District for a School and place of worship, which he promptly granted, free of duty. Of the prosperity of every station, without one exception, I have numerous testimonies from the Brethren, who will doubtless state to you the interesting particulars.

“ We had formerly to lament that a few of the Brethren, under temptation, did not think themselves in their place in Ceylon ; but I am thankful to say, I believe there is no vestige of that feeling left. Our work has in some degree assumed a new form : formerly we went about seeking uncertain congregations ; now we have regular circuits, and regular congregations, who, from our printed plan, know whom to expect on the Sabbath ; and by information delivered to the members from every part of the circuit, who meet at the Mission-house on a Saturday, they are prepared to receive the persons appointed to meet them on the week days. You will doubtless suppose, that, in our present state, the spread of light has been the most visible effect of our labours ; and that conversions to God, in the eminent sense of the word, have been much more limited. Without hyperbole, thousands have been benefited by our labours ; their feet never cross the threshold of a heathen temple ; and their minds have been so far enlightened, that they despise idols ; thus they are prepared to hear the truth, and not with that stupid indifference which is invariably manifested by their countrymen. It is generally from these persons, prepared by the Lord, that we can record the names of those truly converted to God ; it is from these that local preachers spring up, whose labours are owned of God in turning others from darkness to light, and from the power of satan to God. Our native classes are very animating. Among many of the members there is a depth of experience which, when related, fills our eyes with tears of gratitude, and excites every tender feeling of the heart. How glorious is it to hear a native (a Brother,) on his death-bed say, with the most heavenly animation, ‘ Let eternal praise be to my Saviour, Jesus.’ The time is almost fulfilled, when we shall hear them sing this song in nobler strains at the right hand of the Majesty on high. Among the valuable auxiliaries of our Mission is our amiable Brother, James Sutherland, who for wisdom, piety, and modesty, has few equals of the same age. All the Brethren were so completely satisfied with his abilities, that they felt not the least hesitancy in receiving him among us as a Missionary. He is the son of the late James Sutherland, Esq. Secretary to the Kandyan Provinces. Lately, but few of our own works have issued from the press, as we have been pledged to the Bible Society to finish the second edition of the Singhalese New Testament before their Annual Meeting, which will be held on the first Sunday in August. The presses have been chiefly engaged in this work; and it is with pleasure that I inform you 3500 copies of this work have been printed off. Almost all the type we have is set up in our Quarterly Letters, Miscellanies, Appendix to the School Report, &c. which are ready to be printed off as soon as the presses are at liberty. We are in daily expectation of a fount of Tamul types, which have been lying at Trincomalee for some weeks, but could not come round till the change of the monsoon. Our little foundry continues to keep up our founts of foreign types, and to supply any call for an extra number of peculiar sorts which are needful in different works.

“The brethren, Brother Clough excepted, are well. Brother Clough is much better, and will now, I hope, regain his strength; he a mind less ardent I should say, most certainly. Brother Callaway had a very narrow escape from death by a horse falling upon him. He was very much bruised, but none of his joints were dislocated, or his bones broken. He is now able to resume his labours. I look with peculiar pleasure on our Mission; the most perfect harmony subsists; the brethren are happy; their labours are successful; and almost all, in a greater or lesser degree, have intercourse with the natives in their own languages. We are surrounded by little companies of Christian worshippers totally separated from idolatry. Some difficulties are surmounted which will recur no more; and those which may hereafter arise will probably be of a nature not peculiar to Ceylon. Here we occupy the whole of the unbroken line of the Singhalese coast, (I mean that which is inhabited,) and all our future extension must be into the interior, which work must principally be effected by the natives, and this instrumentality God is raising up for us. I hail it as a very favourable omen that there is no material difference among the Brethren relative to the best means of carrying on the work; and I consider it as more so, since our views are not merely speculative, but such as have been formed from our experience in similar labours. From Madras, we have pleasing accounts. Of the Portuguese translation I can at present say but little: we have yet difficulties in our way as it respects its publication. We are able to go to press with a good translation of the whole sacred book. The heathen have hitherto supinely viewed our operations; but now, as one awaked out of sleep, they find us pressing on all sides, and use every effort to prevent their idols from falling.

“You are aware that for three centuries the Roman Catholics have been in this island; and when Protestant Churches failed, the Protestants generally joined them, not having any other place of Christian worship to attend. The priests were very supine till the Missionaries came to the island; then they fancied danger, and were stirred up; their efforts have been great, and their tyranny excessive, to keep their people from our places of worship; especially about Negombo. But their zeal has carried them too far, and the people have gained a measure of light. I have some time since proposed to you this place to be the head of a Circuit; much good would attend such a plan.

“ Our chapel at Castlereagh, fifty miles from Sydney, is 28 feet by 14 : this is a second place for Divine worship, built by Mr. John Lees, of the same place, and will be given, like the other, to the Mission, free of expense. This Mr. John Lees has been blessed in his deeds. When I first knew him he was very poor, and much afflicted, but of late God has blessed him with health. Religion has made him happy, and heaven has crowned his labours a hundred fold. He is determined to render unto God the things that are God's. He is very useful.

“ The sixth Chapel in the Colony is at Nepean River, and is undertaken by a friend to our Mission at his own expense.—The last mentioned two chapels are built of wood, and well executed.

“ I beg leave to recommend to the notice of the Committee the large settlement, called the Derwent; distance from Sydney about two weeks' sail; a place where the Gospel is much wanted.

“ Three Missionaries are indispensably necessary for New South Wales; without this number the out-settlements, the places which most need, cannot be visited; I hope, therefore, that the Committee will take their case into consideration.”

In a subsequent communication, Mr. Leigh gives further particulars.

“ I recommend to the Committee a division of the large circuit in this Colony into three. The following places may be the residence of the Missionaries: First, Sydney; second, Paramatta; third, Windsor. Many advantages will arise from the adoption of this plan. The Missionary who may reside at Sydney will be able to visit several neighbouring settlements, which are at present destitute. He who may reside at Paramatta, may form a circuit of seventy miles; and, at least, take in eight settlements, several of which have not hitherto heard the Gospel. The Missionary at Windsor will have a sphere of action of thirty miles; and will be able to attend more regularly and frequently to the places where congregations have been raised up; and may also visit several uncultivated parts.

“ In Windsor circuit there are several settlements, in which small chapels will soon be erected. At Richmond, a small but very flourishing settlement, I hope a place of worship has been built since my departure.

“ Wilberforce is a very promising settlement, and the people in general are well disposed towards the gospel. In this place I have frequently been delighted in seeing the people flock to the house of prayer.—The Rev. R. Cartwright performed Divine service on the Lord's-day on some occasions, and myself on others. The union and good understanding which existed between us have often gladdened my heart.

“ From Wilberforce, to the end of what is called the second branch of Hawkesbury River, a distance of 60 miles, there are settlers, many of whom have not heard the gospel since they have been in that part of the Colony, but are very desirous to enjoy the means of grace, and would, I am persuaded, gladly and thankfully receive a Missionary, and support him to the utmost of their ability.

“From Windsor the Gospel will, I hope, be carried to those settlers who live beyond the Blue Mountains, and who have been hitherto without it, and will of course continue in this awful state until a Missionary can be sent to them. I feel the souls of this people upon my heart; therefore pray you to send them help. If they continue in their present state without the Word of Life, and religious instruction, they will soon be on a level with the natives of the Colony!

“In Castlereagh district we have three Chapels, and one Local Preacher. Our good Brother, Mr. John Lees, resides in this place, who has showed us such acts of kindness and liberality, as I did not expect to witness in New South Wales. The first of his offerings was an acre of freehold land, which, for the last five years, he has ploughed with his own team, sowed with his own seed, reaped and prepared the grain for the market, sold the same, and brought the whole of the amount to our Missionary fund. In addition to this act of benevolence, our worthy Brother has built two neat little Chapels; given a horse for the use of the circuit; and has frequently furnished the Missionary's table with a supply of food. If he who gives a cup of cold water to a disciple in the name of a disciple, shall in no wise lose his reward, surely our Brother shall in no wise lose the reward of his great liberality. Since our coming to this Colony, Providence has greatly blessed him in his circumstances; and by these acts of pious gratitude, he acknowledges the hand of his God.”

The number of Missionaries has been increased to three; and when the extent of the present population is considered, with the manner in which they are dispersed through the Colony, and also that an average of not fewer than 2000 convicts are annually cast upon its shores from Great Britain and Ireland, this will appear but a scanty supply; and the destitute state of the settlers, and the moral condition of the unhappy convicts, whose numbers are so greatly increasing, will powerfully engage the sympathy of all good men in behalf of a Mission employed for the benefit of both. The connexion, too, of the Colony of New South Wales with numerous Islands in the South Seas, with which its commercial intercourse is constantly enlarging, gives it a higher interest as a Missionary Station. The extension of the moralizing and saving influence of Christianity among its inhabitants, must ultimately have an important effect upon many populous parts of the earth, where now, all the ignorance and ferocity of savage life reign without control, and which, incipient civilization, where it has commenced, unconnected with Christianity, has not in the least mitigated. How cheering is the prospect in that part of the world, even in its dawn! If now New South Wales is sending forth rays of sacred light upon the long-benighted islands of the Pacific, what results may not be expected from the multiplication of the means of Christian instruction, and the diffusion of the spirit of religion among its inhabitants? Perhaps it is not too much to hope, that by the wonderful dispensations of Providence, this Colony, once literally 'a den of thieves,' may become the Great Britain of the Southern Ocean, and spread Christianity, science, and commerce throughout its numerous and populous Islands.

The number of the inhabitants, both convicts and settlers, in Van Diemen's Land, where but one clergyman is placed, has induced the Committee to appoint a Missionary there. Mr. Carvosso, now in New South Wales, will remove to this station as soon as Mr. Erskine arrives from Ceylon to relieve him.

A fourth Missionary has also been appointed to New South Wales, who is to devote his labours exclusively to attempt the instruction of the aboriginal inhabitants, the lowest certainly in the scale of savages; and whose civilization and moral improvement, are considered by many to be utterly hopeless. Their wretched condition has, however, of late excited considerable interest among many excellent persons in the Colony, who are anxious that the benevolent measures already adopted by his Excellency the Governor should be efficiently followed up.

"In 1814," says a writer in the Sydney Gazette, "An Institution for the children of the aboriginal natives was founded at Paramatta, under the auspices and protection of his Excellency Governor Macquarie, December 10, on which occasion the native tribes were invited into Paramatta by the Governor, and hospitably entertained. Here commenced their dawn of civilization. A committee of the most respectable gentlemen was appointed to superintend the furtherance of this humane object, which, although commenced on a slender scale, has sufficiently evinced that these poor people have a capacity capable of much expansion.

"In 1815, allotments of ground, for the purpose of cultivation, were located to 16 native families, at George's Head, with the advantage of the sea coast, of whom Boongarie was named the chief. This native, now between 40 and 50 years of age, has been ever distinguished for the docility of his manners, his kind and tractable disposition, and his friendly demeanour. A brass medal was given to him by the Governor, which he wears suspended from his neck, naming him 'Chief of the Broken Bay Tribe.' A boat named the Boongarie was presented to them, and thus has the effort been made to reconcile the adults to the manners of an orderly society, to which end every possible encouragement was given. This charitable work was commenced on the 1st of February. Other deserving natives have since received medals to distinguish them for their good conduct; and it is a pleasure to say, that much good has been effected by it.

“ In 1816, an annual general friendly meeting of the aboriginal natives, was established by a proclamation of May 4, to be held on the 28th of December. This meeting has been well attended by most of the tribes in the colony, and much good has, and will attend the institution.

“ If a pious and steady man could be found, who would devote himself to their best interests, and to this end would embrace every suitable opportunity to go out and discourse with them freely on religion and civilization, in the English language, which many of them, visiting our settlements, can well speak and understand, something worthy of the attempt might result; and surely these people have as strong a claim on European charity and missionary exertions as any other natives in all the South Seas? I am truly ashamed for myself and my countrymen, that nothing of this kind has ever been devised, or at least accomplished, though we have now possessed the land of this peaceful and harmless race more than thirty years; but we seem to exult in the enjoyment of their temporals, while we neglect to impart to them any portion of our spirituals, except by the native Institution, which merits our praise, and proves their capability of instruction. Shall we not endeavour to do something more, that they also may have fellowship with us by faith in the common Saviour of mankind?

“ Strangers, Mr. Editor, have been struck with astonishment on their arrival here, that in this enlightened and charitable age, while missions are sent to almost every other part of the habitable world, nothing of this kind is done for the sable tribes of New Holland.

“ Near ten years have I considered and deplored the state and circumstances of these objects of pity; have sounded the matter in the ears of my friends and acquaintance; and have often regretted that my solemn and immediate engagements would not allow me to hold a more frequent and personal intercourse with them: but I wish now to give the subject a wider circulation—I wish to sound it abroad from east to west, from south to north, and to ask, importunately, Is there no man ‘ who can have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way?’ ”

This appeal was not made in vain. The Clergy of the Colony have proposed a plan to the Governor, for the furtherance of the evangelization of these wandering natives, which he has liberally promised to support for two years out of his private purse; and the Rev. Robert Cartwright has offered himself to superintend the measure.

For the promotion of a work in which labourers are so much wanted, and the object is so interesting to humanity and piety, our fourth Missionary will be immediately sent.

Mr. Leigh having been encouraged by the natives, during his visit to New Zealand, to return and reside among them; and a place being pointed out to him so distant from the settlements of the Church Missionary Society, as not in the least to interfere with the important labours of its Missionaries, and also under the protection of the Chief, Shunghee, who lately visited this country; and the attention of the Committee having also been directed to the Friendly Islands, by letters from the Rev. Samuel Marsden, of New South Wales, our Missions in that quarter of the world are about to receive considerable enlargement. Besides the additional Missionaries to New South Wales, two are appointed to New Zealand with Mr. Leigh, and two to the Friendly Islands, where no Mission at present exists. Enterprizes so distant must, of course, be expensive; but the case of these islanders is such as to excite deep commiseration; the opportunity for visiting them appears providential; and, should the Divine blessing crown the work, success will connect itself with consequences the most gratifying to every humane and Christian feeling. The inhabitants of the North Island of New Zealand are computed at not less than a million. They are a fine and intelligent race of savages, anxious for civil improvement, and favourably impressed, through the benevolent exertions of the Rev. Samuel Marsden, and the Church Society, with the Missionary character, and with Christianity. The inhabitants have learned to distinguish between those who truly live and act in the spirit of our religion, and those who only bear the name of Christ, who have occasionally visited their shores, too often to inflict injury, and to provoke a dreadful retaliation. The Missionary character has, indeed, from the exertions and successes of the Missionaries of the Church, and London Missionary Societies, acquired respect and influence in many Islands of the South Sea, not yet the permanent scene of evangelical labours; and this has opened the way to attempt the cultivation of several of them with greater confidence. From this circumstance no great difficulty is anticipated in commencing a Mission in the Friendly Islands, to which Mr. Leigh will direct his attention as soon as the New Zealand Mission has acquired some stability. To the latter the way is fully open; and some of the most powerful Chiefs have promised to place their children under the instruction of the Missionaries. The progress of truth, and the influence which it uniformly exerts upon external manners, may therefore be speedily expected to abolish many of those distressing and cruel practices which are perpetrated by the inhabitants in their Pagan state. The infliction of death upon the wife on the decease of her husband; the slaughter of prisoners taken in war, often to gratify a cannibal appetite; with other customs, by which their habitations are made “habitations of cruelty,” still prevail in the greater part of the Island, though happily checked around the Mission stations. Notwithstanding this ferocity, there are great natural qualities among this people, and even a sense of honour and magnanimity. They are industrious, imitative, and ingenious; and when brought under the influence of the gospel, and with the advantage of the useful arts, will become an important people. These are the probable results which will interest the public as men; but as Christians, the objects are nobler. The truth of God, and the means of salvation, will be placed within the reach of a million of our fellow-men, should the work which has been begun by Missionary Societies be properly supported, and receive the blessing of God; and another people, for ages separated from the human family, and aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, be brought within its pale, and receive its oracles, its God, and its Saviour. AFRICA.

WESTERN AFRICA.—Sierra Leone.—We are happy to state the complete recovery of Mr. Baker, from the same fever which proved fatal to Mr. Gillison, and deprived the Mission there of his promising services. Mr. and Mrs. Huddlestone recently sailed for this station, and have since been followed by Mr. Lane;

(3) Mr. Leigh having visited several parts of the kingdom since his appointment to establish Missions in New Zealand, and the Friendly Islands, his representations have greatly interested many of the friends of Missions in Bristol, Sheffield, Leeds, Manchester, Salford, Redditch, Oldham, Bolton, Birmingham, and other places, who have kindly made considerable presents a considerable quantity of implements of agriculture, hardware, pottery, cloth, &c. for the use of the Mission; which have been, and will continue to be distinctly acknowledged, in the Monthly Missionary Notices.

so that Mr. Baker may be liberated to commence, in conjunction with a colleague to be sent out as soon as possible, a new African Mission on the Banks of the River Gambia.

The following extracts of a recent letter from Mr. Baker show, that the Mission in Sierra Leone continues to repay the labours of the Brethren.

“The Lord has been, and is still, gracious to us: there are, I think, 40, who, in the last twelvemonths, have been brought under a religious concern; and their subsequent conduct has fully proved that they are sincere. There are now not less than 30 who are earnestly desirous of joining us. One thing in the re-captured negroes, which I greatly admire, is, their diligence when awakened: many of them never awake in the night without getting up to pray.

“In Portuguese Town, when we arrived, there were about eighteen in society, and on trial; now, there are about 36 people who meet in different classes.

“I have lately erected a large wattled Meeting-house, (the old one being in a ruinous state,) and I told the people that they must find the materials to build the house, and I would pay for building. One was then appointed a kind of foreman of the business; and every man, both in and out of Society, brought his post, bundle of wattles, and bunch of grass, which we found enough. It reminded me of the offering of the people at the erection of the Tabernacle. The house is large enough to hold all the people; and the women are now busily engaged in mudding it inside. My little desk is up, formed by putting two round sticks in the ground, and nailing a piece of board on the top. The Governor has given me an order for two dozen of benches; and the Judge (the road to whose farm lies close by this town,) is so pleased with the general behaviour of the people, and our having an adult school there, at which the boys of his farm attend, that he has given £5 to assist us; so that here all our wants are supplied, and we have a good substantial house.

“I thank God our cause looks well, and is growing; the Lord seems to have suited my poor talents to the work of leading these simple people to Christ. The growth of many of them in Divine grace has been astonishingly rapid; indeed, many of my re-captured negroes would, I doubt not, astonish you by their attainments in religious knowledge: they are very conscientious.

“At West End, a place opened since we came here, and where about 14 months ago I formed a class, there are now 34, and the greater part of them truly, and savingly brought to God. Very many of them are Christians indeed; and some of my happiest moments are spent in conversing with them. There is another gracious mark in these dear people, which is, the great love they have for the souls of their country men, and many have been brought in by their affectionate entreaties. They beg them ‘to come and meet,’ as they term it: and in this they bear many insults. One poor woman, who was brought to rejoice in God a short time ago, told me a few days since,

‘ Oh, Massa, my country woman flog me too much, because I tell her, O, my country woman, you must leave them bad things, and go and hear God word, or else by and by you go de bad place.’ This enraged the other much, and she commenced a regular attack upon her, but she resisted not. Their affection is very great indeed: I think I may say of some of them as Paul said, they would pluck out their eyes to do me service; and the Leaders tell me, their prayers for me are, for feeling and power, beyond what they can describe.”

The following are the numbers in Society on this Station:—Free Town, 172; Congo Town, 10; Soldier’s Town, 17; Portuguese Town, 28; West End, 34.—Total, 261.

A new Mission to the River Gambia was mentioned above, and to this the Committee were led, from the great population spread along the banks of that river, which extends 800 miles into the country, and the access which it is hoped may thereby be obtained to the interior. This object is rendered the more hopeful by a late project for the establishment of a Colony on that River, by the excellent Governor of the Colony of Sierra Leone. The Committee were anxious to embrace every opportunity to multiply the means of evangelical instruction to the inhabitants of that interesting Continent, which the grossest darkness has so long covered. They wished to co-operate more extensively with other Missionary Societies, in paying that debt of reparation which the nation owes to a people on whom, for so many years, injuries were inflicted. This new African Mission will, therefore, it is earnestly hoped, be encouraged by the sanction and support of the public; and as a new, and yet untried station, they commend it to the special prayers of the friends of Missions, that this part of “Ethiopia may soon stretch out its hands unto God.”

Sir Charles M’Carthy, to whom Western Africa owes so much, in an interview with which he lately honoured the Committee, has afforded us considerable encouragement to expect success in this new undertaking.

SOUTH AFRICA.—The following are our Stations in South Africa:—Cape Town is supplied at present by Mr. Edwards; but a Missionary is to be sent from this country to relieve him, that he may return into the interior. Khamies Berg, Little Namaqualand, is the station of Mr. Shaw and Mr. Kaye. Rede Fontiene, about two days journey from the former, was under the care of Mr. Archbell, but is to be supplied immediately from home, that Mr. Archbell may proceed to Gammag, in Great Namaqualand, on the Orange River. Mr. Edwards is appointed to a new station, still farther to the North. Mr. W. Shaw is with the recently settled colonists at Salem, about 100 miles above Algoa Bay.

The recent letters from South Africa communicate the pleasing intelligence, that liberty had been obtained from the Lieut. Governor to establish a Mission in Cape Town, with reference to the instruction of the numerous negro slaves of the Colony, who have so long been left almost entirely destitute of religious care. This station, which has been for several years retained on our list as vacant, the Committee will now, therefore, have the satisfaction of supplying, with the hope that, under the Divine blessing, many of these poor outcasts may be brought into the fold of Christ.

The Mission among the Little Namacquas continues to prosper. The children of the tribe are instructed in reading; and the adults, generally, duly appreciate the labours of the Brethren, from whom they have received the knowledge of agriculture, and the useful arts, with the richer treasure of the word of truth, the gospel of salvation. Many of them have been made acquainted with that gospel, "not in word only, but in power;" and have given evidence of the truth and extent of the moral change wrought by it in their hearts, by their renunciation of Pagan vices, and a holy and steady conversation.

Jacob Links, Mr. Shaw's assistant, and interpreter to such of the natives as do not understand the Dutch language, has rendered himself very useful by the diligence and zeal with which he has employed himself in instructing his countrymen. The Committee lately received an interesting letter from him, detailing his own conversion. The principal station in Namacqualand continues to be Lilly Fountain; but Reed's Fountain, a second station, which at first presented some difficulties, from the sterility of the land, and the small number of Hottentots collected, is become a station of promise. Mr. Shaw lately heard through his people, of tribes a few weeks journey distant from him, unknown as yet to Europeans; and in the true spirit of a Missionary, set out in quest of them, to make them the offer of salvation. (4) The Governor has kindly granted them liberty to

(4) The result of this excursion is given in the following Extracts of a letter from Mr. Shaw, dated July 3, 1820.

“ March 25. We left brother Archbell and his beloved partner on Lily Fountain; and on the 31st we reached Steinkopff, (generally called Byzondermaid) where we found brother Kitchingman and his family in good health, and were received into their abode with great affection. A goodly number of natives belong to this station; some of whom can work well, and have assisted their teacher in the erection of a large and comfortable dwelling-house. Considerable portions of land have been sown with corn some distance from the settlement, and their gardens near the house appear sufficiently productive. Some have received the word with readiness of mind, and all appear attached to him who proclaims amongst them the glad tidings of salvation. Brother and sister K. have had many trials in this dreary wilderness; yet they seem willing to endure all things for the spread of the gospel. Brother K. having agreed to accompany us to Bethany, we left Steinkopff, April 5th, and on the 15th of the same month, we drank of the streams of the Great Orange River. Brother Schmelen having sent oxen and people to assist us, we arrived at Bethany May 5th.

“ Brother S. has endured innumerable hardships amongst a heathenish people, in a region as dreary as most on the face of the earth. With the strictest propriety he may adopt the language of the great apostle of the gentiles—“ In journeyings often; in perils of waters, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils amongst false brethren; in weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness.” He has been ‘troubled on every side, yet not distressed; perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed.’ Long has he been destitute of many of the necessaries of life; yet when speaking of his trials, I could not but admire and love him. ‘Should I be asked that question, (said he) ‘when I sent you without purse, and scrip, and shoes, lacked ye any thing? I should answer, No; nothing.’ Blessed man! he has meat to eat which the world knoweth not of. His labours have been much blessed in bringing many from gross darkness to the enjoyment of a glorious gospel day; and though some have turned from the ‘holy commandments delivered unto them,’ yet he continues ‘instant in season and out of season;’ burning with holy zeal for the salvation of the surrounding heathen.

“ May 11. Brother S. brother K. and myself, begun a journey to the various Namacqua tribes, who live north-east of Bethany. It being impossible to pass the mountains with waggons, and there being no extend their Mission beyond the boundary of the Colony.— When the debased state of the Hottentot tribes is considered, and the difficulties thrown in the way of their instruction by the Dutch Boors, the enemies of every effort which seems to recognize in an African the claims and character of a human being, the success of Missions in South Africa is a subject of great gratitude, and of future hope. From the Missionary stations in the Northern parts of the Colony, the influence of civilization, and the light of religion, will, if zealously supported, be horses in the land, we joyfully conformed to the universal custom of the country, and mounted our horned cattle. On our journey we preached at the hordes of 'Tsaugarmnap, 'Tsaumap, and Harmanap; declaring the 'faithful saying' wherever we came, 'that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.'

" May 20. We arrived at the village Gammapp, where we were received with great joy. Gammapp is the head chief of the Great Namacquas; and on our arrival, three or four other chiefs were there also, having come on a visit; and are all desirous to obtain missionaries, in order to their being taught the things of God.

" We continued by the village of Gammapp three days; 'and the barbarous people shewed us no little kindness,' whilst we testified that God 'hath made of one blood all nations;' that he 'left not himself without witness;'—that 'God was in Christ, reconciling the world to himself;' that 'Jesus came to be a light to the Gentiles; to seek and save that which was lost,' &c. The greatest possible attention was manifested by those who heard; many voices joined us while singing our hymns of praise; and at the conclusion of our services, some were seen creeping amongst the straggling bushes, where they simply attempted to call upon Him of whom they had been hearing.

" During our stay we had a meeting with the chiefs, when different questions relative to their receiving teachers were proposed. The first question asked was, 'Are you desirous to receive the gospel?' Gammapp, the eldest and the head chief, answered, 'We have gone astray ever since the time of Adam and Eve, and wait every day for the word.' Nannimap, another chief, said, 'Gammapp being the head chief, will have a teacher first, but I shall come to him and will afterwards have one for myself.' 'Tsaumap said, 'I am hasty to have a teacher—I am afraid it will be long before one will come, for my soul is smothering in sin.' Are not these answers sufficient to inspire our Missionary friends with new zeal to assist in sending that gospel, which is so well adapted to bring the feet of the wandering into the way of peace?—that gospel which affords rest to the oppressed, breath to the dying, and life to the dead. May our unwearied benefactors of all ranks continue to 'remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, it is more blessed to give than to receive.' We promised these poor benighted heathens to use our influence with his Excellency extended to tribes yet unvisited and unknown; and, in addition to the influence of the Mission stations of different Societies in the north-east, considerable effect it is hoped may ultimately be produced by that extensive colonization which, under the encouragement of Government, has lately taken place, in spreading the knowledge of Christianity among the barbarous tribes which lie in that direction. This hope is further supported by the

the Governor, to permit Missionaries to cross the boundary of the colony; and we rest assured that you are prepared to afford them your assistance.

“Whilst here, we had likewise an opportunity of seeing and conversing with two Godownse chiefs, whose country, according to their slow movements when travelling, lies about a month’s journey farther to the north. After having spoken with them respecting their country, population, &c. some presents were given them, and they promised to speak of the things which they had heard and seen.

“On the 23d we changed our course, and left the village of Gammapp for Bethany; publishing on our way, that ‘God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son,’ &c. Many expressed their joy at hearing the ‘Great Word’ (as they called it) being published amongst them; and said, as soon as they should hear of a Missionary being on his way towards their country, they would hastily prepare and go and meet him. On our way home we visited the Great Fish River, which is a place of universal resort for the Namacqua tribes in the dry season. This we found to be a most delightful spot, compared with the barren deserts over which we had travelled. After we had suffered much from heat and cold, hunger and thirst, weariness and fatigue, we arrived again at the place of brother Schmelen. Here we found abundant cause for gratitude to God, that he had given us strength according to our day, and that our partners in life had been preserved by him during the time we were absent from them.

“June 2. We left Bethany in order to return to Little Namacqualand; brother Schmelen being about to proceed to Cape Town, agreed to accompany us, on which account we rejoiced greatly, and pursued our way.

“Should any enquire who is brother Schmelen, or who is brother K.? I answer, they have been our fellow-travellers, and fellow-helpers in the Lord.—‘They are the messengers of the churches, and the glory of Christ.’ And may it be known to all, that Missionaries from different societies can now travel together in unity and concord; preaching to the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ, and helping to bear each others burthens.

“On Friday last we reached this place, having been absent exactly fourteen weeks. We found brother Archbell and his little family well, who joined with us in thankfulness for the blessings of an all-wise Providence, in bringing us again to the place where we would be.”

circumstance, that a number of the colonists were members of religious societies at home; and that they might have religious ordinances continued to them in the distant land which they had chosen for their residence, the Committee, at the request of a party of the settlers proceeding to Algoa Bay, appointed Mr. W. Shaw to accompany them as their Minister, that so the spirit of religion might be maintained among them, and that they might be the means of communicating it to the natives of Africa, as they might have intercourse with them.

From a recent letter received from Mr. Wm. Shaw, it appears that an opportunity of bringing the natives in the neighbourhood of the new Settlements under Christian instruction, has already offered itself. This was a leading reason for the appointment; and, in order that this important object may be furthered, another Missionary will be sent, to enable Mr. W. Shaw to pursue those plans for the spread of religion which, under the instructions of the Committee, he has already formed. —Mr. W. Shaw observes:—

“ Before I left the Bay I went on a short visit to Bethelsdorp, distant 10 miles, Mr. Barker the Missionary having very politely requested me to go and see him. One of his people accompanied me to shew me the way, whom I found to be a truly pious man. We had much conversation on the road, which was carried on partly in Dutch, and partly in English. Said the Hottentot, “ I praise God that the good men of England sent the Missionaries to tell Hottentots of Jesus Christ.” I asked, “ But did you never hear the word of God till the Missionaries came? He replied, No. Q. With whom did you live before you came to Bethelsdorp. A. With the Boors. Q. But the Boors have the Bible, did they never read it to you? A. No, the Hottentot work hard for the Boor, but the Boor never tell the Hottentot about the word of God. Q. But does the Boor never read the Bible. A. Yes. In the night after work is done, the Boor sits in his chair and the word of God is before him; he reads it to his vrouw en kinders, (wife and children) but if the Hottentot comes to the door, “ he shuts the book” and says to the Hottentot, “ You have no business here, go away!” On our arrival at Bethelsdorp, I was received very affectionately by Mr. B. After a little conversation we seemed to be of one heart. Mr. B. holds a meeting for prayer and reading the Scriptures every evening. I attended this meeting, and was much delighted by the apparent seriousness and attention of a goodly number of Hottentots who were present; they sung charmingly, and the whole service, which lasted little more than half an hour, was to me very profitable. The church is a new building, large, commodious, and strong; the same may be said of the house in which the Missionary resides; but the houses of the Hottentots present to an English eye very miserable objects; they are all very low, and chiefly composed of reed, without glass for windows.

“ I preached several times to the soldiers and settlers in Algoa Bay. Many of the former had not heard a sermon for a considerable time; but there was an indication of some good being done among these, our too much benighted countrymen.

“ Algoa Bay (now called Port Elizabeth) is likely to become an important place: the land by the beach is quite eligible for the site of a sea-port town, and, accordingly, it is sold in building portions to such as are willing to conform to the building regulations, &c. We have named our place of location, Salem; and I pray, that the peace which the name imports, may be powerfully felt in the heart of every inhabitant; and that every visitor may be a witness of the harmony of the whole village. We are, I believe, the nearest to Algoa Bay of any party, being about 100 miles distant. We are about 16 miles from Graham Town, the residence of the deputy landrost for the district; and about 30 miles distant from Bathurst, the intended capital of the new settlement.

“ The number of settlers who have come to this colony is about 5000 families, and nearly the whole are located between us and the Great Fish River; or say, between Boshman River, and the Great Fish River, which I suppose to be about 60 miles apart; the boundaries of the settlements the other way are the sea, and the country in a line with Graham's Town, say 30 miles inland. On this tract of land there are now residing, if we include the population of Graham's Town, the soldiers stationed at different posts, and the Dutch farmers with the Hottentots, at least 20,000 souls.

“ My calls to preach at Graham's Town, (where there is no minister of any denomination) and among the different parties of settlers, are urgent and the number of invitations is increasing every week. I have not fully matured a plan for my circuit labour, or I would transmit a copy, but I will send one shortly.

“ One part of my work will be attending to two or three Dutch and Hottentot congregations. I shall endeavour to improve myself in the language as much and as rapidly as possible, for I am anxious to impart to these heathens, some knowledge of God, and of the way of salvation.

“ All these considerations combine to shew the importance of this part of the colony as a Missionary station; and I must now add another observation on this subject. This station will be the key to Caffreeland, a land abounding with heathen inhabitants. Certainly the present is not the time for penetrating that country, but I hope the present turbulent spirit of the people will soon subside, and then I should wish to see a Missionary ready to take advantage of the opportunity to enter and proclaim upon their mountains “ the good tidings, of salvation.” The time might soon follow when you would see on your lists, stations among the Tambookies, the Maubookies, and the various tribes of people between us and Delagoa Bay.

“ I hope the Committee will never forget that, with the exception of Latakoo, which is far in the interior, there is not a single Missionary station between the place of my residence, and the northern extremity of the Red Sea, nor any people professedly Christians, with the exception of those of Abyssinia. Here then is a wide field—the whole continent of Africa! If ever the words of the Saviour were applicable to any part of the world, at any time, surely they apply to Eastern Africa, at the present “The harvest is great, but the labourers are few.” How should the Christian pray that the “ Lord of the harvest would send forth labourers into his vineyard.”

“ The field to which I immediately invite the attention of the Committee, and to which, if God spare my life, I hope to have sufficient reason to request the most serious attention, will not, I conceive, whatever other difficulties may exist, be found an expensive one. Should the Committee think proper to send another Missionary here, we will take care to have land ploughed and sown with corn before he arrives, so that he shall have bread to eat for very little expense.”

AMERICA.

WEST INDIES.—Of the Mission to the negroes of our West India Colonies, the accounts of every succeeding year enable the Committee to present their report with feelings of heightened satisfaction, gratitude, and hope.

This field of Missionary labour has been of late, considerably enlarged; and, in the last year, not less than 1935 members, almost exclusively negroes and people of colour, have been added to our Societies; making the total number in Society in all the colonies 23,090, beside the hearers; the adults under preparatory instruction; and the children in schools, or under catechetical instruction, when they are not taught to read.

As the plan on which our Missionaries to these islands proceed, in order to convey the knowledge of Christianity to a class of people so generally ignorant of all religion as the slave population of the West Indies, may not be sufficiently understood by many of our excellent subscribers; and as in the present improving state of opinion, as to the advantages of Missionary labours, in the islands themselves, and among many persons connected with them at home, the most explicit information on our part appears to be called for; a brief sketch of the manner in which our West India Missions are conducted, may here have a proper place.

All the Missionaries are sent out from this country, after having undergone strict examinations as to their character and qualifications. The Committee send out no one who has not been connected with one of our Societies at home, and received by them as a preacher. From them they require a satisfactory recommendation to a meeting of the Ministers in one of our home districts, by whom he must be further recommended to our Annual Conference; or in the interim to the Committee, before whom he is re-examined, and finally appointed. To every Missionary a copy of Instructions is given, some of which are general, and others relate specially to his conduct in the West India Mission; and to obey these instructions, every Missionary solemnly pledges himself before he is sent out, and the continued observance of them is the condition on which he is employed. (5) At most of the Mission stations two or more Missionaries are placed, no solitary station being allowed, if it can be avoided. One of the senior Missionaries is appointed the superintendent of the rest, and his business is to direct their labours, to see that his colleagues obey their instructions, and to report all proceedings regularly to the Committee. The West India Colonies are arranged into districts, each including a number of stations. The Missionaries from the different islands belonging to each district, or from stations in the same island, as in Jamaica, assemble once in the year. One of the senior Missionaries is appointed Chairman of the district, year by year, by the Conference. At this meeting the moral and religious conduct, and the diligence of every Missionary, without exception, are solemnly investigated, and entered on the Minutes, which are transmitted to the Committee. The state of each Mission is also considered at this meeting, and reported in the Minutes, with any suggestions for the extension of the work, which may arise out of the conversations. The instructions of the Committee are read, and enquiry made as to their observance. Alterations in the stations of Missionaries are also at this meeting proposed to the Committee, to whom it belongs, under the direction and appointment of the Conference, to station, remove, or recall them, as the circumstances may appear.

The allowance for the support of every Missionary is fixed by the Committee, as he may be single or married, and according to the number of his family; and should any thing more than this be claimed for extraordinary affliction, or other incidents, the claim is examined at the meeting of his own district, and reported, with the circumstances, to the Committee, before it can be allowed. The allowances being thus regulated, to afford a competent but moderate provision, no Missionary raises any money by collections, or otherwise, for his own benefit. Such of the negroes as have it in their power, in many places voluntarily contribute a small weekly subscription to the support of the Mission, and thus acquire an interest in it which they would not otherwise feel; and collections are statedly made in the large chapels in the towns, to which the whites and free people often contribute liberally; but the whole of these sums, which in the larger societies, as Kingston, (Jamaica,) St. Kitts, Antigua, and a few others, go far to support the Mission, with the exception of passages and outfits; but in the smaller societies, are but trifling in comparison of the expense; are paid into the hands of Stewards regularly appointed, and are accounted for to the Committee in the minutes of every District Meeting. Where nothing is raised on a station, the Mission Fund bears the whole expense; where a part is buted, either by the donations of proprietors, or other generous individuals, the deficiency is paid by the Fund; and where there is a surplus above the regulated expenditure of the station, it is usually required by the repair, the enlargement, or the building of Chapels, or is applied to the assistance of some weaker station.

With respect to the labours of the Missionaries, it will be seen by their Instructions, that the specific object of their Mission is the Christian instruction and conversion of the negroes and people of colour, whose religious destitution has been put beyond all doubt by the official returns to Parliament from all the islands, in answer to the Circular of Earl Bathurst in 1817. To this long neglected class of men, the labours of our Missionaries have therefore been directed; to persons among whom the Pagan superstitions of Africa had been transmitted from father to son, and over whom they exerted as much power, as over those actually imported formerly from that continent. With these, vice in all its disgusting forms of uncleanness, polygamy, drunkenness, and barbaric revellings, equally prevailed; and on a Christian soil, and under Christian masters, the negro remained ignorant of our God and Saviour, of Christian worship, morals, hopes, and consolation. Notwithstanding this there is a teachableness in the negro character; a readiness to fall under the influence of a white person who approaches him with affection, concerns himself about his welfare, and offers him instruction. This circumstance, whilst it renders the reproach that we have not done more for their moral recovery, less capable of palliation, forms the ground of the most enlarged hopes as to the future. Scarcely is there a place where our Missionaries have attempted to establish a Mission, in which, with all the prejudice and opposition of former times, they have not succeeded. Some of the negroes first yielded themselves to instruction; and these being brought under the influence of the grace of God, induced others to attend places of worship specially designed for them, and to converse with men sent out expressly for their benefit, until in some stations religious societies, of great magnitude, of orderly, well instructed, and pious negroes have been raised up.

The order of proceeding is, first, to instruct the adult negroes, who are entirely ignorant, in the elements of religion, by suitable catechisms. This forms an important, but laborious and anxious duty of the Missionary. When serious and religious impressions are made upon their minds, they are formed into classes, which are either met by the Missionary himself, or by some experienced person appointed by him. After suitable instruction and trial, they are baptized, and admitted into society. There the system of religious instruction and advice is pursued by their being met in classes weekly, when they can so attend; and their conduct is affectionately watched over. Every improper act is first re-proved, and if persisted in, is followed by suspension, or expulsion from the society, according to the nature of the crime; a discipline which most of them dread much more than personal punishment; and is, on that account, found a very efficient means of moral controul. (6) Before this discipline, polygamy, with its long train of evils, and other crimes vanish; marriage is introduced, and sobriety, industry, and integrity, have in ten thousand instances, taken the place of sensuality, sloth, and dishonesty.

These are the private labours of our Missionaries. The Sunday services, at which the Chapels are usually crowded by the negroes, commence at sun-rise. At that time the Scriptures are read and explained. In the forenoon the Liturgy is read, and a sermon preached. The afternoon is usually employed in visiting or superintending the meeting of classes; in catechetical exercises, or superintending schools. In the evening there is another public service. These are the usual labours of a Sabbath in the West Indies. On several of the mornings in the week, there is an early service in the Chapels, for those who can attend, in which the Scriptures are expounded, and the children catechised. The week evenings are employed in visiting plantations, and other country places, to which the Brethren have access.

Such are the general principles, and plan of our West India Mission. To those who may object to it, because it recognizes the negro to be an immortal man, and extends to him the common benefits of a common religion, no answer need be given. The number of such persons is now exceeding few; for sentiments much more accordant with the spirit of our Divine and benevolent religion, have diffused themselves in the Colonies, as well as at home; but the above exposition of our system, brief as it is, viewed in connexion with the Instructions to our West India Missionaries, which we have given in an Appendix, will be a sufficient answer to objections, which lie not against the principle, but spring from unfounded apprehensions.

We are perfectly ready to admit that the proprietors, and other respectable persons in the West Indies, have a right to be assured as to the character and objects of all persons who appear there as the instructors of the negroes, or the greatest mischiefs might ensue. The state of society in the Colonies requires the utmost prudence in those who obtain access to the slaves under the sanction of a religious profession. The influence, too, of every Missionary is great; and this is indeed a gratifying circumstance, because it is influence created by kindness and care on one side, and a sense of gratitude on the other. This influence, too, is the great instrument of his usefulness. It is, however, but just that a sufficient pledge should be given to the white inhabitants, that the influence of Missionaries shall be employed only for beneficial purposes. In many instances the Committee have no doubt, that indifference, or hostility to Missions, has arisen from the unfounded opinion that Missionaries were under no controul; and being regarded as a kind of religious adventurers, many who had not the means of knowing their characters, or of observing the effects of their labours, became their enemies. To meet and answer the numerous misrepresentations, and misconceptions which had gone abroad, both at home and in some of the islands, and that the Wesleyan Missions there might more fairly come before the bar of public opinion in the West Indies, the Committee have of late years given them greater publicity. For this purpose the statements respecting that Mission were enlarged in the Annual Reports; a Defence of the Wesleyan Missions was published by one of the General Secretaries; (7) the Instructions of the Committee, which had before been private, were also printed, and distributed to enquirers, and many influential persons in the islands; and, with the same object, extracts from letters of different persons of respectability in the Colonies on the influence of the labours of our Missionaries upon the slave population, were inserted in the Report of last year. The account now given of the manner in which our Missions to the West India Colonies are managed, may go still further to show, that many of the notions which have prevailed on these subjects among proprietors of slaves, are groundless. The character of the Missionaries is the subject of careful investigation; and no one can be continued in that office, whose diligence and conduct are not satisfactory, as an annual report on both is made from his district to the Committee, after due examination; and the Committee feel it due to the excellent men who have been employed in that work to state, that with remarkably few exceptions, they have justified the confidence reposed in them; and that a body of men more zealous, prudent, holy, and successful than those who laid the foundation, and are raising the superstructure of that great and important Mission, have seldom appeared. The Missionaries are not independent of each other, or of the Committee; but are bound to act according to an established system, and know that they can be no longer recognized either at home; or by the societies in the islands, but as they yield obedience to it. The objects of their Mission are all open, and their instructions known to the world. Every thing is thus under controul and regulation; and a provision as ample, perhaps, as human institutions allow, is made to secure the great objects that the principles explained and enjoined in their instructions, shall be in all cases, and at all times acted upon.

(7) A curious instance of the entire unacquaintance of some of our West India opponents with our sentiments, occurs in No. IV. of the Colonial Journal; where in an angry review of the above-mentioned "Defence;" the writer draws up a creed for us, scarcely one article of which we believe: on the contrary, we have distinguished ourselves as a religious body by opposing!

This is sufficiently known where the Missions have long existed; and the Committee are happy to state, that by the means which have been adopted at home by themselves, and in the Colonies by many respectable friends, very different views are now entertained of the character and objects of Missionaries to those which in many places, and among many persons, formerly prevailed. New and unexpected friends to the religious instruction of the slaves have arisen; and the enlargement of the work has called therefore for the appointment of an additional number of labourers. Several applications have been made to the Committee during the year from planters and proprietors of the greatest respectability, to appoint Missionaries expressly for the slaves of their estates, with handsome offers towards their support; whilst plantations in the neighbourhood of old Mission stations, formerly closed against the labours of the Brethren, have in several islands been opened to their visits. Such applications have in every case been promptly attended to, and such persons appointed, whose labours we doubt not, under the Divine blessing, will be attended with most evident and durable advantage in these new scenes of exertion. The Committee know that they are expressing the views and wishes of the friends of the Society, by whose pious and liberal contributions so much has been done for the benefit of the negro race, by placing the word and institutions of Christ within their reach, and bringing them under the moralizing and saving influence of religion, that they will be happy to do all in their power to supply the negroes of every estate to which the proprietor may feel disposed to give their Missionaries access, with the same assistance, and will open a correspondence respecting those details of arrangement on which any explanation may be thought necessary.

Two years ago, in consequence of a request from J. Ross, Esq. of Grenada, an additional Missionary was appointed to that Island, for the instruction of the people on his estates; and the result has been satisfactory to that gentleman. (7) The Com-

(7) We insert the following Extract of a Letter from Mr. Ross, dated Grenada, July 20, 1820:

“Mr. Cheeswright has now begun to teach those of the children of my negroes who are from six to twelve years of age, to read; and has got a class of between twenty and thirty of them, to whom he devotes a forenoon every week; and one boy, a little older, and who can already read a little, gives them lessons daily under the eye of Mrs. Ross. You will be gratified to hear that all these can already, with the greatest propriety and distinctness, repeat the Lord’s Prayer, and go through the whole of Watts’s Catechism, having been almost exclusively taught by her; and they are going on still in their learning. Every morning when they come up to breakfast, they draw up before the gallery of the dwelling-house, go through their prayers and catechism, and receive their lessons in reading before Mrs. Ross; and on the day in which the Missionary comes, they assemble in the chapel for the purpose.

“On two adjoining estates, on one of which are 350, and on the other 300 slaves, I have erected two chapels, sufficiently commodious. They are always well attended; the negroes are attentive, and are certainly improving; and I have every reason to look forward to the best effects from the system we are now pursuing.

“Seven other estates under my direction are also visited once a fortnight by the Missionaries.

“I have it now in my power to answer more decisively some of the questions you formerly put to me, which, from the want of sufficient experience, I was, unable to answer. In the first place, I am now quite convinced, (indeed it is scarcely possible it should be otherwise,) that the more the slaves are instructed in religious truths, the better they will, and do behave. I have full experience of this in several of the slaves on my own estate, who have been admitted into the Methodist Society; and, in some instances, of those on other estates, who have become most exemplary in attending to their duties, who were formerly very indifferent characters. I beg to mention one remarkable fact; it is not of my own knowledge, as I was not present; but I have it from the most undoubted authority. There are in the island of Barbadoes some estates, belonging to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, from the funds of which a small school is maintained in that island. The negroes of these estates have long been instructed in religious duties, and can, most of them, read the New Testament. During the insurrection in that island in the year 1816, they all remained at home, and mittee feel bound to mention the liberal manner in which Mr. Ross has contributed to the support of the Mission, and his exertions in erecting places of worship, in which the negroes might assemble for worship, on his properties. During the last year an additional Missionary has been appointed to that Island, and is about to sail, at the request of B. Hewetson, Esq. who has encouraged the labours of a pious slave from Dominica upon his estates, and wishes the assistance of a Missionary. An additional Missionary was also a few months ago appointed to Dominica, on the application of George Rose, and ——— Laing, Esq. to take the religious charge of the negroes on their estates. Thus the way is gradually opening, by the Providence of God, into the uncultivated negro field; and visitations of light and salvation are, we trust, hastening to all their dwellings. How great the necessity of exertion still is, may be gathered from the fact, that in the Island of Barbadoes, whose slave population is stated at near 100,000 souls, till of late, on not more than two estates has any regular religious instruction been established for the negroes.

kept at their work, not one of them having joined, whilst all those on the surrounding estates were in a state of rebellion. This fact I had from Mr. Storey, a reputable Barbadoes gentleman, who lately spent some months in this island. He was quite pleased to witness what we were doing here for the instruction of the negroes; and several times, when the Missionary came out to preach, accompanied Mrs. Ross and myself to the chapel on the estate. I recommended Mr. Shrewsbury, now at Barbadoes, particularly to his attention; and I think his testimony of what is doing on this island will be of service there.

“The new chapel in St. George’s was opened about two months ago. It is a neat, commodious building; and, you will learn with pleasure, that it is very well attended. Indeed there is now a much more general disposition to receive the Missionaries with favour than formerly; and it cannot be otherwise, when the situation is filled by such men as we have had for some years past in this island.

“I understand that two proprietors of estates are desirous of having a Missionary on the windward part of this Island, and expect to be able to make up the whole of his expenses. I hope they will succeed.

“I received from Mr. Goy a copy of the Report of the Missionary Society for last year. It must give every friend of truth and religion the greatest pleasure to observe the progress that is making in the dissemination of the gospel, and the numbers that are daily adding to the Christian name. The world is under the greatest obligations to your Society, for their zealous efforts in so glorious a cause.”

One of these estates is under the care of an excellent clergyman ; and a school is established for the instruction of the children.

The state of Jamaica, numerous as are the Mission Societies there, may be collected from the following Extract from a Letter of an eminent Clergyman there, addressed to the Committee, dated July, 1820.

“ The circumstances under which the Missionaries of the Wesleyan denomination of Christians are, at present, placed in the Island of Jamaica, demands the gratitude of every person who is interested in the propagation of the gospel, and to whom the salvation of mankind is dear. The mist of error, which so long obscured the western hemisphere, has passed away ; and a new day dawns : ‘ a light to lighten the Gentiles,’ to turn them from darkness unto light, and from the power of satan unto God. Under the protection of a Divine and an inscrutable Providence, your Societies have been instrumental in making known the riches of a Redeemer’s kingdom to thousands of your fellow-creatures ; and ages yet unborn will hallow the names of those guides who first directed the wandering steps of their forefathers in Jamaica, into the paths of peace and blessedness.

“ In this labour of love many of my brethren and fellow-labourers have cheerfully borne a part, and if unanimity of heart and sentiment has not hitherto prevailed to the fullest extent among the various denominations of believers, let us pray for a time when the religion of the world shall become the religion of the Lord and his Christ, and when all the labourers in the same vineyard shall be gathered into the fold of the same Lord.

“ But after all that has been done, much remains to be accomplished. The Island of Jamaica alone, offers to your consideration a population of about three hundred thousand slaves ; a large proportion of whom know nothing of the Lord that bought them. Your Missions, I believe, have hitherto been confined to the parishes of St. Thomas in the East, St. David, Kingston, and St. Catharine, on the south side of the island ; and on the north side, to the parishes of St. James, Trelawny, and St. Thomas in the Vale.

“ There are other parishes, however, of vast extent, and of great population, painfully destitute of the means of grace, and to which your attention has not yet been directed. For instance, St. Elizabeth, whose capital is Black River, contains about 20,000 Negro inhabitants. St. Mary’s may be estimated at a population of 23,000 slaves, and Westmoreland at nearly the same number. In the former of these parishes, the Moravian brethren have been for some time settled, but how far their ministry has proved successful, I can not affirm ; however, I am not without fears that its population continues overwhelmed with gross ignorance and superstition.

“ If you turn your eyes to St. Mary’s, the picture is truly lamentable. Nothing has yet been done in that quarter, and Westmoreland and St. Ann’s, have an equal claim to your bounty. Mark, however, that the way is strewed with difficulties, which nothing but the goodness of your cause, under the Divine blessing, and the prudence and zeal of your Missionaries, can effectually remove.”

The above Extract from the letter of a clergyman, gives the Committee the opportunity and satisfaction of stating, that by the exertions and representations of several excellent and laborious clergymen in the several Islands; a sense of the obligation of Christians to extend the benefits of the gospel to their pagan slaves, and the uninstructed population of the colonies, has been greatly diffused. Many of them have laboured greatly in their respective parishes, and knowing how inadequate the number of the clergy is to the wants of the negroes, they have given their kind and public sanction to the labours of Missionaries. They have treated them in several instances with great personal kindness, and in times of difficulty have been their advisers and friends.

Another circumstance, which cannot fail to have great effect upon the mind of the West Indian public, is the formation of two Societies in the islands of St. Christopher and Nevis, for the support of Missions. The Auxiliary Missionary Society for the island of St. Christopher was formed on the 14th July; his Honour the Commander in Chief in the chair. This meeting was attended, and received the support of the clergy, and the most influential gentlemen of the island. The funds of this Society are to be applied “to aid the Missionary Societies of Great Britain in spreading the light of Christianity to the ends of the earth.”

The second was formed at Nevis on the 3d of August, also under the sanction and support of the authorities of the island, the clergy, and the principal gentry. The title of this Society is “The Auxiliary Missionary Society for the Island of Nevis, to aid in an equal degree the Church and Wesleyan Missionary Society in the kingdom of Great Britain, in spreading the light of Christianity to the ends of the earth.”

Several Missionary Societies have, within a few years, been formed in different islands in the West Indies; but those of St. Christopher and Nevis have a special importance from this public recognition of the principles on which Missionary efforts rest, whilst the beneficial effects of Missions in the colonies themselves, their necessity and efficacy, have received the public attestation of characters of the greatest respectability and influence.

Our first West India District, is the JAMAICA DISTRICT, and comprehends the following stations:—Kingston; Spanish Town; Morant Bay; Grateful Hill; and Montego Bay.

The Minutes state the number of persons in the Societies in that island to be 6540, of which all are coloured and black except 32. The increase of the year has therefore been not less than 1066. So great a number, within the space of one year, rescued from the blindness of their pagan state, and placed under Christian instruction, is a most encouraging consideration, and is equally in proof of the faithful labours of the Brethren there, and of the good effects which have resulted from that more favourable disposition to Missionary labours which has of late appeared among several of the influential inhabitants of the island. The religious state of the Societies in the different Mission stations in Jamaica, is reported in the Minutes of the District Meeting in a very favourable manner.

“In Kingston the cause of God continues to prosper. Our congregations are large and attentive. The Society in general are evidently making progress in the experience and duties of the Christian life, and the happy deaths which have taken place during the last year, encourage us to believe that the pleasure of the Lord is prospering in our hands. The new chapel has been made already a great blessing. Many, chiefly young people, have been added to the Society, and some have experienced the saving benefits of the gospel, who were before entirely without the knowledge or even desire of Divine things. The prevailing mortality, which has swept away so many of the inhabitants, has removed numbers of our members from this land of sickness and death, to the regions of immortality.”

“Spanish Town.—This Society is in a good state. The faithful labours of our dear departed brother Adams, who still lives in the affections of the people, were rendered abundantly successful in this place. At present, thank God, our prospects are such as promise growing prosperity. The same spirit of piety prevails. In our congregations are many respectable persons, and all are deeply attentive.”

“Morant Bay.—The piety and morality of our people are truly gratifying. The experience of numbers possesses all the genuineness of a sound, sober, deep, and scriptural godliness. The acquaintance of the negroes with Divine truth is, in many instances, surprising, though scarcely any of them can read, and the only way they have of obtaining this knowledge is, by hearing it from their ministers. If we are to regard the keeping the commands of God, as the ultimate proof of piety, they truly adorn the doctrine of God our Saviour. The decisive nature of the moral change in these people, appears most conspicuous when it is remembered that the most inveterate habits of adultery, fornication, polygamy and drunkenness once prevailed among them to a deplorable extent, and that now temperance, chastity, uprightness and godliness are conscientiously practised.

“ We have had some cases of irregularity, and we have not spared them, but considering that not fewer than 1236 have been added in less than two years, and that they have so lately been snatched from a state of ignorance and moral degradation scarcely to be conceived we are constrained to say, “ What hath God wrought ? ” ”

“ Grateful Hill.—We have reason to give thanks to God for a gradual increase of members in Society. Our congregations are large and attentive; our people in general seem to be growing in grace; and our leaders live in harmony and Christian love. Thanks be to God which always causeth us to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the savour of his knowledge by us in every place.”

“ Montego Bay.—In this Town we have encouraging prospects before us. The people have evinced hitherto their love of religion by their extraordinary liberality in assisting to carry on the work of God; and their most ardent desire for salvation, by their attention to the means of grace. Belle Mont also, which is a part of this circuit, but which should, if possible, have a Missionary stationed at it, is doing very well under the care and exertions of our most valuable friend Stephen Drew, Esq. who believes that if they had a Missionary constantly among them, they would in a short time have many in Society, and a large congregation.”

THE ANTIGUA DISTRICT, which includes nine islands, presents the aspect of stability and improvement. The state of the Societies, owing to the enforcement of a strict discipline, the establishment of schools, and the appointment of an additional number of Missionaries, has greatly improved, and affords the prospect of a considerable enlargement of the work. The increase of the year in this District, has been near 200, and the whole number in the Societies, 10,423.

The religious state of the islands included in this district, is stated in the District Minutes as follows:

“ Antigua.—In Antigua, the work continues to flourish. The congregations are large and respectable. And while many have finished their Christian course with joy, others have entered upon it. After many deaths, and lopping off many barren branches, there is an increase of 300 and upwards. The people generally seem to forget the things which are behind, and to reach forth unto those which are before, and to press forward to the mark for the prize of their high calling of God in Christ Jesus. Number in Society 3914.

“ Since the state of our Societies in Dominica was last reported, the work has suffered very materially. During the year 1817 Mr. Beacock, after successfully labouring for six months, was removed to his reward; and the Societies were then left to themselves for eighteen months, there being no preacher to supply that island till February 1819. In the same period many of the slaves were removed to other colonies. Of those that remained, such as lived in the country parts of the island, very generally became careless. Most of those who lived in Roseau retained their integrity, and never neglected the assembling of themselves together: a few also in Prince Rupert's and two other places, did the same. These were united together, and with about 100 who have joined us in the course of the past year, amount altogether to 442. Of Roseau Society the best account may be given. The means of grace are all well attended, and a good increase has taken place in the communicants. Of the government and community it may be stated that the former is decisively favourable, and the community very generally so. The number of white persons who attend the chapel in Roseau is sometimes considerable, and also respectable."

"Nevis.—Our number is nearly the same as last year. This has been a year of very general sickness, and our members have been visited with a considerable share of it. A number have exchanged worlds, many of whom, from the character they sustained, and the gracious testimony they bore in their last hours, sufficiently evidenced that the gospel had proved to them, "the power of God unto salvation." The old members have been growing in grace, and true religion has in general been increasing. Number in Society 920.

"St. Christopher's.—The state of our Societies in St. Christopher's is not the same in all the places. In Basseterre we have an increase in number, and also in stability. The Societies in the other places, have suffered by the absence of Brother Chapman, who was called off the island to St. Barts, after the death of Mr. Rayner. We are happy to say our congregations are still large, and increasing attention is given to the word preached. The number of our adult catechumens is upwards of 100, and the number of slave children under instruction upon estates upwards of 200. Number in Society 2361."

"St. Eustatius.—There has been an increase both of whites and blacks. There is a general spirit of enquiry respecting the gospel. Much prejudice is removed, and our congregations are large, and on the increase. Number in Society 202."

"St. Bartholomew.—The members of our Society in general appear to be in an improving state. Our congregation is large, and several have lately been joined to the Society. Number in Society 328."

"St. Martin.—In this colony much good has been done. The congregations are generally numerous and respectable, and no doubt, when a proper place of worship is provided, both will greatly increase. Number in Society 112."

"Anguila.—If the chapel were finished, we should very soon have a considerable congregation. Number in Society 200.

"Tortola.—At Tortola the work of God is going on gradually. There has been an increase in Society notwithstanding the great disadvantages we have laboured under since the dreadful hurricane in September, which destroyed most of our chapels, and unfitted those which stood for religious worship. The inhabitants have been placed, by this awful visitation, in such circumstances as rendered them unable to attend the means of grace. We trust the Society has not only increased in number, but in knowledge and in grace. Number in Society 1844.”

In this place, the Committee, with the liveliest feelings of gratitude, acknowledge the generous manner in which their appeal to the religious public was answered in the case of the calamity referred to in the preceding extract. The sum of £2504 10s. 6d. was liberally contributed to relieve the distresses of the Mission in Tortola and the Virgin Islands, occasioned by the destruction of five of the chapels. These have been rebuilt, and the Mission re-established. For the rebuilding of the chapels at Anguila and St. Martin's, which also were blown down at the same time, assistance has also been given.

THE ST. VINCENT DISTRICT comprehends the stations in six islands. The following are Extracts from the Minutes of that District, as to the state of the Mission in the several stations.

“St. Vincent.—We are happy to say, that our encouragements are great, owing to the increase of respectable friends, and the consequent decrease of prejudice. The restrictive measures lately attempted by our opponents, have led to a spirit of enquiry on the one hand, and of explanation on the other; which have happily terminated in bringing over some of the first gentlemen to a favourable opinion of our Missions.

“Another favourable omen is, the increasing largeness and deep attention of our congregations. The new chapel lately opened at Biabou is by far too small for the congregation; and scarcely a gentleman in that part of the island is without a seat in it: from many of them we have been lately favoured with assurances of their support.

“To the above we add, with a deep sense of our obligations to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, the increase of our members in the course of last year; this (besides making up the deficiencies occasioned by death and other casualties) amounts to 439 members. In occasionally meeting the classes, we have been much pleased with the holy simplicity of the members: and the testimony of those who meet, decisively indicate a growing state of religious experience and stability. In a word, “pure and undefiled religion” is on the increase among us, with its consequent blessings, individual and relative. Number in Society 3133.

“Grenada.—Our Mission here is rising in the esteem of the public, and our prospects of becoming extensively useful are flattening. In the town of St. George, our congregation is large, serious, and deeply attentive. The attention which generally pervades our public assemblies, and the Divine power that accompanies the word preached, evidently prove that God is with us. In the close of the past year, we have been especially favoured with the blessing of God; several individuals who attended the chapel almost from the commencement of the mission without receiving any apparent good, have been deeply impressed, and have now devoted themselves to God. The Society is in an excellent state. Our members are well established in grace, and, as it regards their moral conduct, they shine as lights in the place where Providence has appointed them to dwell. They are even proverbial for the uprightness, integrity, and purity of their lives and conversation. It very seldom occurs that a member is expelled for immorality. The class-meetings, and other means of grace among us, are well attended, and their importance is duly appreciated, as they ever will be, by those who are walking humbly with their God. Although God has recently opened for us a wide and effectual door for the instruction of the negroes, that part of our mission being only in its infancy, we cannot enlarge much upon the success of our labours. The seed has been sown; it has been watered by our prayers and tears; and we trust that it will spring up, and produce a plenteous harvest. There are two considerable impediments to our usefulness amongst the slaves of this island: the first is, the strong prejudices in favour of the Roman Catholic mode of worship; and the second, and the most material is, the little acquaintance the negroes have with the English language. It seems to be essentially necessary to the insuring of success, that one Missionary at least should always be acquainted with the French language.*

“ Upon the whole, whether we consider the decline of prejudice, and the favour shown to the Missionaries by several leading characters in the colony; the piety and steady conduct of our members; or the increase of attentive hearers; we cannot but conclude that there never were more encouraging prospects since the commencement of the Grenada Mission, than we have at the present day. Number in Society 272.”

“ Barbadoes.—This Mission has been recommenced. In the course of the past year, a respectable and commodious chapel has been erected, which is well attended; and has been a means of making our cause more fully known; and also of removing prejudice. His Excellency has been pleased to grant special authority to licence the chapel, and the civil power is always ready to preserve unto us the free and full use of our religious privileges. The contributions to the chapel have been liberal, and many who were not subscribers have expressed their approbation; in short, prejudice has given way, and we indulge the hope of its entire extinction. The Society are abundantly thankful for the recommencement of the mission; they experience the power and efficacy of Divine grace; they have stood firm in the day of trial, and for years have proved themselves to be the genuine disciples of Jesus Christ. As there are two Missionaries appointed to this island, we doubt not but they will grow in grace and be multiplied. Three estates are open to us in the country, and many more, we believe, will be found accessible. With such prospects before us, we feel ourselves encouraged; and in obedience to Divine direction, 'In the morning sow the seed, and in the evening withhold not thy hand,' we go forward sowing the seed of life, and we trust we shall not fail to water the same with our prayers. Surely the 100,000 souls on this island ought to make us solicitous for the spread of Divine truth in a field so wide. Number in Society 39."

* A Missionary who speaks French has been appointed.

"Tobago.—Our mission in this island, allowing for its very recent establishment, may be considered as prosperous. The numbers in Society, during the past year, have been more than doubled; and, what is far more important than an increase in numbers, is, their increase in the knowledge of God. This your Missionary has had the happiness to witness in the generality of the members. 'They adorn the doctrine of God their Saviour in all things.' Among the slaves in the country parts of the island, Societies have not as yet been formed; nor is there an opportunity, under present circumstances, to visit regularly more than two estates. The state of religion among the slaves of this island is extremely low; the moral condition of the native African is little changed from what it was in his primitive savage state, unless it be that he possesses more cunning. This, however, is a circumstance not to be wondered at, when we consider that while the slaves of many other islands have been favoured with Missionary exertions for upwards of twenty years; these have, for the most part, been left as sheep without a shepherd. Number in Society 46."

The following is an Extract of a letter from Mr. Larcum, very recently received. It is dated Sept. 23, 1820, and shows that the favour shown to Missionary efforts by the gentlemen of Tobago still continues.

"His Honour, President Robley, stated at the opening of the House of Assembly, 'that the principal thing he wished to direct their attention to, was, the decreasing state of the Negro population. It was his opinion that the house should take this subject into their most serious consideration, and endeavour to devise some means of arresting in its progress, this great evil. He had thought much on this case, and the result was, that he was fully convinced that nothing would be, or could be effectual, but to allow them the means of moral and religious instruction; this, he said, would make them honest and industrious, and save them from that promiscuous intercourse, which prevents the regular course of propagation.' The house, in return, signified, 'that their own views were consonant with his, and that they would make it a subject of their first consideration.' The house will commence its sittings in October, when we hope to hear of something which may be favourable to the cause of missions.

"Other parts of the field are opened to us, and we only wait till the harvest is thoroughly ripe, before we enter and gather it in. A chapel, in addition to that in town, is already building at the windward part of the island, and we have sufficient reason to believe that the Honourable President Robley himself, will build a chapel and house for a Missionary on his own estates, in another part of the island. There is also another estate, on which are upwards of 400 Negroes, to which we intend to solicit admission, and we doubt not but it will be readily granted."

"Demerara.—It is much to be regretted that there still exist several circumstances which still retard the work of God in this colony. A prejudice which forbids the spread of Divine truth, and refuses the aid of instruction to the destitute and needy, has taken possession of, and reigns in the bosom of many: this, together with some civil restrictions, limits the field of Missionary operation, and checks the more general spread of the cause in which we are engaged. But formidable as the prejudice of this colony is, we rejoice that it has not been competent altogether to check the diffusion of truth. The preaching of that gospel which is the power of God unto salvation, has been attended with His blessing who has said, 'Go and preach the gospel to every creature, and lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.'

"Many have been led to revere the authority of God, to hate sin, and to seek for that redemption which is promised to them that believe in Jesus Christ: and from evidence which to us is satisfactory, we conclude that they are growing in grace; nor can we but hope that they will be kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation. It is with concern we state, that Sunday schools, which in general are effectual auxiliaries to the work of God, cannot be established at this station; but though prohibited for the present, we cannot but indulge a hope that this barrier will in due time be broken down, and a door opened, by which we may obtain access to the tender minds of the rising generation, and implant in them the seeds of sacred truth. Number in Society 1138."

THE BAHAMA DISTRICT includes four stations. The District Minutes thus report the state of the Mission.

"New Providence.—The prospect is favourable, the people in general are serious, pious and uniform in their conduct; many of them, we believe, are savingly converted to God, enjoy a sense of the Divine favour, and a good hope through grace. Several have been called into eternity during the last year, most of whom left an honourable testimony of their hope in God, and prospects of eternal felicity. Some of the black people have been unstable, but have since returned to the Society, who are apparently very earnest for their salvation. During the last few months we have had an increase of black members, who evidence their good desire, by a regular attendance on the means of grace, and a steady walk before the world. Our congregations are generally large and attentive, and we hope many are inclined to receive the truth as it is in Jesus. Number in Society 355.

"Eleuthera.—Since our last district, the Lord has prospered his work at Rock Sound, and Tarpum Bay; a number of whites have joined our Society, and we are happy to say that the black people in this circuit, are in a better state of mind than they have been in for some years; we have added upwards of 40, and nearly as many more remain on trial. Number in Society 310."

"Abaco.—At this place, the number in Society in July last was 12; since that time there has been a gradual increase, so that we have now 32 whites, and 6 blacks.

"The state of religion is promising, and the congregations on the increase; the settlement increases in inhabitants, so that, with the blessing of God, much good may be expected in the ensuing year."

"Harbour Island.—The prospect is improving."

"Turk's Island.—This is a new station, to which a Missionary has been appointed."

The Committee, convinced of the importance of elementary instruction to the children of the Negroes in the West Indies, both as enabling them to read the Holy Scriptures, and preparing them to receive greater advantage from the public ordinances of religion, requested the West India District Meetings to insert in their Minutes an account of the number and condition of the Negro Schools. They are happy to state that the Schools are increasing in number, though these institutions do not meet in every island with equal encouragement. The prejudices which exist will, however, in due time be removed by the evident effects which must by the blessing of God result from such institutions, when carefully conducted on the principles, and under the influence of religion, without which, their beneficial effect would, it is readily granted, be very problematical.

These means of instruction are, in the West Indies, comparatively novel, and, as yet, of partial application; but the Committee are happy to find so many reported in the Minutes of the respective districts, from which the following Extracts will be acceptable.

The Minutes of the ANTIGUA DISTRICT refer to the "Report of the Committee of the Wesleyan Sunday School Institution, Antigua, for the state of the Schools in that Island." The following are Extracts.

"With reference to the Schools of this Institution held in the town of Saint John, your Committee report, that, as the chapel in which the School was at first exclusively held, was found to be at an inconvenient distance from the north-west part of the town, where many proper objects of the Institution reside, a room was hired in that neighbourhood, and a Sunday School opened. This School, at the date of the last Report, consisted of 60 scholars (viz. 15 boys and 45 girls,) 6 teachers, and a superintendant; which the Committee have the pleasure to announce have since increased to 102 scholars (viz. 37 boys and 65 girls,) and 10 teachers under the same superintendant. Of these scholars, about two-thirds generally attend: a proportion, with which, from a view of all circumstances, the Committee have reason to be satisfied.

“ The School which is held at the chapel, now contains 349 scholars (viz. 113 boys and 236 girls,) and 36 teachers.

“ The Committee, in making a few observations which relate generally to all the Schools, will first observe, that they have proved beneficial to several who entered themselves therein as teachers in a careless state of mind, but who soon after felt a growing concern for their own souls, together with pity and an enlargement of heart towards all those who are poor, or exposed to vice. The Schools have been instrumental in awakening such a concern for the poor in general, as was never before known in this island. They led to the formation of two Societies among coloured females (one of them juvenile,) who have, from the abodes of sin, and haunts of vice, drawn many girls, who are now in the Schools, and of whom favourable hopes are entertained; but who otherwise, in all human probability, could not have escaped the torrent of iniquity which has already borne down to wretchedness so many of their unfortunate class.

“ The blessed influence of the Schools on the children, has also been sensibly felt by many of their parents: The mother of one of the girls mentioned that her daughter was a great comfort to her, and, by reading, singing, and talking to her about the things of God, made her heart glad. The Sabbath is now regarded by many of the children, by whom it was formerly violated; several take pleasure in attending the School, and public service.

“ As an instance of the good effects of the School in preventing those illicit connections which are too common among the slave population, your Committee report, that two of the adult scholars, who are slaves, and who have been long in the School, were very lately married.

“ The Committee derive much satisfaction from a review of the transactions of the past year, and in being able to report that on Sunday last tickets of approbation were given to 66 scholars, for regular attendance; to 52 others, for good behaviour; and to 55, for both regular attendance and good behaviour. In fine, they trust that the Almighty will be pleased to bless the endeavours made use of in this Institution, to the good of the scholars, and to the glory of His holy name.”

“ Dominica.—In Roseau, during the interval in which there was no preacher in Dominica, the school declined in some measure, but it was supported by a few teachers, in those hands it has revived during the past year. Many of the children improve in learning; and they generally conduct themselves in a satisfactory manner. Several of them have committed many chapters of the New Testament to memory ; a few of them have learned nearly the whole of St. Matthew's Gospel by heart. It is hoped that some of them are under religious impressions. Their attendance is twice on the Sabbath, and an hour and a half three mornings in the week."

"Nevis.—We have two Schools, one in town, and the other in Gingerland. In the former part of the last year they were both well attended, and in a prosperous state ; but in the latter part, many of the children, and some of the teachers, having experienced a considerable share of the general sickness, were prevented from attending. Having, however, now recovered, the Schools are again revived. We have about 50 children in the town, and about 30 in the country. They are taught to read and sing, and are instructed in the catechism. The town School is also attended every morning from six until seven o'clock. At present the prospects of usefulness are bright."

"St. Christopher.—We are sorry to say that our School in Sandy Point is not in a prosperous state ; the cause, we believe, is the removal of the preacher from that place to St. Bartholomew. But our School in Old Road continues to be very prosperous ; both the teachers and scholars are very regular in their attendance ; and some of the children have made considerable improvement. We have no doubt, but that the School will be a great blessing to the place. At Basseterre we had a flourishing School for the first six months, in which upwards of 100 children were taught to read, and to repeat the catechism, sing hymns, and fear the Lord. Some of the children are now members of the Society. But during the time there were only two preachers, our labours were too extensive to admit of one being always present ; the consequence was, the teachers omitted their duty, and some of the children were neglected. We doubt not, nevertheless, but by the blessing of God, and attention and care on our part, this School will be soon restored to its former prosperity."

"St. Eustatius.—Many of the scholars have the greater part of the four Evangelists by heart. They repeat six verses every Sabbath morning, which the Missionary explains to them."

"St. Bartholomew.—At present there are about 50 scholars ; and we have no doubt but the number will be considerably increased, when they have a preacher regularly stationed among them."

"Tortola.—The Sunday School at Tortola is dissolved, the books having been all destroyed in the hurricane. Previous to this dreadful calamity, the School was in a tolerably good state, for this part of the world. At the beginning of the year it has been organized, and promised well."

The following Schools are reported in the Minutes of the ST. VINCENT'S District.

"St. Vincent.—Our Sunday Schools, which are three in number, (viz. one in King's Town, one in Prince's Town, and one at Layon,) have been rather in a declining state for want of teachers, and the various and increasing labours of the Missionaries rendering it impossible for them properly to attend to them. But we are happy to say, that they are in some degree reviving; chiefly owing to the diligent exertions of the Preachers' wives. The number of children have of late increased, and also their attention to learning. The catechistical instruction of juvenile negroes on the estates, is also on the increase, and affords us a favourable prospect."

"Grenada.—In town we have a Sunday School, which is well conducted, and in a flourishing condition; and there is every probability that it will be rendered of great utility to the rising generation."

"Tobago.—About six months ago, a Sunday School was established in the town of Scarborough, which has hitherto been successful, and promises much good to the rising generation: between 70 and 80 children regularly attend; these are divided into classes, and are superintended by the Missionary, who has also formed a reading class of adult slaves, several of whom are making suitable proficiency in learning to read the Scriptures."

From the BAHAMA District we have the following return:

"New Providence.—There are two Sunday Schools, which, for want of teachers and books, have not been in a very good state. Something has been done of late to revive them; teachers have come forward to assist, and the children attend pretty well; so that at present they are doing better. In the School at the West Chapel there are 43 boys; 60 girls: these are coloured and black. East Chapel 38 boys: 40 girls white. Could proper books be procured, and teachers attend, we have no doubt but good would result.

"Abaco. We have two Schools in this circuit, one white and the other black: the preacher has assisted in the teaching of the blacks. Some of the members feel an interest in this School, and promise to lend their aid in future."

"Harbour Island.—Every possible means have been used to facilitate the object of Sunday Schools, and to make them permanent; but the situation of the inhabitants renders it difficult. We have on this circuit five Schools. Harbour Island: whites, boys 20; girls 19: blacks, 15 boys; girls 14. Cove: whites 20; blacks 15. Bluff: blacks, adults and children, 24."

Such are the cheering prospects which this our oldest Mission, the Mission to the negro slaves in the West India Colonies, continues to present. On the toils of those who commenced the work, and carried it on through great difficulties, through calumnies, and reproaches, and misrepresentations, and, in some instances, through personal sufferings and imprisonment, a Christian public may look back with triumph. The root of the tree of life has struck wide and deep into those lands of darkness and death; and numerous Christian societies, differing in colour from ourselves, but with feelings beating in unison with our own to the name and glories of our adorable Saviour, "both their Lord and ours," sit with grateful joy under its shadow. Their labour is lightened by their inward peace; the sanctities of home and the feelings of kindred have visited the negro hut; the voice of praise is heard in their dwellings; the Sabbath witnesses them with early steps flowing into the houses of prayer, where they have heard, and where they feel, that "the same Lord over all is rich to all that call upon him"; and in instances, not to be numbered till the great day of revelation, has the dying negro, once the child of African superstition, breathed his spirit into the bosom of our common Saviour. The Committee need not use great efforts to interest the public in such a work; it requires no letters of recommendation beside the marked and glorious facts which it has registered in its own story. But when it is stated that it is a work, not only capable of enlargement, but which in its invitations to greater extension, actually outruns the present means which the Committee possess, and that opportunities of extending it to the full supply of religious care to a still larger proportion of the many hundred thousands of slaves, still in their Pagan state, are continually offering themselves, they are confident, that by this statement they open a scene of future hope to the pious mind, which cannot but engage warmer interests, and new efforts in its behalf. Why should we not put away from us the reproach of a long-continued, and criminal neglect of a race of our fellow-men employed in our toils; who look up to us as their masters; call our country their home, though they may never see it; and who have ever repaid the cultivation of zeal and piety by harvests so abundant? Let the means of increasing the institutions and ordinances of religion but be afforded them by the charity of Christians, and in a few years the last dark cloud of Pagan gloom shall roll away from the beautiful islands which compose the Columbian Archipelago, and the knowledge of the gospel diffuse itself through every plantation, and spread peace, security, harmony, and the blessing of God, throughout the whole.

Since the Antigua District Minutes were forwarded to the Committee, the Island of Montserrat has been added to our Mission stations. We had for some time pressing invitations to this Island, where the slave population has been for many years much in need of religious instruction. A small society has been formed, chiefly of serious persons, who had been brought from other Islands, where they were members of our societies. The congregation is large and attentive.

There being no Missionary at Trinidad, at the meeting of the St. Vincent District, owing to the existence of restrictions imposed by the local Government, which had the effect of removing Mr. Whitehouse from the Island, and closing our Chapel, no account of that Mission appears upon the Minutes of that district. It was stated in the last Report, that an application to Government had been made as to those restrictions with success. Mr. Woolley was in consequence removed from Antigua, to take charge of the Trinidad Mission. The Chapel has been reopened, and the work re-commenced. Some time must elapse before the Mission will recover the injury it has sustained from the loss of ordinances ; but Mr. Woolley's last letters are favourable. The Committee would here acknowledge its great obligations to Earl Bathurst, for his liberal and kind attention to their representations on this case. The door is again opened for the instruction of the negroes in this Island ; and from its proximity to Spanish America, the Mission here may give rise to some endeavours to kindle the light of truth on a part of the opposite Continent, when its political state shall become more tranquil. Number in society 241.

Bermuda, from its distance, is not included in any of our West India Districts. The number in society is 82.

Hayti.—We stated in the last Report, that the Society in the republic of Hayti, raised up by the labours of Messrs. Brown and Catts, during the time they were permitted to exercise their ministry there, remained steadfast ; and that the two young men, to whom the care of the society was confided, had given promise of usefulness. The accounts of the year have justified the Committee's expectations respecting these Brethren. They have regularly held religious services, except when interrupted by the persecutions excited against them by one of the Catholic priests ; and have frequently visited the country in the neighbourhood of Port-au-Prince, teaching the people, by many of whom they were received gladly. The Society has endured considerable severities from these persecutions; and several of them were at one time shut up in prison; from which, however, they were released by President Boyer.

The Missionaries, Jones and Harvey, appointed to Cape Henry, we regret to say, had scarcely commenced their labours, when they were both obliged to remove on account of severe sickness. Their state of health not affording any prospect of their being again employed, the Committee were about to send others to that station, when the late political changes there occurred. The appointment will, of course, be delayed until public affairs in that part of the Island shall assume a settled appearance.

NEWFOUNDLAND DISTRICT.—The accounts from this Island are favourable. The attention of the public has lately been turned to the aboriginal inhabitants in the interior; and, should any opening to these long insulated tribes occur, the Brethren are directed to avail themselves of it to attempt their instruction. They have been also directed to make enquiries as to the establishment of a Mission on the opposite coast of Labrador, with which there is an intercourse in the fishing season.

The following Extracts from the District Minutes, give a general view of the state of this Mission at the respective stations.

“St. John's.—The Society in St. John's is in a state of improvement; the members, though few, are growing in grace, and in the knowledge and love of God, and enjoy great peace among themselves. The congregations, particularly on Sunday evenings, are large and respectable. We hope the appointment of a second preacher to this station will be made a peculiar blessing, and that our next year's report will be more gratifying than any we have yet been able to give.

“In St. John's we have a Sunday School of 46 children, who are making considerable improvement. Connected with St. John's, are several out Coves, where, hitherto, there has been no regular preaching, though places of considerable population. These places are intended as the scene of labour for the additional Missionary, and promise to reward him for his exertions.”

“Corbonear.—The Society here has recently much improved; and, considering the local circumstances of many of its members, who are deprived of the means of grace for five or six months in the year, we cannot but rejoice to behold in them so much of the ‘grace of God.’ Our congregations comprize nearly the whole of the Protestant inhabitants of the harbour, so that at those seasons when the people are not out fishing, they are very large. The Sunday School is in a state of improvement; the number of children is 64, and will, no doubt, be soon increased.”

“ Port de Grave.—The hearers of this place are numerous and attentive; and we hope God will soon begin a deep and lasting work among them. The Sunday School is well attended: the number of children 60.”

“ Brigus.—The present state of the work on this station is favourable. The population of the harbour, and the places contiguous, amounts to about 600; and there is no minister of any other denomination; consequently, all the Protestants are our regular hearers. During the last year, several persons have been brought to God under the ministry of Mr. Thomas Hickson.”

“ Black Head, &c.—This is an extensive circuit, and takes in a considerable number of coves; has two good Chapels, and a great number of hearers. The Society is in an improving state. The children in the Sunday School, during summer, between 80 and 90.”

“ Island Cove, Perlican, &c.—In this circuit there has been a remarkable outpouring of the Spirit of God. Since Christmas last, more than 200 have been added to the Society, many of whom, we believe, are truly joined to the Lord. Most of these persons give unequivocal evidence of a Divine change in their tempers, and outward deportment.

“ In this circuit there are three Sunday Schools, containing a great number of children, much in want of books.”

“ Trinity.—Though this is a new station, we have 58 members in Society; most of whom have experienced a saving change.

“ In Trinity great good is likely to result from the attention which has been paid to the instruction of the rising generation. There is a Sunday School well attended, and well conducted.”

“ Bonavista and Catalina.—In consequence of removals and deaths, there has been a decrease of eight; some new members, however, have been added. We are sorry to say, from the want of books, the Sunday School has suffered loss. We doubt not a supply of books, which is expected by Brother Bell, will restore it to its former condition.”

“ Fortune Bay.—In Grand Bank the congregations are good, considering the population; almost all the people attend. In other places which the preacher visits, the congregations are considerable.”

“ Burin.—Our prospects here are truly pleasing; the congregation large; and there is among a great number of our hearers, what may be truly called a spirit of hearing and enquiry. If we contrast the state of Burin three years ago, when Brother Lewis was first appointed to that station, with the character it bears at present, we may well exclaim, ‘what has God wrought!’ On the state of the different harbours in Placentia Bay, all that can be said is, that they are deplorably ignorant. Many of them are perishing for lack of knowledge; and many are yearly brought to embrace the doctrines of the church of Rome, through want of Protestant instruction. They much need the labours of an additional Missionary.”

The number in Society in this Island is 949.

NOVA SCOTIA, and NEW BRUNSWICK.—The report of the state and progress of the work in these Colonies, made to the Committee in the District Minutes, is encouraging. The exertions of the Brethren reach many places, very destitute of religious help: and in their extensive circuits they encounter great difficulties in travelling. The Missionary Society in this district continues in a state of activity; and its annual proceeds are very honourable to the zeal and liberality of the friends of Missions in that quarter. The number in society is 1732.

LOWER CANADA.—The province of Upper Canada having been of late more largely supplied with Missionaries from the American Conference, and Lower Canada offering so many fields of labour, where the case of the people is exceedingly necessitous, the exertions of our Missionaries will be directed to the extension of religion in that province. It has been calculated, that out of 70,000 children, of age to attend schools, not more than 4000 receive any education; and as this state of things has long existed, the great mass of the population are in a state of great ignorance. To this is to be added, that the popery of that province is inveterately opposed to the introduction of all light among the people; and instead of efficient instruction, even in the principles of its own faith, engages the attention only by shows and ceremonies. Many Protestants scattered in this province, are also very destitute of religious assistance, and call especially for the attention of their Protestant Brethren at home. Ministers and religious ordinances there, bear little proportion to the extent of cultivated territory, and the number of the inhabitants.

From IRELAND, the accounts from the eleven Missionaries using the Irish language, who are employed in the neglected parts of that country, are generally favourable. With the activity and zeal of the Missionaries the Committee have every reason to be satisfied, and by their instrumentality the light of the gospel is now diffusing itself in districts where the religious and moral condition of the inhabitants is such as to excite the tenderest sympathies. Many instances of persons receiving great spiritual advantage from this mission have occurred in the course of the year.

The following extracts from the letters of some of the brethren employed on the Irish Missions, will convey an idea of the nature of those labours in which they are engaged.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. Gideon Ouseley, dated Dublin, March 8th, 1820.

“ I am just returned from a tour of about 450 miles through the most distant parts of Ulster, and am well, as is my colleague, Brother Noble, thanks to our God. It was at a venture I left home on the 6th of last month, having been very much indisposed eight or ten days before I set out; however, I resolved to go as far as I could, and the Lord has fully restored me, and enabled me to go forward in his work. I had been on the tour before, during all the snow and storm, through the counties of Wexford, Carlow, and Wicklow, travelling every day, and sometimes climbing over heaps of snow; in one instance only had we to turn back, the snow being deep. Every day some effect seemed to follow our labours. After that, I was ill for a short time, but, through mercy, not heavily.

“ Since I last wrote to the Committee, about the latter end of last harvest, I have travelled upwards of 1520 miles; and nearly 2700 since Conference. We have a very gracious work in several parts of this kingdom, notwithstanding all the obstacles which obtrude themselves. My tour since I wrote to you was for two months through the South, chiefly through the counties of Carlow, Wexford, Tipperary, King’s County, Queen’s County, Cork, Kerry, Limerick, and Waterford. In that course the Lord favoured us with seeing many awakened to a sense of Divine things. Many Romanists also heard, as I preached a good deal in the streets; and I was preserved from injury, although at times they shewed a disposition to annoy us. When I passed through a place called the Hills, some of them came, in very dark nights and stormy weather, a great way to hear; one of them came the two nights I preached there, about five miles each night.

“ When I was in Fernroy, Brother Noble having gone to travel in Brother Reilly’s place on the Youghal mission, while he lay in a desperate fever, I preached in the Court-House in the morning, in the market at about ten o’clock, to a vast concourse of the Papists, who would have handled me roughly, (although many of them heard with pleasure,) had not some of the soldiers there been with me; between two and three I preached to the soldiers, their wives, and others in the Barracks, and at seven again in the preaching-house; and yet, when going to rest, I was but little fatigued.

“ When we visited Skibbereen, the west of the county of Cork, on this tour, we went to the market-place; but the poor savages there set up such a yell, and began so actively to prepare for mischief, that we had to desist. However, our labour was not altogether lost, for it spread the news, and many came to hear at night. From thence we went to Bantry, and along the coast over the mountains, called the Priest’s Leap, &c. a most craggy and difficult way into Killarney and Tralee, in the county of Kerry, and Milltown Circuit: the Lord gave us very gracious seasons the few days we stopped there. Some Romanists came to hear, and among these was a genteel young man, who had been educated for a Priest, but he got into the gulph of Atheism altogether. This young man was, however, by the mercy of God, so struck at the heart, and so deeply convinced of his sin, that he fell down on his knees and face, roared for very disquietude, and at length exclaimed with a loud voice, 'I believe in the supreme God: Oh! I believe in the supreme God! God be merciful to me.'

"The morning we left Tralee, we had preaching about two hours before day, and had a fine congregation at that hour. From thence we rode to the county of Limerick, about 37 English miles, and preached in Newcastle that night; our congregation were chiefly Romanists: they refuse here to be hindered by the Priest, a rare thing. We breakfasted with a gentleman, who had heard, and kindly invited us; he appeared to be under gracious awakenings. He told us of several conversations he had had with his Priest lately. He would not hinder him from reading his bible, as he was a man of learning, &c.

"The Lord is spreading light gradually among these poor benighted people. I trust when their own testament (20,000 copies of which are now printing in this city, to the great grief of some,) shall be distributed among them, they will do them much good. I look for happy results. I augur good things.

"When we returned to Dublin to our families, after eight weeks absence, and to rest a little, Mr. Tobias told me a circumstance which may be very encouraging to Missionaries. 'A soldier who had been at the battle of Waterloo, stood up at the last Quarterly Meeting here, and, among other things, told them that he had heard me preach in a street in Ulster 18 years ago, and though he had been then greatly moved thereby, yet he put it away time after time, when it returned to his mind: but when on the field of battle at Waterloo, and multitudes were falling on every hand, the sermon, or some particular expression of it, came again with great force to his mind, and that then and there he surrendered himself to the Lord; and after all his perverseness and folly, he has found mercy, and walks steadily.' I hope this is, and will be the case with multitudes in this land of darkness and superstition, where a combination of hinderances deter from an immediate and open avowal of the truth which they believe.

"When I was after Christmas last in Wicklow county, where a great revival took place last year, being anxious to see them again, I came to a country place called Anacuna, in which 50 persons had joined the Society, ten of whom were of one name and of one family, I found to my great satisfaction that the good work here continues, and that of the ten not one has drawn back. Here also are two Romanists who have joined us, the one a young lad about 16, who read my little tracts to Thayer, and then his bible, and would not go any more to mass. His father forced him to the Priest, where they were holding confessions; the Priest reviled him, and bid the father tie, and beat him for a villain. The lad replied, if such be your arguments, they never can convert me. He now lives with one of our friends as a servant. The other is a schoolmaster, O'Neil: he also got my tracts, and read them at first indignantly, intending to answer them. He read them a second time, and was convinced: he is a very intelligent man.—These few instances I mention, to shew that light is going forth among us: and after we have laboured and patiently waited, we hope a glorious harvest will yet follow.”

Extract of a Letter from Mr. James Bell, dated Downpatrick, June 8, 1820.

“Tuesday, March 25. I preached in the jail to the prisoners: as numbers of them were Romanists, the Irish in which I spoke produced attention, and they were much affected.—April 7. I preached in a new place westward of Saintfield. We had about 50 hearers. I preached in Irish on Easter Sunday, about 11 o'clock, in Saintfield-street, where four roads cross each other; a vast number of Romanists heard, until the Priest was passing to chapel; then they walked off: but I had a large audience still who heard attentively. At four o'clock I preached about two miles off in a new place, and had about 50 hearers; some were Romanists. I addressed them in Irish. I returned and preached in Saintfield that evening at 7 o'clock: about 60 heard. Monday I preached in Saintfield-market, near the Market-House: about 250 heard attentively. As I could easily distinguish my Romanist friends by their humble bowing at the Redeemer's name, I spoke much in Irish concerning the sufferings and resurrection of our blessed Lord. After preaching three times the day before, and this day in the market, the wheels of life became weary, and I felt much indisposed; but I live for God, and while I move I trust to glorify his name. Monday evening I preached five miles south of Saintfield, at Everage's Bridge: about 40 heard; some were Romanists, who always love the sound of the gospel in Irish. After preaching, I heard a few children repeat their tasks out of the Scripture. The parents feel very much in seeing their children improve, and I frequently tell the aged how the Lord is spreading the gospel by Sunday Schools; and has raised up thousands of children in those religious seminaries to provoke the old to devote themselves to God: thus beginning from the least to the greatest. April 8th, I preached in the market of Downpatrick. A vast number of Romanists attended. I spoke a long time from John xix. 4, 5, the crucifixion of our blessed Saviour. After being in the country parts of the mission, on April 20 I visited Downpatrick jail. Mrs. Gray, a religious lady, went with me to the back prison, where I lectured a vast number of convicts and others who stood outside in a large yard, and I inside of an iron railed window. I spoke a good deal in English and Irish from the Articles of the Creed, and orthodox part of their own Irish catechism. I also left James Small a testament, written in the Irish, which he can read well; and I was much gratified in seeing numbers of the poor prisoners flocking into the yard to hear him read. April 22d, I preached again in the market of Downpatrick; about 100 heard and felt very much; after I concluded I held out some Irish tracts, and explained their contents. Some could read them, and others said they could get them read, so the spiritual bread is cast on the waters.—The sun beat so strongly on my head, that I was ill for a few days after, but the beams of the Sun of Righteousness withheld not his healing virtue. April 23d. I preached at Ropulp, three miles from Downpatrick, and began a Sunday school in an ungodly village, and formed a new class of six serious members, who meet regularly. I visited Ardglass, six miles south of Downpatrick. I thought to have stood in the street, but a strolling player had raised such a bustle, that I thought it better to take the house; I had about thirty hearers, some were Romanists, who heard the Irish attentively: I trust good was done. April 27. I walked eight miles to Saintfield fair; I stood near the church gate, a few yards off the street, and spoke in English and Irish from Luke ii. 10: about 300 heard attentively; numbers of them were Romanists, which I could easily discover by their bowing solemnly at the Saviour's name. April 28th. I preached in a new place, south of Saintfield, at Wm. Robinson's: I had about 50 hearers. I preached westward of Saintfield, the place I visited that day month. Four have lately joined Brother Skelley's society, and three or four more resolve to meet. April 30th, Lord's day. I preached at eleven in the forenoon in Saintfield-street to about 500, in English and Irish; 200, I dare say, were Romanists.—Ungodliness, and every abomination almost, flows here like a torrent, but God is working also. At four o'clock, for the third time, I visited my new place two miles from Saintfield, and hope to have a class shortly formed; about 50 assembled and felt the word. In the evening I preached the third time in Saintfield, having about 40 hearers. Next day, May 1st, I preached in Saintfield market in English and Irish; many felt, and after preaching came forward with kind looks, and outstretched hand, to shake hands with me. That evening at six o'clock, I preached again five miles off, at Everage's Bridge, where most in the village are Romanists: such a day and night I have seldom spent, while the crowds of ungodly sinners were assembling, drumming, drinking, swearing, fighting, and running round a May-pole. However I had about 40 hearers, and none of them came into the house to annoy us. I learn the Priests are striving to hinder their people from hearing me, and dissuading their children from coming to Protestant Sunday schools. May 14th. I preached at eleven o'clock on the Lord's day morning, at Ballinahinch: Protestants and Romanists heard attentively. My respectable friend, Mr. Scott, with whom I have lodged this year, has offered to entertain the Missionary next year. He and his dear family truly fear God. At five o'clock in the evening I preached at the Spa: a few are beginning to meet in class, but having no leader on the spot is a great loss; however, I believe the Lord has awakened and stirred up many to fear and serve him. Monday 15. I preached at Brother Watson's, where our new class meets regularly, at Cumber, consisting of ten members. There is a blessed work of God begun. Tuesday, May 16th. I preached at a new place eastward of Ballinahinch, at Mr. William Bailie's; some Romanists attended. He (Mr. B.) fixed a writing desk by way of a pulpit in his house, and about 50 persons assembled. Speaking in Irish had a very good effect. May 20. I preached in Downpatrick market, having about 100 hearers, many of them were Romanists: I spoke in English and Irish, from Isaiah iv. 6, 7; after preaching I distributed some Irish tracts. May 29. I preached at Everage's Bridge; it was reported I should be attacked in time of preaching, but I was not molested. June 3d. I preached to a large congregation in Downpatrick market; numbers of Romanists heard, and felt much when I told them I should soon be removed."

Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Reilly, dated Youghal, October 17th, 1820.

"With the help of my dear Brother Summerfield, and assisted by good Mr. Hamilton, the minister employed by the Baptist Society, and Mr. Silly, the Independent Missionary, I have lately formed a Missionary Association, nominated a committee, secretaries, and treasurer, and appointed collectors, who are very active. What is very singular, we have at least three regular subscribers who are Roman Catholics. It would also be of the utmost utility to our work, if you could send me a quantity of Irish and English tracts. You have hardly a conception of the eagerness with which the poor Romanists look for them, and the avidity with which they read them, or hear them read. It is of particular advantage to have them when I preach in the streets, for then I may do as much good as if I preached fifty sermons. A great many in this country can read the Irish language. When I preached in the streets I dispersed several of them, and the next morning before breakfast, a person who can read the Irish, and teach it, called on me, to whom I gave almost all I had left. Since I sat down to write this letter, the same person waited on me to know if I had any more of the same description. I regretted I had not. He read in my Irish Testament and Grammar, and he reads and pronounces it remarkably well. He frequently reads the Scriptures, and other religious books or pamphlets, in Irish, to his poor countrymen. He is a Catholic, but a shrewd, intelligent man, who disapproves of the intolerance of the Priests, and seems to pay but little regard to their prohibitions and their threats.—Had I some copies of the New Testament in the Irish character, such as are published by the Bible Society, so that I could disperse them gratuitously, this man would make a very good auxiliary in promoting such an object. I lately preached on two successive sabbath-days in the street, but I was convinced that I could not follow it up, as was my wish, having been ill some days after each time. I first stood in the main street, and preached to a numerous crowd on 'Behold the Lamb of God.' The next sabbath I stood on a large heap of ballast on the quay in the centre of the market place. I sung and prayed in Irish, and explained the Irish verses which I had sung. I gave out my text in English and Irish, and interspersed some Irish through my exhortation. My text the second day was 'His name shall be called Jesus,' &c. There was uncommon attention and delight manifested by many who heard. Not long after two Priests arrived on the ground, and stepping upon the stand I had just left, they enquired who they were that heard preaching, and cautioned them not to hear me any more.—The next sabbath some of my own friends were quite alarmed lest I should attempt going to the street again, as the Priests, it was confidently said, had inflamed the mob so that they were determined to abuse me; but I have not yet given them the trial, not being able to preach out of doors. When in the street, the place where I stood happened to be near the door of a Catholic, who evinced great uneasiness, it was supposed, from my taking a position so near his house.—He has, however, ventured out regularly to our chapel since, and, instead of stealing in behind the door, as is their usual custom, he places himself in the most conspicuous part of the gallery.—They are also among my occasional hearers in the country. The Lord was pleased, in the course of last year, to give two young men to my ministry; they are both influenced by genuine piety, and have no common degree of zeal for God. They are brothers, and speak the Irish language fluently. It is very discouraging to the Irish Missionary to perceive the moral darkness and death which generally prevade this country. To come in actual and daily contact with the vice and superstition of the inhabitants almost withers up his hope, and makes his hands hang down; and were it not for the proofs he sometimes receives, that God's power and love can effect things impossible to men, he would be ready to abandon his design in despair.—It is only relying on the Divine arm, which encourages me to look forward, with thousands engaged in similar designs, to a general renovation in the moral constitution of this country.—I trust that the tokens we have received of the sanction of God are also promises of success to those efforts which aim at the improvement and conversion of a people who now sit in moral and intellectual darkness.”

The sums received from the Home and Foreign Auxiliary Societies &c. from June 24, 1819, to December 31, 1820, are given in the next page.

The Committee have been induced to alter the date of closing the Society's Accounts from June 24th to December 31st. The reason for this alteration is, the advantage of having a common date for both the Parent and Auxiliary Societies, so that the amount of remittances, by the District Treasurers, may correspond with the lists of Contributions published in the Report.

The following list gives the amount of receipts, for twelve months, to June 24th, in the first column; for the succeeding six months, to December 31st, in the second; and for eighteen months, the time embraced by the account now published, in the last column. The half year, from June to December, is always much less productive than the other half year, but it will be seen, that the resources of the Society are in a gradual state of improvement.

Should the amounts, in some cases, be found not to agree with the accounts of the District Treasurers, the reason is, that the balances of such accounts were sent too late to be entered, before the accounts of the Society were closed.

Subscriptions for rebuilding the Chapels, destroyed by the late hurricane in Tortola, &c.....	2085	5	4	429	5	2	2514	10	6

These Receipts, with £400 presented to the Society by a Lady, and for which a short annuity of 5 per cent. is to be paid, and £1469 18s. 6d. legacies, make, to June 24th, the end of the year, the sum of Twenty-three Thousand Seven Hundred and Eleven Pounds, Seven Shillings and Fivepence; and to December 31st, after deducting for Missionary Notices, &c. supplied to the several Auxiliary Societies, the total amount of Thirty-One Thousand Three Hundred and Sixty Pounds Eight Shillings and Fourpence.

These Contributions are exclusive of those made at the different Foreign Stations, by the societies, congregations, and by benevolent individuals; for whose growing co-operation the Committee have much cause of thankfulness.

For this liberal and increased support to the Institution committed to their direction, the Committee offer their most grateful acknowledgements. It has enabled them to enlarge the operation of old Missions, and to commence new ones of great importance and promise; and when the harvest reaped from these efforts is of no less value than the rescue of the souls of men, created in the image of God, and in their passage to a future and eternal retribution, from darkness, vice, and danger, this will be thought a sufficient remuneration for the offerings made to so sacred a cause, and for the labour exerted in collecting them. Of both, the Committee cannot think or speak too highly. Numerous liberal donations to the Society appear on the list, the pious offerings of opulence consecrated to the service of Christ, and the best interests of men; and the amount of our yearly receipt has been in no small proportion swelled by the savings, and ingenious contrivances, of comparative poverty. So widely has the spirit of sympathy for the condition of the Heathen spread; so ardently does the high and ennobling principle of love to God, and to all mankind, and particularly to the most needy and destitute, glow in the breasts of sincere Christians of every rank! The sacrifices of time, and the exertions made by the collectors in every place, deserve our grateful notice. By them intelligence respecting the state of the world, and the joyful tidings of what God is doing in the earth, are widely circulated, by means of the publications which they distribute, and by them the fruits of the impressions thus made on benevolent and pious minds are collected, and poured into the treasury of the Lord. Their continued services the Committee earnestly request. Theirs is "a work of faith, and a labour of love," which they are sure cannot be forgotten by Him whose condescension accepts, and whose hand graciously rewards, whatever is done for his "name's sake." In his blessing they shall be made rich; and to those who are most anxious to convey the blessed gospel to others, it shall come itself with greatest richness of comfort, and power of salvation. The number of collectors the Committee are, however, persuaded, may in many places be increased, if ministers, and other official members of the various Auxiliary and Branch Societies, will show the additional kindness to this great cause of engaging the young, and those who have leisure, to circulate through appointed districts the monthly Notices, the General View of our Missions, and the quarterly Papers. In most places, too, where even much has been done, respectable and benevolent persons reside, who, as yet, know but little of the extensive operations of the Society, many of whom could not, upon perusal of the accounts, but feel a deep interest, especially in our Missions among the negroes in the West Indies, and in West and South Africa, and in the Schools of Ceylon and India. To such persons the various local Committees might address copies of the general Report, an extra number of which will be printed for that purpose, and may be had from the office of the Society. Numerous facts have from time to time come under the notice of the Committee, in proof of a disposition in many persons most willingly to assist in the benevolent objects of the Society, whenever the requisite information has been given them. "In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withhold not thine hand, for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, either this or that."

The enterprizes in which the Committee have recently engaged, under hopes the most promising, and indications which appear to have marked a Providential call, will require every effort in order to prevent the embarrassment of the fund. The means for the support of Missions among all denominations have, however, been so wonderfully provided hitherto, that the Committee cannot but fully rely upon the care of God, for whose glory they have been sincerely undertaken, to provide for their support. That his hand is eminently in the work, none can doubt; and whilst he is marshalling his hosts abroad, and leading them every year to new triumphs over human vice and misery; whilst he is seen raising up the fallen nations, dispelling their darkness, healing their wounds, reconciling them to himself "by the death of his Son," and delivering them from him that hath "the power of death, even the devil;" the interest of the churches, awakened by these acts of diffusive mercy, cannot be abated. It is impossible to fix our attention on these astonishing operations with constancy, without catching a new ardour, and feeling a vast expansion of soul, attempting to equal, but still falling short of the immeasurable designs of Redeeming love and power. In this habit of thinking and feeling, lukewarmness and selfishness can have no place; and it will be sustained by the constant and more perfect developement of those designs, which must now run on to their accomplishment, until the whole world shall be subdued to our God and Saviour. Silently, but swiftly, is the true light penetrating the long accumulated darkness of Africa; secretly is the influence of true religion and European science undermining the vast, the polluted, and, at one time thought, the immovable bulwarks of Indian superstition. They are dis-jointing, and tremble to their fall. A spirit of enquiry is excited in some Mahomedan countries, the first, but joyful omen of the dissipation of the grand imposture; the Pagan slaves of our colonies are hastening yearly in great numbers into the Church of Christ; distant Islands of the Southern Sea have cast away their idols, and others are beckoning the messengers of God to their shores. The circulation of the Scriptures in different tongues is reviving the light, and giving life to many fallen and corrupted churches in different parts of Christendom; whilst extended School establishments in various parts of the world are pre-occupying the minds of many thousands of the children of Pagans with principles opposed to every form of Gentile error, and to every superstitious practice. Such are the views which are now spread before every contemplative mind interested in observing the "signs of His coming," to whom, finally, shall be given, "dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all people, and nations, and languages should serve him; his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed."

For the coming of that kingdom, let us more devoutly and earnestly pray, knowing that every endeavour of ours at home, and even the more important and arduous labours of our Brethren abroad, can only ripen into successful issues by the special blessing of God. In a spirit of humble dependence upon him, let all our engagements, whether of counsel or exertion, be conducted; and for those especially who are bearing "the testimony of Jesus" in foreign lands, let us lift up our hearts, that they may make full proof of their ministry, and in every place make "manifest the savour of the knowledge of Christ," and present the Gentiles an offering to God, "sanctified by the Holy Ghost."

EXTRACTS FROM THE JOURNAL OF MR. COOK.

“LOURMARIN, August 18, 1819. “ We left Avignon yesterday morning; visited the famous fountain of Vancluse, and slept at a little village called Cavillon, and proceeded this morning to Merindol. The reformed religion was introduced into these valleys by the Waldenses; and the inhabitants of this village still retain many of the features of their forefathers; a great respectability and regularity of conduct, and an attachment to the doctrines of the Reformation that no persecutions were able to destroy. Several of the neighbouring villages, and especially the town of Cabrieres, are become altogether Catholic, in consequence of the total extermination of the former inhabitants by fire and sword. Merindol is peopled by the descendants of a few persons, who hid themselves in the mountains when the Baron d’Oppede destroyed the village; hence most of the inhabitants are related to each other. They have a beautiful little temple, and a Sunday school here; and if they could have regular preaching, the ancient spirit might revive among them. Mr. Lourde, the pastor of Lourmarin, visits them one Sunday in three weeks. Mr. Rollin, the pastor of Caen, had spoken to me about one of them of the name of Roman, who, during the absence of the pastor, or when they have none, reads prayers, visits the sick, and is ready for every good work. Mr. Roman having made known his arrival, he came in with some others. His figure is uncommonly patriarchal; he was dressed like one of other days; appeared with great simplicity of speech and manners, and has the joyful serenity of countenance that the picture of Fletcher presents us with. I felt my soul united to him in a moment. I had not seen a man that looked like him since I left England. I thought one of the Barbs, or Pastors of the Waldenses, stood before me. Our conversation turned on England, and her privileges. They have relatives in England, who have emigrated in times of former persecution; and when, in 1815, they feared the renewal of those terrible scenes, they thought of England. An Englishman is sure to be well received by them.

“ We went together to the temple; and some children sung a morning and evening hymn that Mr. Lissignol, of Montpellier, had taught them. They have preaching here twice on a Lord’s-day, when the Pastor visits them: this is extraordinary in France. I learned that Mr. Lissignol began it when he paid them a visit. This is the first indication of the neighbourhood of Mr. Lissignol, and it looks well. After staying three or four hours in that interesting village, we came on to Lourmarin, where we arrived a little before dark. We have seen Mr. Lourde; he has another young minister with him, who is curate at Bossiere, near St. Hypolite and Montpellier. I have had no opportunity to speak as I wished to them yet; I am sure there is something more in Mr. Lourde than in any Protestant minister I have yet seen. We were talking of Mr. Roman, of Merindol, the good man that interested me so much. Mr. Lourde spoke of his unwearied benevolence, and constant cheerfulness; and said he had lately conversed with him with the intention of discovering the source of his benevolence and happiness, and he found they rose from a thorough knowledge and love of the word of God.

“ Aug. 23. In conversation with Mr. L. to-day, he adverted to the ignorance of many of the Protestants inhabiting the Cevennes. Mr. R. said that they had a very strong, and even unconquerable attachment to their religion, although in many places, through the neglect, and in others through the want of Pastors, they had been left absolutely destitute of religious instruction. Mr. L. said that one day one of them called upon Mr. Marrion to solicit charity as a Protestant; that Mr. M. wishing to have some proof of his being one, desired him to repeat the Creed; this he was unable to do: then the Lord's Prayer; this he was equally unable. 'Surely, then,' cried Mr. M. 'you are no Protestant.' 'Je ne suis pas un Protestant, Monsieur?' exclaimed the man. Am I not a Protestant, Sir? 'Je ne ferois haïcher pour ma religion.' I would be chopped in pieces for my religion. Mr. R. observed, it would be a good thing if some of the Methodists would visit them, and that there were materials among them for making excellent Christians.

"THOULOUSE, Sept. 1. We left Nismes the day before yesterday, at six o'clock in the morning, having taken our places for the whole distance to this place. The coach stopped at Montpellier from one o'clock to four; this was all the opportunity I had to see Mr. Lissignol. On my arrival I sought him, but he was not at home; however he returned soon, and having learned that some one had sought him, he came to the Restaurateurs, where we were dining. He said to me, I have but a quarter of an hour to give you, as I have an appointment; but if you will walk with me a little way, it would prolong the time. I embraced the opportunity; and when we had left the Restaurateurs, he told me he had expected me some time, having learned by a letter from Mr. Dobree, that it was my intention to visit him. He told me that a good work had begun in the South of France, and that he had more work to do than his strength would bear: indeed he looks very pale and thin. I said he might have help if it were needful for him: he replied, if I had six Missionaries with me I could find work that would fatigue them completely every night. I told him I did not doubt but our Society would be glad to assist him. He spoke afterwards of the opposition that was made to the truth in many parts, in the tone of a man that was sure of ultimate triumph and victory.

"Mr. Chabrand, of _____, spoke afterwards of Mr. Gashon, who is now pastor at Mazerès, in the department of the Airiege, and had been formerly pastor at St. Hypolite; he said he had preached the gospel for 20 years, and had left at St. Hypolite 200 persons who were born of God under his ministry. He was one of the candidates for the lately-vacant chair of Professor of Theology, at Montauban. Mr. C. was one of the judges on that occasion; and he said that Mr. Gashon displayed in the theses he composed and defended, a depth of learning, and theological science, which amazed all who heard him; and that the other candidate who obtained the nomination, by the casting vote of the President of the Commission, to whom power was given to nominate, and that, as I judge, because his piety was not of that decided character that Mr. Gashon's was, acknowledged his superiority. On speaking of Spain, he observed, that there were many Spanish soldiers at Montauban at the time of the above election, and that a great number of the officers attended regularly at the exercises connected with the election. He showed me part of a Bible they are re-printing here. He has a flourishing Sunday-school, and Lancasterian school, and a Suffragan, or Curate, who is also a pious man. I regret parting with him so soon.

"MONTAUBAN, Sept. 9. We found that Mr. Maziale, one of the pastors who was absent when we passed through the town before, had now returned. The subject of the religious tracts was again introduced; and Mr. Maziale said that many persons condemned those tracts who had never read them; that he had read most of them, and that he thought the church was under great obligations to Mr. Lissignol, for the labour and pains he had taken. We talked afterwards of the general tendency in the minds of the people of the South towards religious enquiry, and the strong religious feeling that was beginning to manifest itself; he said it was every day more apparent, and that in the journey he had just finished, his heart had often been gladdened by it. He had visited the Cevennes, and had found the disposition very general among the Pastors there, as well as the people. An edition of the Bible of Martin is printing here, with the marginal references, in 4to. and one in 12mo. without the references, and which is furnished in detached parts to the Sunday and other schools. Thus the Psalms, with Proverbs and Ecclesiastes, may be purchased for 12 sous, i. e. 6d. of our money.

"THOULOUSE, Sept. 11. Finding that there was nothing to be done yesterday, and learning that Mazerès, the place of Mr. Gashon's residence, was distant only about 10 leagues, I hired a horse yesterday, and set out about 11 o'clock to see him. As I quitted Thoulouse, I could just see the Pyrenees; my road lay directly towards them; the country beyond occupied my reflections, a country of worse than Egyptian darkness. I took shelter from the pain these reflections occasions, in the promises that the Lord will yet comfort all the waste places of Zion. But by what means can the spiritual resurrection be effected: I thought if France was only in the same state as to religious feeling and spiritual benevolence as England, would the Pyrenees or the Alps hinder the introduction of truth and righteousness into the region beyond them? Oh, no! But will France ever be in the same state that England is now in these respects? Why not? She has more in her favour than England had 80 years ago. In the beginning of the glorious work there, England had no neighbour nation operating upon her with an immense apparatus of Bible Societies, Tract Societies, and Missionary Societies, to pour the streams of truth and purity through the land in a thousand directions. The word of God already runs, and is glorified; may it soon run over those mountains, and run on,

“Till the earth is o’erflowed,
And the universe fill’d with the glory of God.”

I found the distance greater than I expected: they were not post leagues, but what they call country leagues, which are from three to four miles each. I arrived at a village called Saverdun, about five in the evening, and found my horse so tired, that I was afraid he would not be able to carry me back if I took him any farther; and as it was only six miles to Mazerres, I resolved to proceed on foot. After having taken some refreshment, I set out. When I had walked about an hour, I met a young man, who, on my asking the right road to Mazerres, enquired whether I was going to see Mr. Gashon, if I was a minister: on my replying in the affirmative, he offered to accompany me: and told me that Mr. Gashon had learned, by a letter from Mr. Chabrand, that I was in the country, and that Mr. G. had hoped he should see me. Finding he could accompany me without any inconvenience, I told him that I should be glad of his company; so we walked on together. On his speaking very warmly in praise of Mr. G. I said to him, you seem to be very much attached to Mr. G.? Oh yes, Sir, he replied. Then I should think you love Jesus Christ too; for, from what I have heard, most of those who love Mr. G. love his Master? To this he replied, by declaring what God had done for his soul. He said that he had long been convinced of sin; but that it was one night returning to Saverdun, after a visit to Mr. G. that the Lord spoke peace to his soul. I examined him very closely on this, and found he had a right scriptural experience. You are then determined to devote your whole body, soul, and spirit to Him who hath loved you, and given himself for you? To this question he answered by informing me he had been a student at Montauban for several years, his friends having intended him for a Physician; but, that since his conversion, he was determined to be a Preacher: that his friends had, after some opposition, and a good deal of regret, yielded to his determination; and he was going to enter upon theology after the vacation.

“With this conversation we reached Mazerres. Mr. G. was out at supper with one of his flock, but returned immediately, and invited me to go and partake with them. I accordingly supped on some figs and bread, with a glass of wine. I was much affected at seeing the man who had ‘pursued the noiseless tenor of his way,’ as a faithful minister of Christ, with so little ostentation, and with so great ultimate success. I found him but little acquainted with the character and history of theology in England.

“I mentioned Mr. de la Fletchere, and quoted one of his expressions; on which he told me he had heard speak of him; that Mr. Durant, pastor at Amanoble, was Pastor at Marseilles when Mr. F. visited France; and that he invited him to preach; that a gentleman who accompanied him interfered, and said, that Mr. F. was travelling for the benefit of his health, and that he absolutely ought not to preach; to which Mr. Durant replied, that he thought a minister of the gospel ought to be always ready to do the work of his Master: that after they separated, Mr. Fletcher returned, and said to Mr. D. I was struck with what you said, Brother, and I think I ought to preach. After his sermon Mr. D. said to Mr. Fletcher, Are you not a Moravian? What makes you think so, Brother? said Mr. Fletcher. Because you say so much about Redemption. To this Mr. Fletcher replied, with an animation that had impressed all the circumstances on the memory of Mr. D. ‘Soyons tous Moraves a ce prix.’ Let us all be Moravians at that rate.

“I mentioned the reflections excited in my mind by seeing the Pyrenees. Ah! said he, those mountains separate us from the Inquisition; and the conversation turning upon Spain, he told me that during the election for the Professorship of Theology at Montauban, great numbers of Spaniards attended, and appeared to take a lively interest in the theological discussions produced on that occasion. Turning the conversation to my visit, he regretted that I could not stay and preach for him on the Sunday; and said that my visit was a great deal too short, and that a Methodist Missionary might do invaluable good in the South of France.

“Rosé this morning at four o'clock; and after taking a cup of coffee together, and commending each other to God, we separated: he to visit a country congregation in the mountains, and I to return to Thoulouse.

“MONTPELLIER, Sept. 13. I waited on Mr. Lissignol, who received me with the greatest affection. I staid to dinner with him. He said he was well nigh fainting under the burden of his multiplied concerns; that he could not reply to all the religious correspondence that flowed in on him on all sides. He read to me the experience of a young lady that had died a short time before at Montpellier, written by herself in pencil; and he promised me a copy of it. On my mentioning something of Mr. Fletcher's, he said he had read something similar, and had taken a copy of it: on his producing what he had written, and mentioning how he had obtained it, I learned that a manuscript copy of the Portrait of St. Paul, in French, was in the hands of Mr. Bonald, the Hebrew Professor, at Montauban. I accompanied him this evening to a religious assembly he had established in a private room, for expounding the Scriptures, singing, and prayer. Mr. Lissignol gave out a verse of a hymn, from the hymn-book of the United Brethren; and then I prayed, and offered a few observations on the blessedness of a truly pious man from Prov. iii. 13; and Mr. Lissignol concluded by prayer. He asked me afterwards how long it was the intention of Mr. Rollin and myself to stay, and whither we should go on leaving Montpellier; and learning that it was Mr. R.'s intention to visit Anduze, and remain there till after Sunday, he offered to go with me to the Vaunage, (a valley between Montpellier and the Cevennes, where there are many villages, principally Protestants,) and introduce me to some of the religious societies that are formed there; and afterwards we might visit St. Hypolite, where the largest of these societies existed, from whence I might easily reach Anduze the Friday or Saturday following.

“Sept. 14. According to the plan agreed on last night, Mr. Lissignol and myself set out this morning, at half past four o'clock, in a kind of chariot, with two horses, which we had hired for the occasion. Mr. L. informed me that at the first place we should visit (Sommieres,) the principal instrument in establishing a meeting was a poor girl, who gained her livelihood by ironing clothes; that she had received the knowledge and love of the truth at Montpellier; and on her removal to Sommieres, visited her neighbours, talked to them, and prayed with them, and has succeeded in persuading them to meet together for prayer and religious experience, and that a number had been awakened by her instrumentality.

“On our arrival at Sommieres, we went to her lodgings; she prepared our breakfast, and announced our arrival: several persons came to see us while we breakfasted. Mr. Lissignol spoke to them all. I could not so well understand their replies, as they do not speak French hereabouts, but a corrupt dialect, though they all understand French.

“A meeting was announced for twelve o'clock, in a large room. I refused to hold it, as Mr. Lissignol visits them much seldomer than they wish. After he had sung and prayed, he gave me the Bible to choose him a text: I pointed out John i. 12, from which he addressed them. Of course his discourse was wholly extempore. This being so unprepared, occasioned many repetitions; but if his discourse was not regular and elegant, it was calculated to be exceedingly useful, and I doubt not but the very repetitions have their advantage to the ignorant and insensible.

“We were not able to go with the carriage nearer Bossiere than about two miles, there being no passable road farther. We directed the coachman to meet us in the same place the next morning at six o'clock. The young woman who conducts the societies at Sommieres accompanied us; we were received most affectionately by Mr. Boissiere, who appears to be a real Christian; and Mr. Laget, whom I had seen at Lourmarin, and who is Curate here, entered soon after our arrival. He expressed great joy at seeing me again, and asked me to walk and mount a hill close by, from whence I might see the whole of the valley called the Vaunage. I consented to this: he pointed out to me half a dozen villages, in all of which meetings might be established if a Missionary could be sent among them. He said if I could come and labour there some time, he would labour with me, and second my endeavours to the utmost of his power. He asked me, among other things, by what evidence one could safely conclude he was in a state of acceptance with God? I recommended the First Epistle of St. John, as being written to answer that question. I explained and applied his doctrine of the witness of the Spirit, and the water and the blood, to the knowledge, and peace, and purity of the real Christian.

"We returned to the house as the sun went down. The church bell was rung for a meeting, and the people assembled. Mr. Lissignol asked me to officiate, but I declined doing so for the reason I mentioned before; so he proceeded in the same way as at Sommieres, singing part of one of the United Brethren's hymns. I gave him Acts xiii. 38, 39, for a text, which he expounded sitting in a chair under the pulpit.

"St. Hypolite, Sept. 15. We slept last night at Mr. Boissiere's; took a cup of coffee at five this morning, and set out for this place. Several of the friends from Boissiere's accompanied us to the place where we left the coach last night. Mr. L. said that one of the young persons who accompanied us desired to have some conversation with me on the road; accordingly I conversed with her on the state of her soul: she appeared sincere.

"We staid to feed the horses at Soave, celebrated for the finest figs in the South of France. Mr. Lissignol and I visited the Lancasterian School, and found it in a very bad state.

"We were received with the heartiest welcome on our arrival here, by Madame Clauzel, at whose house Mr. L. lodges when he visits St. Hypolite; indeed it seems quite a Pilgrim's Inn. After dinner, Mr. L. read an interesting letter, which had been written by the young lady who had died lately at Montpellier, to the young lady with whom I had conversed in walking from Boissiere. We visited a woman who is the leader of the Societies here. We visited also the Pastor of St. Hypolite, who treated Mr. Lissignol with great respect. A meeting was held in the evening, in a large room, in which a numerous company attended. I had agreed to stay here another evening, but declined officiating this evening. Mrs. Clauzel mentioned that a person from Soave had come to St. Hypolite to seek instruction, and had expressed a great desire to save her soul. He invited them to go to Anduze on Sunday, to hear an Englishman, who was expected to preach there. Mr. L. supposes that it is I who am expected.

"Sept. 16. Mr. Lissignol left this place for Montpellier, this morning at 4 o'clock. The members of the Society came by two or three at a time, to consult with me on the state of their souls; they continued to succeed each other till 12 o'clock, when I went to breakfast with Mrs. Clauzel. I returned afterwards, and continued to talk with others, till the time approached for the public service, which is at 3 o'clock on Thursdays. They have no temple here, but preaching is on Sundays in a large yard, covered with a tent cloth, and on week days in the hall of the Tribunal de Commerce, a kind of Court of Requests. The Pastor invited me to officiate, which I did, and expounded, Zech. iii. 1—7. There were eighty or ninety hearers. In the evening I held a meeting similar to those Mr. Lissignol holds. I preached from Col. ii. 6—9, to about 200 persons. The greatest attention was paid by all, and I was much encouraged. I am much entreated to stay another day, and as I find I can work and preach as I please, I prefer yielding to their entreaties, to continuing my journey to-morrow.

17th. "Employed the former part of this day in receiving the visits of the Society as yesterday. Mr. Clauzel, who has been at Montpellier ever since I have been here, returned to-day, and I had the pleasure of dining with him. One of the Missionaries of the United Brethren is expected here, at the end of the week. This evening I held another meeting, and spoke from Heb. iii. 7, 8. The word seemed to fall as the dew on the thirsty land. Lord bless it, and give the increase. Mr. and Mrs. Clauzel pressed me to make their house my home, in case I could visit them again; this I promised to do.

"ANDUZE, 18. This morning, after taking some coffee, and some bread, and grapes, set out for Anduze. Mr. Clauzel had borrowed a horse for me, and one of the members of the Society accompanied me. About 10 o'clock I arrived at Durfort, and waited on the Pastor, and presented him with some tracts Mr. Lissignol had given me for that purpose. I was received with the greatest respect; he pressed me to stay to dinner with him, and told me he would hasten it, and that I should have plenty of time to reach Anduze afterwards, if I could not stay and preach for him the next day; (Sunday.) I yielded to stay and dine with him. He wished to know if I should preach at Anduze, as several of his parishoners would be glad to hear, even if they should be obliged to go to Anduze for that purpose. A report has reached this place also, that an Englishman is to preach on Sunday. I staid as long as I could with him, and found him quite with us in doctrine; and if my time would allow, I should have very great pleasure to visit him again. May the Lord inspire, and guide, and bless him, and make him a blessing.

“ANDUZE, Sept. 19. On our return hither, we found at Mr. Bonifas's father's, a poor man who had lately been awakened; he came to tell Mr. B. that they had a meeting that afternoon, of several acquaintances to read the Bible, and pray together; that there were many who assembled, and they appeared highly delighted. This is the first meeting of the kind at Anduze, and appears to have been the result of the simple wish of the people to spend the Sabbath afternoon, in a better manner than they have hitherto done.

“We have waited on Mr. Blachon, the first Pastor, and President of the Consistory, and on Mr. Soulier, the second Pastor, who has agreed to accompany Mr. Bonifas and myself in a visit to some of the mountains in the neighbourhood to-morrow.

“20. We walked out this morning at 5 o'clock, according to our agreement last night, and had some very pleasant conversation on the state of religion in England, and the means whereby its wonderful institutions are supported; the subscriptions of the poor, anecdotes of zeal, anniversary meetings and speeches, &c. Afterwards they enquired into the history and discipline of Methodism, and I gave them a particular account of our class, and prayer; our Society, and leaders' meetings; our quarterly and district meetings, and our Conference. Mr. Soulier, who appears a very pious, humble man, expressed his gratitude to God for my visit, and proposed a meeting of friends at his house in the evening, that others might profit as well as himself. I said we considered ourselves debtors to every man to whom we could in any way be useful. On our return, he spoke of what he had heard, and made known our intention to his family and neighbours.

“We had nearly 100 persons in the meeting this evening at Mr. Soulier's. I asked Mr. Soulier how I should proceed, and on his leaving it to me, I went on as we do in England; sung a verse of a Psalm, prayed, and preached from ‘As ye have received Christ Jesus the Lord,’ &c. I desired Mr. Soulier to pray after the sermon, and such a prayer I have not heard since I left England: the expressions of gratitude to God for the extraordinary means he made use of to quicken their souls, in sending a person from a foreign land to them, to excite their zeal, &c. of earnest desire that this new blessing might not be slighted as others had been, were inexpressibly affecting; and the people were affected, as well as myself.

“He asked whether, in case we staid, I would speak the succeeding evening. I said I would gladly, but I thought he had better not announce it, as there were sure to be as many as the room would contain, if it were announced privately next day. I did not wish to engage too far.

“Mr. Soulier has spoken to Mr. B. about my holding another meeting. Mr. B. proposed to call a meeting of the Consistory next week, to consider the propriety of those kind of meetings. Some of the poor men who had begun a meeting last Sunday, had requested Mr. Soulier and Mr. Bonifas to procure them a visit from me. They recommended them to go and inform the Mayor, who is a Protestant, of their meetings, as they had reason to believe he would permit them; and his permission would remove some of the difficulties. Accordingly, two of them went to the Mayor, and told him that they had met together on a Sunday afternoon to read the Bible and pray: he said he had heard of their meeting, and if they had continued, he should have interfered. He advised them not to hold the meeting for two or three weeks, and then begin again; and then, if there were not more than twenty persons he would not interfere. Mr. Soulier exclaimed, when the men returned and informed him of the result of their application, ‘Let us go into the woods and caverns of the mountains, as our forefathers were obliged to do, perhaps they would permit us to worship God peaceably there.’

“We have had a most excellent meeting. I gave out one of their Psalms. Mr. Soulier prayed. I then spoke individually to the people.

“26th. As this morning was wet, Mr. Fraissinet (the minister I had promised to accompany and preach for) seemed induced to stay at Anduze, more particularly as there is no temple at Generangues, where we were expected. But as there were some hopes that it would clear up, or that we might get a room, I was unwilling to lose the opportunity. The rain ceased a little before we got there, but it threatened to recommence shortly, and the ground was wet, and the trees dripping: however, the Mayor of Generangues cleared out a great barn, built to hold Mulberry leaves in the season that the silk worms eat them. I preached with great liberty, from Rom. iv. 4, and received a pressing invitation from the Mayor, to come and preach to them again, if ever I should return into that country.

"I am very comfortable in the family of Mr. Soulier.

"I have been employed with Mr. S. in correcting some translations of tracts from the English, which are preparing for publication. We have read, yesterday and to-day, with Mr. Bonifas, a manuscript translation into French, of Lectures on the 51st Psalm; from the Latin of Luther. The translation was made by the famous French preacher, Nardin. It has never been printed. Mr. Lissignol has sent it to Mr. Bonifas to revise the language, in order to its being printed.

"Mr. Broussole, pastor of Alais, came to-day to see me. I have promised to visit his church, if it should ever be in my power. This evening we held another class-meeting.

"I love Mr. Soulier more and more every day; his sincere and deep piety is quite edifying. Oh how refreshing are the family devotions of the real Christian. It appears that his father, who was likewise a pastor, was a man of deep piety also. He was one of the victims of the French Revolution, and died by the guillotine. He desired to be executed last, that he might administer religious council and consolation to his fellow-sufferers; he then sung the 25th Psalm.

"NISMES, Oct. 3d. This afternoon I have heard Mr. Ollive, a young Protestant minister, employed as catechist. He preaches every Sunday afternoon to the young people who are preparing to be received into the Church, on the different parts of the Christian faith and practice. His subject was the Resurrection, and he handled it well.

"Mr. Gardes, the suffragan, and son-in-law of Mr. Ollivier Desnond, the venerable president of the consistory of Nismes, invited me to breakfast with him to-morrow.

"October 6th. I saw Mr. Tachard to-day, the third pastor here, and the most popular as a preacher, and who seems a man of deep piety; my soul was much refreshed in conversing with him. He appears to watch for souls as one that must give an account.

"Oct. 9th. I arrived at Merindol about 11 o'clock in the forenoon, and called on Mr. Menard, whom I had seen at Orange.

"I got to Lourmain about 5 o'clock; Mr. Lourde not being at home, I waited his arrival; he appeared very glad to see me, and invited me to preach for him next day; several of the Protestants have been to see me this evening.

"LOURMAIN, Oct. 10th. I preached here this morning, and endeavoured to shew the happiness produced by a believing reception of Christ as our Wisdom, Righteousness, Sanctification, and Redemption. After preaching, there was a meeting of the Consistory, for the formation of a Bible Society. In the afternoon I preached from Zech. iii. 1—7, to a very attentive auditory. In the evening expounded the parable of the Sower, in a meeting similar to those held at Sommieres, &c. by Mr. Lissignol.

"11th. I read the Sermon on the Mount this morning with Mr. Lourde, and expounded it on the general plan of Mr. Wesley's sermons on that part of the sacred scripture. This afternoon, visited some of the principal Protestants with Mr. Lourde. I told some of them that it was the custom of our preachers to pray with the families they visit, and proposed doing so with them; they assented very readily. Mr. Lourde said afterwards that he had desired to introduce the custom of praying with his people, but he did not know how to begin, but he hoped he should be able to continue it now.

"13th. Some of the Protestants expressing a wish to have another sermon from me, I proposed preaching this evening by candle light; this offer they gladly accepted, and are preparing to illuminate the temple. I preached this evening from Heb. iii. 7, 8, to as large a congregation as on Sundays; they gave the most uninterrupted attention while I enlarged on the menaces, invitations, and promises of God to sinners, penitents, and believers; the possibility of disregarding them, and the guilt and danger of doing so. The Consistory afterwards, at the recommendation of Mr. Lourde, resolved on continuing the service once a week in the evening.

"14th. I accompanied Mr. Lourde to-day, to La Mothe d'Aigues, to see the Pastor who resides there; he is a young man, and appears teachable. I have now a clear idea of the bounds of the Consistory, where a preacher or two would be well received, and find plenty of work. There are three principal churches, each of which has one pastor; the first Lourmain, to which Merindol is annexed; the second, Orange, to which Avignon is annexed; the third, La Mothe d'Aigues, to which five or six small places are annexed. Lourmain has preaching two Sundays in three, and Merindol one; Orange three Sundays in four, and Aignon one; La Mothe d'Aigues not oftener than one Sunday in the month. They are building a beautiful little temple there.

"16th. I have visited several families to-day, to take my leave of them; they say they will not give up the hopes of seeing me again. Mr. Lourde tells them that he expects that I shall return, or some of my brethren another year, to stay longer with them.

"MERINDOL, 17th. I rode over hither from Lourmain this morning, on a little horse belonging to Mr. Lourde. A young man accompanied me to attend the preaching, and bring back the horse. I preached at 10 this morning, from Col. ii. 6, 7, 8, and in the evening from John xvi. 23. I was pleased with their Sunday School, though it should be rather considered as an attempt at the institution, than an efficient establishment; but such attempts shew that there is some desire to do good. Mr. Lourde told me that it was formed by him one Sunday afternoon, in the following manner: He desired the whole congregation to stop after preaching, then desired those who could read, and those who could not, to take different sides of the chapel; then taking six of the latter and a new Testament, he addressed the former with "Who will teach these persons to read for the love of God?" He repeated this till he found teachers for all who could not read. I suggested some hints for the improvement of it, as I had done with respect to that of Lourmain. Oh! what good a preacher might do this people, who would give form and consistency to their zealous, but ill-instructed endeavours!

"In the evening, a number of Protestants assembled; we sung Psalms together, and I prayed with them several times. My heart is quite knit to these people; they are descendants of the ancient Waldenses, and preserve a strong colouring of the manners of those people.

"After the Pope had published several crusades against the Waldenses of Piedmont, they were obliged to disperse, and 'a considerable number of them retired,' says an old historian, 'to the neighbourhood of Cabrieres, and Merindol in Provence, where they existed in numbers in the reign of Lewis XII. and where, being tormented by the Monks and Inquisition, their enemies attacked them sword in hand, as it were, crying out that they ought to be exterminated as incestuous persons, and sorcerers. They were obliged to beg the protection of that prince, who sent his confessor, named Parvi, and a judge named Fumee, to examine the matter. They visited the parishes and temples of that people, where they found neither images nor ornaments for the celebration of Mass, nor any signs of the ceremonies of the Romish Church; and having made strict enquiries into the crimes imputed to them, they could find no appearance of any such thing. On the contrary, it was manifested clearly to them, that those of Merindol, and the others, also professed the same belief, were religious observers of the Sabbath, that they baptized their children according to the custom of the primitive Church, and that they were well instructed in the law of God, and the apostles' creed. The King, on receiving the report of Fumee and Parvi, declared with an oath, that these Waldenses were the best people in the kingdom."

INSTRUCTIONS DELIVERED BY THE COMMITTEE TO THE WESLEYAN MISSIONARIES.

I. We recommend to you, in the first place, and above all things, to pay due attention to your personal piety; which, by prayer, self-denial, holy diligence, and active faith in Him who loved you and gave himself for you, ought to be kept in a lively, vigorous and growing state. You have an excellent model in the holy Apostle; "This one thing I do; forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press towards the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." Phil. iii. 13, 14.—Amidst all your reading, studies, journeyings, preaching, and other labours, let the prosperity of your own souls in the Divine life ever be your prime object; and then a spirit of piety will dispose you to the proper performance of your ministerial duties; and, by a holy re-action, such a discharge of duty will increase your personal religion.

II. We wish to impress on your minds the necessity and great importance of using every means of mental improvement with an express view to your great work as Christian Ministers. You are furnished with useful books, the works of men of distinguished learning and piety. We recommend to you to acquire an increase of that general knowledge which is at least an embellishment to a minister of the gospel, and, if the hand-maid of piety, a qualification for extensive usefulness. But more especially, we press upon you the absolute necessity of studying Christian Divinity, the doctrines of salvation by the cross of Christ, "which things the Angels desire to look into." They exercise their minds, which excel in strength, in the contemplation of those precious truths which you are called to explain and illustrate. Let all your reading and studies, then, have a reference to that grand object. You are to teach religion: you should therefore understand religion well. You are to disseminate the knowledge of Christianity, to endeavour to conduct sinners to Christ Jesus, and to promote practical piety. Let the Bible be your book; and let all other books be read only in order to obtain a better acquaintance with the Holy Scriptures, and a greater facility in explaining, illustrating, and applying their important contents. We particularly recommend to you to read and digest the writings of Wesley and Fletcher, and the useful commentaries with which you are furnished, and other books in your possession, which are designed and calculated to increase your knowledge of the Sacred Volume. Like the Baptist, you must be "burning and shining lights." Recollect every day, that whilst you endeavour by reading, meditation, and conversation, to increase your stock of useful knowledge, it is necessary for you to acquire a proportionate increase of holy fervour.

III. We exhort you, Brethren, to unity of affection, which will not fail to produce unity of action. Let your love be without dissimulation. In honour prefer one another. On this subject we beseech you to pay a practical regard to the advice of the venerable founder of our Societies, the Rev. John Wesley. With his characteristic brevity he enquires, "What can be done in order to a closer union of our preachers with each other?"—Ans. 1. Let them be deeply convinced of the absolute necessity of it. 2. Let them pray for an earnest desire of union. 3. Let them speak freely to each other. 4. When they meet, let them never part without prayer. 5. Let them beware how they despise each others gifts. 6. Let them never speak slightly of each other in any kind. 7. Let them defend one another's character in every thing, to the utmost of their power. And, 8. Let them labour in honour to prefer each the other before himself."

IV. Remember, always, dear Brethren, that you are by choice and on conviction Methodist Preachers; and therefore it is expected and required of you, to act in all things in a way consistent with that character. In your manner of preaching, and of administering the various ordinances of God's house, keep as closely as possible to the model exhibited by your Brethren at home. Indeed you have solemnly pledged yourselves so to do. You have promised to preach, in the most explicit terms, the doctrines held as scriptural, and therefore sacred, in the Connexion to which you belong. We advise, however, in so doing, that you avoid all appearance of controversy, in your mode of stating and enforcing Divine truths. While you firmly maintain that ground which we, as a body, have seen it right to take, cultivate a catholic spirit towards all your fellow-labourers in the work of evangelizing the heathen; and aid them to the utmost of your power in their benevolent exertions. You have engaged also to pay a conscientious regard to our discipline. We need not tell you, that all the parts of that discipline are of importance; and that, taken together, they form a body of rules and usages, which appear to meet all the wants of individuals who are seeking the salvation of their souls: and, under the Divine influence and blessing, to promote the prosperity of every society. And we cannot forbear, on the present occasion, to urge upon you the following Rules, addressed to his Preachers by Mr. Wesley.

“1. Be diligent. Never be unemployed a moment. Never be triflingly employed a moment. Never while away time: neither spend any more time at any place than is strictly necessary. 2. Be serious. Let your motto be, “Holiness to the Lord.” Avoid all lightness, jesting, and foolish talking. 3. Converse sparingly and cautiously with women; particularly with young women.” In this particular, your situation as Missionaries may expose you to new temptations. It is necessary that you cultivate habits of the most severe and rigorous purity. ‘Abstain from all appearance of evil.’ 4. Take no step towards marriage without first acquainting your Brethren with your design. 5. Believe evil of no one: take heed how you credit it, unless you see it done. Put the best construction you can on every thing. You know the judge is always supposed to be on the prisoner’s side. 6. Speak evil of no man, else your words will eat as doth a canker. Keep your thoughts within your own breast, till you come to the person concerned. 7. Tell every one what you think wrong in him, and that plainly, and as soon as may be; else it will fester in your heart. Make all haste to cast the fire out of your bosom. 8. Do not affect the gentleman. You have no more to do with this character, than with that of a dancing-master. A preacher of the gospel is the servant of all. 9. Be ashamed of nothing but sin; no, not of fetching wood, (if time permit) nor of drawing water; nor of cleaning your own shoes or your neighbours’. 10. Be punctual. Do every thing exactly at the time. And, in general, do not mend our rules, but keep them; not for wrath, but for conscience’ sake. 11. You have nothing to do but to save souls. Therefore spend and be spent in this work. And go always, not only to those who want you, but to those who want you most. 12. Act in all things, not according to your own will, but as a son in the gospel. As such, it is your part to employ your time in the manner which we direct: partly in preaching and visiting the flock from house to house: partly in reading, meditation, and prayer. Above all, if you labour with us in our Lord’s vineyard, it is needful you should do that part of the work which we advise, at those times and places which we judge most for his glory.”

V. We cannot omit, without neglecting our duty, to warn you against meddling with political parties, or secular disputes. You are teachers of religion; and that alone should be kept in view. It is, however, a part of your duty as ministers, to enforce, by precept and example, a cheerful obedience to lawful authority. You know that the venerable Wesley was always distinguished by his love to his country, by his conscientious loyalty, and by his attachment to that illustrious family which has so long filled the throne of Great Britain. You know that your Brethren at home are actuated by the same principles, and walk by the same rule; and we have confidence in you that you will preserve the same character of religious regard to good order and submission “to the powers that be”—in which we glory. Our motto is, “Fear God, and honour the king;” and we recollect who hath said, “Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work.”

VI. You will, on a foreign station, find yourselves in circumstances very different from those in which you are at home, with regard to those who are in authority under our gracious Sovereign. It is probable you will frequently come under their immediate notice and observation. We are, however, persuaded, that while you demean yourselves as you ought, you will be generally favoured with their protection. On your arrival at your stations, you will be instructed what steps to take in order to obtain the protection of the local governments: and we trust that your subsequent good behaviour towards governors, and all who are in authority, will be such as shall secure to you the enjoyment of liberty to instruct and promote the salvation of those to whom you are sent.

VII. Those of you who are appointed to the West-India Colonies, being placed in stations of considerable delicacy, and which require, from the state of society there, a peculiar circumspection and prudence on the one hand, and of zeal, diligence, and patient perseverance, on the other; you are required to attend to the following directions, as specially applicable to your mission there:—

1. Your particular designation is to endeavour the religious instruction and conversion of the ignorant, pagan, and neglected black and coloured population of the island, or station, to which you may be appointed, and of all others who may be willing to hear you.

2. Where Societies are already formed, you are required to watch over them with the fidelity of those who must give up their account to Him who hath purchased them with his blood, and in whose Providence they are placed under your care. Your labours must be constantly directed to improve them in the knowledge of Christianity, and to enforce upon them the experience and practice of its doctrines and duties, without intermingling doubtful controversies in your administrations, being mainly anxious, that those over whom you have pastoral care, should clearly understand the principal doctrines of the Scriptures, feel their renovating influence upon their hearts, and become “holy in all manner of conversation and godliness.” And in order to this, we recommend that your Sermons should consist chiefly of clear expositions of the most important truths of Holy Writ, enforced with affection and fervour on the consciences and conduct of them that hear you; that you frequently and familiarly explain portions of the Scriptures; and that, as extensively as you possibly can, you introduce the method of teaching children, and the less instructed of the adult slaves and others, by the excellent catechisms with which you are furnished.

3. It is enforced upon you, that you continue no person a member of your Societies, whose “conversation is not as becometh the Gospel of Christ.” That any member of Society who may relapse into his former habits, and become a polygamist, an adulterer, or an unclean person; who shall be idle and disorderly; disobedient to his owner, (if a slave); who shall steal, or be in any other way immoral or irreligious, shall be put away, after due admonition, and proper attempts to reclaim him from the “error of his way.”

4. Before you receive any person into Society, you shall be satisfied of his desire to become acquainted with the religion of Christ, and to obey it; and if he has not previously been under Christian instruction, nor baptized, you are, before his admission as a member, diligently to teach him the Christian faith, and the obligations which he takes upon himself by baptism; so as to be assured of his having obtained such knowledge of the principles of religion, and such belief of them as to warrant you to administer to him that ordinance. Beside this, no person is to be admitted into Society, without being placed first on trial, for such time as shall be sufficient to prove whether his conduct has been reformed, and that he has wholly renounced all those vices to which he may have been before addicted.

5. You are to consider the children of the negroes and coloured people of your Societies and Congregations as a part of your charge; and it is recommended to you, wherever it is practicable and prudent, to establish Sunday or other Schools for their instruction. It is to be considered by you as a very important part of your duty as a Missionary, to catechise them as often as you conveniently can, at stated periods; and to give your utmost aid to their being brought up in Christian knowledge, and in industrious and moral habits.

6. As in the Colonies in which you are called to labour, a great proportion of the inhabitants are in a state of slavery, the Committee most strongly call to your recollection, what was so fully stated to you when you were accepted as a Missionary to the West Indies, that your only business is to promote the moral and religious improvement of the slaves to whom you may have access, without in the least degree, in public or private, interfering with their civil condition. On all persons in the state of slaves, you are diligently and explicitly to enforce the same exhortations which the Apostles of our Lord administered to the slaves of ancient nations, when by their ministry they embraced Christianity. Eph. vi. 5—8, “Servants, be obedient to them that are your masters according to the flesh, with fear and trembling, in singleness of your heart, as unto Christ; not with eye-service, as men-pleasers; but as the servants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart; with good will doing service, as to the Lord, and not to men: knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doeth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free." Col. iii. 22—25, "Servants obey in all things your masters according to the flesh: not with eye-service, as men-pleasers, but in singleness of heart, fearing God: and whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men: knowing, that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ. But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons."

7. You are directed to avail yourselves of every opportunity to extend your labours among the slaves of the islands where you may be stationed; but you are in no case to visit the slaves of any plantation without the permission of the owner or manager; nor are the times which you may appoint for their religious services to interfere with their owners' employ; nor are you to suffer any protracted meetings in the evening, not even at negro burials, on any account whatever. In all these cases you are to meet even unreasonable prejudices, and attempt to disarm suspicions, however groundless, so far as you can do it consistently with your duties as faithful and laborious Ministers of the gospel.

8. As many of the negroes live in a state of polygamy, or in a promiscuous intercourse of the sexes, your particular exertions are to be directed to the discountenancing and correcting these vices, by pointing out their evil, both in public and in private, and by maintaining the strictest discipline in the Societies. No man, living in a state of polygamy, is to be admitted a member, or even on trial, who will not consent to live with one woman as his wife, to whom you shall join him in matrimony, or ascertain that this rite has been performed by some other minister; and the same rule is to be applied, in the same manner, to a woman proposing to become a member of Society. No female, living in a state of concubinage with any person, is to be admitted into Society so long as she continues in that sin.

9. The Committee caution you against engaging in any of the civil disputes or local politics of the Colony to which you may be appointed, either verbally, or by correspondence with any person at home, or in the Colonies. The whole period of your temporary residence in the West Indies, is to be filled up with the proper work of your Mission. You are not to become parties in any civil quarrel; but are to "please all men for their good to edification;" intent upon the solemn work of your office, and upon that eternal state, in the views of which the Committee trust you will ever think and act.

10. In cases of opposition to your ministry, which may arise on the part of individuals, or of any of the colonial legislatures, a meek and patient spirit and conduct are recommended to you. You will in particular guard against all angry and resentful speeches, and in no case attempt to inflame your Societies and hearers with resentment against your persecutors or opposers. Your business, in such cases, after every prudent means of obtaining relief has failed in your own hands, is with the Committee at home; who will immediately take such steps as may secure to you that protection, from a mild and tolerant Government, which they hope your peaceable and pious conduct, your labours and successes, will ever merit for you.

11. The Instructions under this and under the former heads, (V. and VI.) are to be read over annually, at the meeting of every District Committee in the West Indies, by the Chairman; who is to enquire, whether they have been observed on the part of the Brethren; and the same shall be reported in the District Minutes regularly, and with them transmitted to the Committee in London. Every Superintendent is not only charged with the observance of them himself, but is responsible, as far as may be, for their observance by the Brethren under his direction, or for an immediate report to the District, or to the Managing Committee in London, in any case in which they may have been violated.

N. B. Directions to the West India Missionaries are also to be considered as strictly obligatory on all others, as far as they are applicable to the circumstances of their respective stations.

VIII. It is peremptorily required of every Missionary in our Connexion to keep a Journal, and to send home frequently such copious abstracts of it as may give a full and particular account of his labours, success, and prospects. He is also required to give such details of a religious kind as may be generally interesting to the friends of Missions at home; particularly, accounts of conversions. Only, we recommend to you, not to allow yourselves, under the influence of religious joy, to give any high colouring of facts: but always write such accounts as you would not dislike to see return in print to the place where the facts reported may have occurred.

IX. It is a positive rule amongst the Wesleyan Methodists, that no Travelling Preacher shall "follow a trade." You are to consider this rule as binding upon you, and all Foreign Missionaries in our Connexion. We wish you to be at the remotest distance from all temptation to a secular or mercenary temper. "No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life, that he may please him who hath called him to be a soldier." Independently of the moral and religious considerations which enforce this principle, we here take occasion to remind you, that all your time and energies should be the more sacredly devoted to the duties of your Mission, because the Committee feel themselves fully pledged to pay an affectionate attention to all your wants, and to afford them every reasonable and necessary supply. And this pledge, they doubt not, the generosity of the friends of Missions will, from time to time, enable them to redeem, so long as you continue to regulate your expences by as much of conscientious regard to economy, as may be found to consist with your health and comfort, and with the real demands of the work of God.

And now, Brethren, we commend you to God and the word of his grace.—We unite with tens of thousands in fervent prayer to God for you. May he open to you a great door and effectual; and make you, immediately or remotely, the instruments of the salvation of myriads. We shall incessantly pray, that "you may go out with joy, and be led forth with peace; that instead of the thorn may come up the fir-tree, and instead of the brier the myrtle-tree; and it shall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off." "Blessed be the Lord God, the God of Israel, who only doeth wondrous things; and blessed be his glorious name for ever, and let the whole earth be filled with his glory. Amen and Amen."

No. III.

(See Report, page 37.)

To His Excellency, General Sir ROBERT BROWNRIGG, Bart. and G. C. B. Governor of the Island of Ceylon, &c. &c. &c.

May it please your Excellency,

We have learned with the most sincere concern, that this favoured Colony is likely very soon to be deprived of your Excellency's residence and paternal government; an event, which we beg leave to assure your Excellency will be very sensibly felt, not only by ourselves, but by every member of our Mission family, resident in the Island. Previous to your Excellency's departure, we feel particularly desirous of communicating to your Excellency some additional testimony and assurance, that every respectful feeling of esteem and gratitude which we have had the honour and happiness to cherish in our hearts towards your Excellency, from our first arrival in the Island, continues unalterably the same, with the exception that succeeding occurrences have tended very greatly to increase and strengthen them; and we earnestly intreat your Excellency will favourably receive this as our humble apology for troubling you on this trying occasion.

We are, indeed, sorry that, in consequence of our brethren being so widely dispersed over the Colony, most of them will necessarily be deprived of the happiness of uniting with us at this time; yet such is our union and oneness of feeling, especially in the grateful, respectful esteem we ever feel for your Excellency, that we beg, as an additional favour, your Excellency will kindly allow us to include all their names with those of our own.

As this may be the last opportunity we shall ever be favoured with of addressing ourselves to your Excellency in this country, we wish to record in the most lasting manner possible, that your Excellency's condescending, kind, and friendly demeanour towards us, during the whole of our residence in this Island, has invariably been such as to render your Excellency's name and government ever dear to us all; and we feel assured, that neither time nor circumstances will ever erase from our hearts those grateful feelings which have been created by unnumbered acts of voluntary kindness. It would be exceedingly difficult for us to retrace minutely the many pleasing occurrences to which we now refer, and which, by your Excellency's kind influence, have continued to accompany our efforts from the commencement of our Mission; yet we frequently recur to them with pleasure and delight; and the recollection of so many past favours received from your Excellency, fills our hearts with the sincerest gratitude, and naturally excites in our minds very anxious feelings at the prospects of your Excellency's approaching departure. Notwithstanding, however, we shall to the latest period, feel a gratifying pleasure in associating your Excellency's name with the success which has hitherto blessed our labours in Ceylon. We must beg your Excellency's condescending indulgence for the freedom we take, in expressing our sentiments in so familiar a manner, but almost every thing connected with present circumstances gives rise to reflections in our minds, which are exceedingly difficult to express.

Before we conclude our present communication, we cannot deny ourselves the pleasure of presenting to your Excellency our sincerest congratulations upon the great and lasting satisfaction it must afford your Excellency, when retiring from the Colony, to leave it in so tranquil and improving a state; not but that your Excellency has had difficulties to contend with, and difficulties of the most trying and painful nature; yet, by the continued smile of a kind Providence upon your Excellency's great and persevering exertions, the disquietude that threatened us is completely calmed, and we not only enjoy peace and quiet in all our borders, but so far as our knowledge of the state of the Colony extends, much moral and religious improvement.

From the most correct accounts we have been able to collect, it appears that even the nominal profession of Christianity was but in a languid state among the natives, on your Excellency's arrival in this Island. The opportunities of improvement, and the means of instruction for the native population, were exceeding inadequate, and by no means answerable to the claims they had upon the attention of the Christian world; circumstances which, wherever they exist, will be lamented by reflecting minds. But the period to which we now refer, was a happy era to the native inhabitants of Ceylon. The first great and effectual attempt that was made in their behalf, was the establishment of the Auxiliary Bible Society under your Excellency's immediate patronage and support, for the purpose of publishing the Sacred Scriptures in their own languages. The Society has been enabled to extend its active and useful operation into almost every part of the Island. It has already sent abroad about 3000 copies of the New Testament; and 3500 more will shortly be ready for publication. In addition to this, it has printed about 22,000 copies of smaller works, extracted from the Scriptures, which have been every where distributed. Hence, not a town, not a village, and, in some districts, scarcely a family but has experienced its good effects. Such efforts, when viewed in connexion with other benevolent and Christian exertions, such as, the repairing and erecting of large and convenient schools in the most populous neighbourhoods, for the instruction of the native youth; together with the erection of a number of commodious places of worship for the accommodation of the native Christians, to excite and encourage among them an increased attention to the visible forms of Christian devotion; must place in a very pleasing light your Excellency's ever watchful care and anxious concern for the moral and religious improvement of the inhabitants of this large Island: And we cannot but add our sincerest wishes that those plans so well laid down, and so prosperously begun, may be full accomplished; and then we are confident they will call forth the thanksgivings of generations yet unborn.

But we must again beg your Excellency's kind indulgence while we mention another interesting fact, closely connected with the improvements, moral and religious, which, for several years have been going on under your Excellency's government. We now refer to the liberal sanction and extensive countenance which the cause of Christian Missions has invariably met with from your Excellency; and it is only from a fear of being tedious, that we deny ourselves the pleasure of taking such a view of this subject as we conceive it highly deserves. When our Mission arrived in this Island, we laboured under some of the most painful disadvantages. The loss of our venerable leader, the Rev. Dr. Coke, was an event of itself almost sufficient to have discouraged us from proceeding in our work, considering its arduous nature, and our great want of experience for such an undertaking—and not having anticipated such an event, we were necessarily unprepared to meet it. Thus situated, we landed in Ceylon; but though strangers, with little to recommend us, except the goodness of the cause in which we had embarked, your Excellency honoured us with the most condescending welcome to the colony; pointed out to us our respective spheres of labour, and at the same time favoured us with many other encouragements which we cannot now enumerate, but which will ever live in our grateful remembrances.

After a trial of several years under such favourable circumstances, it is very natural to expect that considerable success would have resulted from our attempts. On this head we have met with several things which have been cause of regret, and which, perhaps, had it been in our power, we should have ordered otherwise; notwithstanding, it is with pleasure we can state that we have had to encounter nothing hitherto, in any of our operations, that has amounted to a discouragement; but, on the contrary, we can assure your Excellency that we have met with many things to encourage us, and to satisfy our minds that our undertaking is approved of by the great Head of the Church. Hence we feel as much encouraged to prosecute our work as ever we did. We have now fourteen Missionaries resident on the Island, besides several interesting young men, both native and country-born, who promise to be very useful. Several of our brethren have attained a competent knowledge of the native languages, and are devoting almost their whole attention to the improvement of the natives, by preaching to them, and instructing them both in public and from house to house. They also spend much of their time in making useful and necessary translations either of the Sacred Scriptures, or of little works of a religious kind. We hope also that the literature of the Island will, ere long, be considerably advanced by their publications, both of Dictionaries and Grammars of the language, as well as some translations of the native books, which are in a state of forwardness, but which have never yet appeared in any European language. As our great object is to instruct the natives in the principles of Christianity, we endeavour to make all our pursuits subserve this desirable end: and as our holy religion can only be properly embraced by the natives of India from the clearest conviction of its great superiority over every other religious system, we are sensible that these changes can only be accomplished, under a Divine direction, by the regular diffusion of instruction among them. This persuasion led us some time back to resolve upon the establishment of Christian schools, to bring forward the children in the knowledge of their own language; and in a considerable number of these schools, the English language is taught with the most flattering success. But while we endeavour to make the rising generation acquainted with the first rudiments of learning, we study at the same time to accompany these instructions with such others of a religious kind, as we are convinced will answer the designs of our Mission. And on your Excellency's leaving the Colony, it may not be uninteresting to be informed, that we have so far succeeded in these attempts, as to have established in different parts of the Island, about 72 schools, which include 4591 children, all under daily instruction; and every child thus instructed, is seen and examined by a Missionary, at least once a month. From this system of schools, conducted on such a plan, the most moderate calculation will be in favour of their proving greatly beneficial, especially to the rising generation: and though it becomes us to speak with diffidence, when we pronounce an opinion on what is still future, we cannot but entertain the most pleasing anticipations of the result of such a combination of effort as is now displayed in this Island by the Bible Society, Tract Societies, and Missionary Societies, all of which are actively employed in dispersing the light of Divine truth, and helping forward the great attempt which contemplates nothing less than the complete triumph of our holy religion over every prevailing system of heathenism. It is an effort which is not confined to the Island of Ceylon. The spirit and disposition are predominant in almost the whole Christian world; and it will, we have no doubt, be a soothing reflection to your Excellency in a future day, that during your Excellency's residence and government in a heathen country, you had an opportunity of taking so publick, so honourable, so Christian a part in the great work. May it please a merciful Providence to prolong your Excellency's life for many years, and may your Excellency be favoured to hear from these distant regions, that every hope, every wish your Excellency may have formed with respect to the moral and religious improvement of the native Cingalese, has been very abundantly accomplished.

We shall not cease to recommend your Excellency, and also your amiable family, to the continued protection of a kind Providence when on the great deep; and shall constantly implore Him who has the uncontrolled command of winds and seas, graciously to vouchsafe every blessing and protection necessary both for a safe and pleasant voyage; and we do assure your Excellency, that the most grateful and respectful esteem of our whole Mission, will ever continue to accompany your Excellency's name.

Repeating our intreaty that your Excellency will excuse our troubling you at so great a length, we have the honour to remain, with the greatest respect and esteem, your Excellency's greatly obliged, ever thankful, and ever humble servants,

Signed on behalf of all the Wesleyan Missionaries in Ceylon,

Mission-House, Colombo, Jan. 25, 1820.

B. CLOUGH.
G. ERSKINE.

THE GOVERNOR'S ANSWER.

TO THE BRETHREN OF THE WESLEYAN MISSION.

Gentlemen,

It is with a lively sense of satisfaction that I have received your respectful and affectionate Address.

From the first moment of my entering upon the government of this Island, I considered the religious improvement of the people to be of paramount importance. It is, therefore, most gratifying to me to hear you, Gentlemen, who have devoted your lives to the promotion of Christianity, speak in high terms of my co-operation, and to know that the measure of my Government, in aid of your Missionary labours, have been sanctioned by the testimony of your warm approbation.

On this ground nothing can be more acceptable to my feelings than your strong expressions of gratitude, however they may attribute to me a degree of merit which I am not entitled to claim. The chief ends that I have had in view, were the happiness of the people confided to my care, and the honour of my own country, to which I was responsible for the sacred trust.

It was, therefore, my bounden duty to foster and encourage the attempts of those who came forward with their voluntary assistance towards both of these great objects, by communicating that which it is our glory to spread, as well as to enjoy, and labouring to enlighten the people of this foreign land, by a diffusion of that religious knowledge, with which Providence has blest our own.

That I was influenced by motives of another kind, that I felt the full obligation of propagating, for its own sake, the Divine truth of that religion which has been throughout life the source of my consolation and hope, I would rather choose to be collected from my conduct, than received upon any assurance of my own professions.

But it is unnecessary to dwell upon my sincere zeal for a wide extension of the Christian faith, as if it were independent of other motives; because it is, in fact, inseparably connected with the duties of my political office; it is the surest foundation upon which I could hope to build the permanent welfare and happiness of the people, whom I have been deputed to govern.

It would be to me a subject of most afflicting regret, if I were to leave this Island, after presiding over it in the name of my king for almost eight years, without a conviction that some desirable improvement had been commenced under my temporary rule. I hope and trust that I may take my leave of Ceylon, without any cause for such a mortifying reflection; whatever may have been the progress hitherto, I confide in the goodness of Providence for producing hereafter, effects corresponding with my laborious and persevering exertions for the publick good.

If I were to quit my Government without some publick expression of my respect and esteem for the Brethren of the Wesleyan Mission, I should be insensible alike to the general claims of their meritorious conduct, and to the gratitude which I owe them for their zealous aid for promoting those objects which I had so much at heart.

From the beginning, Gentlemen, of your settlement with a few Missionaries in this Island, until the present moment, when the number of your Brethren is augmented to fourteen, your exertions have been principally directed in that course, which is, I think, for the attainment of your Christian purpose, the most secure and direct.

The numerous schools established under the vigilant superintendance of your Mission, forming a most extensive system of publick education, cannot fail to produce a most beneficial effect upon the morals and habits of the rising generation.

There can be no doubt that even among the native people who call themselves Christians, the earliest application of religious instruction will be most likely to make a deep impression upon the youthful mind, which has not been hardened by the prejudices and corruptions of a maturer age, and to convert a nominal profession into a sincere reception of the Christian faith. But when our observation is turned to that large part of the native population which yet wanders in heathen darkness, the superior advantages of early education are still more striking and apparent.

The native adult, who professes Christianity, is not unwilling to hear, though little disposed to retain lessons of religious and moral instruction.

But avowed heathens are averse even from listening to the teacher, who would convince them of their errors. The strong hold of superstitious idolatry is then only accessible by a pre-occupation of the children's minds with a better knowledge; and it is remarkable, that however the Buddhist, or Hindoo, may themselves revolt from the pious attempts of Missionary conversion, so desirous are they of improving their young families, that they gladly send them to the Wesleyan schools, and freely permit them to learn the first rudiments of Christianity. The prevailing wish also to have their sons acquire the English language as a means of advancement, stimulates this general disposition with the powerful excitement of personal interest. This favourable state of opinion upon the subject of education, gives among all castes of natives a fair opening, of which the Wesleyan Mission has taken full advantage; and from their numerous schools, it is but reasonable to expect the most beneficial results.

The great influence of the press is exercised with more or less effect over every civilized country in Europe; but here, where it was so much wanted, it was utterly unknown. It was rare that any publication ever appeared in a language intelligible to the people, except a Regulation of Government. The children had nothing to learn, their parents had nothing to read. But the Wesleyan Missionaries have established a press, from which there is such a continual issue of elementary works of devotion, morality, and science, that the native population is at length gradually admitted to a participation in the riches of European knowledge.

The first and last object of human learning is the knowledge of salvation, attainable through the holy Scriptures; and to that it is natural for a Missionary union to turn their chief attention, and apply their most strenuous efforts. Supported by the friends, and encouraged by the patronage of the Colombo Auxiliary Bible Society, it is from the Wesleyan press that the Scriptures are now given to the Cingalese, and will, ere long, there is reason to hope, be supplied in abundance to every native of Ceylon.

Thus much I have said to shew the grounds for my belief, that this Island is already much indebted to the Wesleyan Mission: it will be still more indebted, when their system of education is completed, when a sufficient number of scholars have been trained up to superintend the pious work, and the Missionaries themselves can settle and live among the natives, converse freely with them in their own language, and give them all the benefit of present example, enforcing the pure doctrines and precepts of the gospel.

Now, Gentlemen, I take my leave of you, thanking you for your kind assurance of esteem, as well as for your prayers for my safety: in return I wish you most sincerely an ample share of prosperity and happiness, with the fullest success in the great object of your Mission.

That your efforts may be guided by Providence to a joyful termination, is indeed a wish that I shall always cherish with a warmth in proportion to the fervent interest which I feel, in whatever may contribute to the security, comfort, and blessing of the Island of Ceylon.
